Agree on N. Y. City Income Tax Plans

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The New York City tax dispute was settled today with agreements that include a $137-million city income tax and a $23 - million payroll tax on commuters but left the future of the 15 - cent transit fare up in the air.

Gov. Rockefeller announced the settlement from the steps of the Executive Mansion at 4:05 a.m., after a grueling, 18-hour negotiating session that climaxed three days of talks between high-ranking city and state officials.

Bought $520 Million

Republican Mayor John V. Lindsay, who sought $520 million in new monies in order to balance his record-breaking $4.6 billion budget, will receive $283 million under the terms of the agreement.

The new taxes on city residents and commuters total $160 million. Lindsay said an increase in water charges will produce another $30 million in new money.

A new business - income tax will yield $58 million, and another $35 million will be produced by a 25-per cent increase in the current stock transfer tax.

Lindsay does not need approval from the state government to raise the water rates. The City Council can do it.

The Legislature will reconvene Monday to grant Lindsay the other taxing powers.

Session May End

Approval of the city-tax legislation next week could signal the end of the current session, one of the longest on record.

The city now has the power to impose a payroll tax, but legislative approval will be required to rewrite the law so that it exempts contributions by employers. The levy will be only on commuting employees—at the rate of one-quarter of one per cent of gross earnings. It will be deducted from each pay check.

But the levy for self-employed commuters would be three-eighths of one per cent of net income.

The income tax for residents would range from four-tenths of one per cent to a maximum of two per cent.

The major disagreement throughout the intense, and often heated discussions, centered on the personal income taxes and the 15-cent transit fare.

Demand Guarantee

City Tax Bout Leaves Both Sides Losers

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — There were winners and losers in the prolonged New York City tax fight — and some combatants were both.

It was impossible to award a clear-cut verdict to any of the principals as they stood before a battery of microphones and floodlights on the steps of the Executive Mansion at 4:05 a.m. to announce details of their tax agreement.

Relaxed Governor

Gov. Rockefeller wore the readiest smile and appeared the most relaxed. He had cast himself in the role of "honest broker" and "mediator" in an attempt to strike a neutral posture.

But last week, the Republican governor associated himself with a tax program put forward by the Senate's GOP majority leader, Earl W. Brydges, whose avowed objective was to force a 10-cent increase in the city's 15-cent subway and bus fare.

Mayor John V. Lindsay resisted the Brydges effort and, in doing so, the Republican mayor found himself allied with two high-ranking Democrats, Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Tavares and City Council President Frank D. O'Connor, both determined defenders of the 15-cent fare.

Emerging from three - plus days of nose-to-nose bargaining, Lindsay had to concede that he got less than he sought. He had demanded authority to raise $520 million in additional revenue and wound up with a $283-million tax package.

Hopes Are High; Marines Mop Up

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky pushed his radical Buddhists opponents farther into a corner today by sending his paratroopers into Hue and slapping a 9 p.m. nightly curfew on Saigon.

The paratroopers opened fire on dissident Vietnamese soldiers who tried to stage a march with Buddhist banners in the northern city. The marchers fled after a heavy burst of fire, and some blood on the street indicated casualties.

Apparently confident of crushing the Buddhist rebellion, the junta moved firmly ahead against its opponents.

Marine Valor

A story of U.S. Marine battlefield valor unfolded on a hillside 325 miles northeast of Saigon where 30 U.S. Marines held off 300 Viet Cong for five hours during the night.

When the Leathernecks ran out of ammunition, they fought on with bayonets and finally rocks until Marine helicopters, planes and reinforcements helped drive the Communists off. A U.S. spokesman said all but two of the Marines were killed or wounded, but the platoon killed 32 of the attackers.

U.S. jets continued heavy attacks on North Viet Nam, flying 66 missions during which they dropped nine Soviet-made surface-to-air missiles. Two planes were lost to conventional ground fire, bringing the number of American planes shot down over the Communist north to 265. One of the pilots was rescued by helicopter.

Ky's 500 paratroopers rolled into Hue at dawn to a chorus of jeering, drum-beating Buddhists, but they quickly hauled Buddhist altars off main streets and took positions at the radio station and one of the bridges across the Perfume River.

The soldiers fired a few tear-gas canisters and shots into the air. But with the help of 600 combat policemen sent in by Ky last week, they carried off the operation without any concerted resistance from the armed Buddhist youths and dissident troops who have kept the city of 160,000 in open rebellion for weeks.

Thousands of homemade altars still remained in the streets at dusk. However, Ky's forces seemed to be in control of key points and most of the populace continued about its routine activities.

Declares Curfew

Saigon's military governor declared the 9 p.m. to 4 a.m. curfew until further notice because, he charged, the Viet Cong were preparing to exploit the Buddhist agitation with "large-scale subversion." The curfew was imposed "to protect the people's lives and property and maintain security," he said.

Riot police and ranger battalions dispersed half a dozen Buddhist demonstrations in Saigon as disorders continued in the capital for the fourth consecutive day.

Obviously rattled by the government's firmness, leaders of the Buddhist Institute seemed hard-pressed for new moves against the government. Two monks, who took command of the Buddhist Institute after its head left Saigon, vowed to evacuate the pagodas and take the movement underground.

"Monks will go to jail and pagodas will be empty," Thich Phap Tri told newsmen. "Others will direct the struggle from private homes." He said he and his colleague, Thich Thien Hoa, would continue harassment tactics "until the government falls."

The institute also charged that an 18-year-old nun, Hue Tri, had died of wounds inflicted by government troops in Saigon.

Hold Another Urban Renewal Meeting in City

A second New York meeting this week to discuss local urban renewal was held today.

It was to deal largely with downtown's Broadway East Urban Renewal and was attended by Eric Hemphill, executive director of the Urban Agency, and Alexander Yosman, executive director of the Kingston Housing Authority.

After a Tuesday meeting in New York it was announced that plans would be advanced for downtown's first housing project of 135 units to the point of calling for bids or on about July 15.

It was also announced today by Alderman-at-Large Francis R. Koenig that members of the Common Council, URA and KHA will meet Wednesday, June 29 at the Municipal Auditorium at 7:30 p. m. to discuss urban renewal.

Koenig had announced at the June 7 meeting of the Common Council that the meeting was scheduled for June 22, but the date was changed because the annual dinner of the Ulster County Supervisors Association is to be held on the first announced date.

To Open Bids Aug. 15

If all goes as planned bids for the $2,342,000 Rondout Gardens housing project, the first in the downtown URA area, will be opened Aug. 15 and a contract awarded on or about Sept. 1.

Alderman Robert Gallo (D) Ninth Ward, and Joseph Epstein (D) Sixth Ward, had asked several questions at the June 7 meeting.

Koenig indicated they could be dealt with at the meeting later this month.

Gallo has also been concerned with reports of "tight money" because of the Viet Nam war which could be a detriment to obtaining private development money for the Broadway East project and that is expected to be discussed at the June 29 meeting.

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan recently announced that he had been informed in Washington of economic conditions, which could lead to URA curtailments, and he said it could be possible that the Broadway West project planned for the future could be some 16 years off (Continued on Page 43, Col. 7)

More than 125 Attend, Question Other Items

Vigorous objections to a decision of the Board of Education to reject a request from the Kingston City Library for $24,000, curtailment of parts of the Adult Education Program in the Consolidated School District and discontinuance of the Adult Practical Nurse program, highlighted a public hearing Wednesday night.

The session, called by the school board to discuss the 1966-67 tentative budget of $9.1 million was attended by upwards of 125 persons at the George Washington School.

Board to Meet June 30

Several representatives of organizations, clubs and taxpayers were critical of the school district trustees for not including an appropriation in the budget for the city library and they appealed to the board to reconsider their decision before the budget is officially adopted at a meeting slated for June 30.

With the exception of the library and practical nurse matters, there appeared to be an air of confidence towards the school board. No demands were made for further slicing of the budget items which total $9,196,941, an increase of $1,051,951 over the current budget of $8,144,990.

Those who spoke on the City Library matter included Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, and representatives of Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club of Kingston, League of Women Voters of Kingston, City Library Board, B'nai B'rith, Junior League, Mid-Hudson Library System, taxpayers and others.

Sam S. Pepper, chairman of the Board of Education Finance Committee, conducted last night's hearing which opened with an audio-visual account prepared and presented by Warren A. Russell, audio-visual education director in the Kingston School System.

Largest Attendance

Noting that the attendance at last night's hearing was the largest in years, Pepper explained that the school board last year granted $15,000 to the City Library, and at that time emphasized that the grant was not a precedent for the future years.

"It is not our primary responsibility," Pepper said in commenting on the library's request

Disclose Plans To Start Negro Homes Near Here

Plans to set up a "black community" somewhere "100 miles north of New York City" and "near Albany" were disclosed Wednesday by the sister of the late Malcolm X.

Mrs. Ella Collins of Boston, Mass., president of the Organization of Afro-American Unity, told the Associated Press in New York that her group has contacted for a 1,000 acre tract at a cost of $145,000 and hopes to secure a mortgage of about $95,000 by early next month.

Checked Offices

Freeman reporters today contacted county clerk offices in Ulster, Dutchess, Greene and Columbia Counties, but no information on the exact location of the tract was available.

Mrs. Collins said the community would be known as the OAAU's "Garden of Eden" and would include farms, schools and residential quarters. She expects (Continued on Page 43, Col. 6)

Hope to Change DeGaulle Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treaty Organization forces leave France, although NATO leaders already have agreed to move the alliance's military headquarters from Paris to Belgium.

While doing this, McNamara obviously sought to avoid any appearance of a rupture.

The defense secretary noted that De Gaulle has stated "unequivocally" as McNamara put it, that France intends to remain a member of the alliance.

"We welcome that statement," McNamara said. "We will do everything to cooperate with him to carry it out."

Without being specific, McNamara said there are facilities in NATO that are beneficial to France.

Cites Air Space Use

"We presume she will continue to wish to use these facilities," he added. And in the next breath, McNamara said the United States "of course" hopes (Continued on Page 43, Col. 8)

Proposes Meeting On Viet Nam Peace

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield proposed today a face-to-face meeting between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Red China's Foreign Minister Chen Yi to discuss a peaceful settlement of the Viet Nam war.

The Senate Democratic leader said in a speech prepared for that the war threatens to be a Yeshiva University graduates that the war threatens to become in the end a U.S.-Chinese conflict, just as in Korea.

"What is needed most, at this time and in the light of that danger, is an initiative for a direct contact between the Peking government and our own government on the problem of peace in Viet Nam and Southeast Asia," Mansfield said.

"This problem is of such great importance," he added, "that it is a fit question for face-to-face discussion between China and the United States at the highest practicable level."

"Our secretary of state, Dean Rusk, confronted the Chinese foreign minister, Chen Yi, across the conference table at Geneva in 1961-62. It may be that a similar meeting now would be useful in this critical situation."

He said such a conference could be confined to the two nations, or "it could include the nations of the Southeast Asian mainland since they all lie in (Continued on Page 44, Col. 8)

Garraghan Favors Storage Increase At Cooper Lake

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan today said he is in favor of increasing storage at Cooper Lake, the city's main reservoir.

He is also in favor of the city's selling to the Art Students League, of New York, the property in the Woodstock area, which has been used for several years as a summer school.

Plan Rejected

Proposed increase of Cooper Lake storage has been rejected in recent years by the Common Council, the last time during the administration of Mayor John J. Schwenk.

As proposed in a 1960 report of Clinton Bogert Engineers, of New York, consultants to the local water department the dam and dykes at the reservoir would be raised five feet to increase storage by some 265,000 gallons. The cost as estimated in 1960 was $500,000.

Draft on the reservoir is some 4,000,000 gallons a day, and at (Continued on Page 8, Col. 6)

Sentence Imposed in Three County Court Criminal Cases

Sentence was imposed in three criminal cases Wednesday at a short session of County Court and several cases were referred to Youthful Offender Court on motion of counsel. A number of other cases were adjourned to June 22 at 10 a. m. for disposition.

In the case of William Turner Spencer, charged with second degree grand larceny, County Judge Raymond J. Mino, adjudged defendant eligible to be treated under the Youthful Offender statute and the case was adjourned to chambers.

Similar Action

Similar action was taken in the case of Antonio G. Spongia, charged with a sex offense. Hubert Richter appeared for Spongia. In the case of Willie James London, New Paltz, attorney Richard Harp moved for disposition under the Youthful Offender Statute and Judge Mino also granted that motion. London was charged with burglary, unlawful entry and grand larceny.

Barry John Paradis, 16, Kingston, charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, will also be treated under the Youthful Offender Statute on motion of his counsel Marshall Lipton.

A 20-year old Accord resident charged with unauthorized use of a aeroplane, was sentenced to six months in jail and execution of sentence suspended. He was placed on probation for three years. Donald Anson Hasbrouck, represented by Robert Ronder, was charged with taking a plane without authority. He told the court he was taking flying lessons with the plane and had no intention of committing a crime. (Continued on Page 44, Col. 4)

Rondout Creek Bridge Work Among 30 Let Out for Bid

Cleaning and painting of the Rondout Creek Bridge between Kingston and Port Ewen is among 30 highway and one canal projects to be let for contracts next month by the State Department of Public Works, it was announced today.

Governor Rockefeller said that the work is expected to cost $40,000.

Also scheduled in another Ulster County project are four contracts for removal of dead, dying or otherwise hazardous trees along county highways, at an estimated cost of $25,000.

To Open Bids July 21

Governor Rockefeller said that the Public Works Department will open bids July 21 in Albany for those and the other state-wide projects, which are estimated to cost a total of $31,673,000.

The highway work involves

rapher, Elliot Ellicofon, has been an art collector for years. He bought the Durers unknowingly for $200 in 1946 from a young man who rang his doorbell; discovered only recently their true value and the fact that they were stolen during World War II from the collection of the Weimar museum, now in East Germany. Someday Ellicofon may have to return his Durers (now safely stored in a Manhattan bank vault)—but he will still have his Brock—and many Woodstockers feel his work, too, will be worth thousands in the years to come.

Turnau Alumni Perform on Tube

Fans of Turnau Opera have the constant satisfaction of seeing the artists they have supported achieve international fame. From Spoleto, Italy, they will be able to watch a television broadcast of Benjamin Britten's Abraham and Isaac, featuring two of the opera company's alumni: George Shirley and Charles Wadsworth.

The performance, which will be shown next Wednesday at 9 p. m. on channel 13, took place at Gian-Carlo Menotti's Festival of Two Worlds. Charles Wadsworth, who was associate musical director at Turnau in 1957, and who has had a major role in the Festival of Two Worlds for several years, is the conductor of this performance. George Shirley, who was with Turnau in 1959 and now sings leading roles at the Metropolitan Opera, will appear as Abraham.

On television's Camera Three program last week was the Turnau Opera production of Illuminations which was seen last summer.

Opera buffs all over the country await eagerly this summer's repertory to see what exciting works performed by burgeoning young stars will be presented at the Turnau Opera's Byrdcliffe Theatre in Woodstock.

For information on the season write to: Turnau Opera or call the box office in Woodstock.

Two Are Killed In Plane Crash

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Federal authorities and State Police sought today the cause of a crash of a light plane that killed a South Dakota doctor and his wife.

Dr. R. A. Standard, a bone specialist from Aberdeen, and his wife, Vera, were found dead Wednesday in the wreckage of their craft in a field near East Hartford, 10 miles east of here, near the Vermont line.

Troopers said the Standards were enroute to Maine to pick up their three children who were visiting there. They said Standard had filed a flight plan listing a destination of St. George, Maine, via New York and Boston.

It was believed they were thrown off course and crashed into a hillside during a thunderstorm with violent winds Tuesday night.

Kenneth Burch, a farmer, said he found the wreckage on Burch Hill while looking for a stray calf. He said he had heard what sounded like an automobile collision about the time of the crash.

Police said the four-seater, single-engine Bellanca was torn to pieces by the impact. Debris was scattered over a large area.

Remind Graduates Apply for Social Security Cards

George J. Habernig, Social Security Administration district manager, reminded high school seniors entering on their work careers, and students seeking only summer jobs, that the time has come to apply for their social security cards, if they haven't done so before.

"Most jobs, including temporary summer work, are covered by social security," he said. "Since many employers won't let people start to work without first seeing their social security cards, and there is sometimes a delay before the cards can be issued, we advise the students to apply in advance."

Applications for the cards can be obtained at the social security district office at 57 Albany Avenue, Kingston. They are also available at all local post offices, where they can be completed and mailed to the nearest social security district office.

Habernig stressed that, in the event of the worker's death or disability, social security coverage can be as important to young people as it is to those nearing retirement age. "We see many cases involving younger workers where benefits could never have been paid to them and their families if the worker had not earned social security credit for summer jobs," he said.

Young workers are advised to show their cards to their employers. They are also advised to notify the social security office in the event of a lost card or change in name, and to ask for a statement of their earnings under social security every three years, to be sure all earnings have been credited. Earnings statements are available to all workers. Cards for this purpose are available at the social security district office.

Liquor Ration For Viet GP's Is Cut in Half

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP)—The liquor ration for American military and civilian personnel in Viet Nam has been cut by more than one-half.

Effective last month, the amount of alcoholic beverages which may be bought in package retail outlets was reduced from six fifths per man per month, with no limit on wines, to three fifths per man including wine.

The Pentagon said the cutback, ordered by the command in Viet Nam, is intended to curb black market sales and "further reduce pressures on logistical and security systems."

A spokesman supplied figures which showed that with more men in Viet Nam, consumption of alcoholic beverages has increased sharply.

Last year American military men and civilians in the Southeast Asian country consumed 460,706 cases of liquor and wine.

By comparison, sales the first five months almost match the 1965 total — 400,586 cases sold from last January through May.

Packaged liquor is sold at 27 post exchanges throughout Viet Nam. In addition to the PX purchases, servicemen can buy liquor by the drink at certain military dining rooms and clubs.

The Pentagon said 70 per cent of all liquor sales are by the drink. The remainder is bottle sales through the PX's.

Military suppliers compute the liquor requirement by assuming that each man will buy two bottles a month.

Will Train 500 Men For Oil Heating Work

NEWBURGH—Under a contract, just signed between the Federal Government and National Oil Fuel Institute, 500 men will be trained as oil heating technicians during the coming year, Fred S. Burroughs, executive director of Hudson Valley Oil Heat Council, announced today.

National Oil Fuel Institute is the national organization representing the oil heating industry. The Hudson Valley group, a local affiliate, serves fine oil dealers in the four counties of Dutchess, Orange, Ulster and Sullivan.

NOFI's Education Director, Edward W. Garrison, will supervise the contract on behalf of the Educational Trust and the Federal Government. NOFI's Educational Trust was set up last October to negotiate training contracts with government agencies not only to help supply the industry with urgently needed manpower, but also to help ease, if possible, the unemployed and underemployed problem.

The first "classes" for the oil burner technicians-to-be will start within the next month or so.

Training will consist of six weeks (240 hours) of institutional training and twenty weeks of on-the-job training with local oil heat marketers participating in the program.

NEGLECTED HEALTH MENACE

Nothing much has been heard lately about the physical harm likely to result from excessive indulgence in cigarettes. The warnings set forth in the U.S. surgeon general's report on smoking and health seem long ago and far away. Whether or not Americans are enjoying it less, they continue to smoke up a storm. This despite a mass of evidence that doing so makes them a lot more vulnerable to lung cancer and a bevy of other unpleasant and often fatal ailments.

Congress did respond in some measure, granted, to the spate of public concern that followed publication of the surgeon general's report two and a half years ago. It dealt the granite mountain a ringing blow with a tack hammer.

The main result apparent is that cigarette packages now contain a few words intimating that too much of a good thing may just possibly endanger health. The same could be said of numerous wholesome products. Besides, there is little reason to think that smokers pay attention to even this milktoast warning.

That may be the nub of the problem: Smokers don't pay attention to what is authoritatively said about the hazards in smoking. This in turn suggests the need for an intensive program of public education. That might not work, but the seriousness of this health menace amply warrants giving it a try. Though smoking causes more trouble than poliomyelitis ever did, by comparison almost nothing is being done about it.

MEXICAN-AMERICAN AID

It is a truism that programs of aid and encouragement to the underprivileged are most effective when they are tailored to specific needs. The recently announced federal grant of $362,000 to develop more employment opportunities among the nation's Spanish-speaking people is a good case in point.

Many thousands of Americans of Mexican stock in the Southwest encounter special economic difficulties, similar to those of the Negro in the South and made worse by a language barrier. They need help geared to their particular condition, as their spokesmen have made plain in recent weeks.

The government has now responded with funds for a two-year program to be administered in Arizona, California, Colorado, Texas and New Mexico by a group known as Jobs for Progress. Let us hope that the program will bring significant advances for a minority which deserves more attention than it has received.

MASS TRANSPORT PROJECT

On a busy day—which is to say almost any day—at a big city airport, there is scarcely enough airspace to give flying room to all the departing and arriving planes. Controlling the traffic pattern is a harrowingly complex job. These two related factors, the rising demand on airspace and the increasing difficulty of air traffic regulation, threaten to create a bottleneck in further development of this mode of travel.

The problem is familiar, in a general way, to everyone. Even more familiar is the problem of auto traffic congestion in and around our cities. They are in danger of being strangled, as has been said so often that repetition evokes boredom.

In short, the limitations of both aircraft and automobiles as means of getting into and out of heavily populated areas are becoming evident. It is dawning on us that these means of travel can handle only so much traffic. The question is whether other means of passenger transportation can be developed to do the job.

This is the background against which one must consider the federal program, authorized by Congress and just getting off the ground, to study and improve high speed mass transport. In view of the picture outlined above, it is evident that the need for this is pressing and will inevitably become more so.

It is gratifying, therefore, that President Johnson has named a high-level commis-

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

WHY TAKE IT OUT ON LINDA BIRD?

Lynda Bird Johnson is taking a graduation trip to Spain, and Congressman H. R. Gross of Iowa is hopping mad about it. For the balance of international payments is still running against this country, and Lynda Bird's daddy, the man in the White House, has been asking other people to refrain from spending dollars abroad while his daughter goes blithely ahead with her own rather extensive plans.

Personally, I don't begrudge Lynda Bird her trip in the least; if I could make it to Spain, this summer I'd certainly do it. Nevertheless, how is a good reason for Representative Gross's anger. For the President, in lecturing the so-called private sector (tourists included) for damaging the dollar by international spending, is not zeroing in on the real culprit. The fact is that if it weren't for the government's own excess spending abroad the balance of international payments would be running in our favor. Lyndon Johnson could staunch the outflow of both U.S. dollars and U.S. gold simply by telling the people who work for him to submit to a little efficiency engineering in their own governmental foreign expenditures.

It so happens that as Lynda Bird Johnson was getting her verbal spanking from Congressman Gross, Dr. N. R. Danielian, a pertinacious economist whose 15-year fight in and out of the Department of Commerce for the St. Lawrence Seaway was finally crowned by success, was issuing a study for his International Economic Policy Association that shows conclusively how an international payments position could be improved by "at least $3 billion." This would more than wipe out our deficits, which are currently running at the rate of $2.3 billion for 1966.

The impact of Dr. Danielian's could be terrific, but if it takes as long to put it through Congress as it did to build the St. Lawrence Seaway it will come too late. The sad thing is that the program must be carried out by government, for private citizens and corporations can't help by "voluntary restraints." The spending of the "private sector," abroad is part of a give-and-take business that generates foreign spending in the United States, and if you apply "restraints" to one side of the balance sheet you also "restrain" the other.

The dealings of the private sector abroad actually generate a payments surplus. The president has asked for voluntary hoobies on direct investment abroad by U. S. companies, but the fact is that the manufacturing plant maintained by American businessmen in foreign lands returns an annual earned income that exceeds the outflow of capital in nearly every industry involved. Moreover, exports to the foreign affiliates of U.S. manufacturing companies account for 35 per cent of the total of American exports of manufactured goods. We are thus cutting off our nose to spite our face when we cut down on direct foreign investing.

Dr. Danielian's study points out that it is not Europe, where we have many factories, that is to blame for our foreign payments deficits. We sell more to Europe than we buy from her. The big drain on our dollar and gold supplies comes from the deficits that result from "soft loans" and aid to the underdeveloped countries of Asia and Latin America. These areas take our money, but do not necessarily buy our goods. The dollars they receive from us end up in Europe for European goods and services. Then, like us, they come home to us as a raid on our gold reserves. De Gaulle gets what we spend in Vietnam, which was once his responsibility.

The Dr. Danielian-International Economic Policy Association program is a mosaic of small items which, added together, would result in $3.2 billion in annual savings on the U.S. foreign account. The program suggests a substitution of "aid in kind" for "aid in dollars," it asks for a reappraisal of our strategic concepts, for as troop transport jets get bigger, there is less and less necessity for quartering soldiers far from home. Instead of cutting down on U.S. tourism abroad, the International Economic Policy Association suggests "dollar coupons" for special classes of foreign tourists coming to this country. It also suggests tax credits for U.S. exporters.

But since the Pentagon, the State Department and a number of Congressional committees would have to agree to the I.E.P.A. $3.2 billion savings program, nothing will happen unless Lyndon Johnson cracks a few heads together. And he seems to be busy with other things.

Medical Societies Aid In Locating Specialists

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

I still get many letters asking me to recommend a surgeon who does a specific type of operation or some other type of specialist in various parts of the country. Since this column is not a proper place for answers to that type of question, I would suggest that you get that kind of information from your county medical society. Although they are not allowed to furnish you with a single name, they will give you two or three to choose from and something about the background of each.

Q—My son has traumatic encephalopathy. Is this a form of brain damage? Will it get worse as the years go by?

A—This term means headache following a head injury. Although the headaches may persist for months or years, there is no permanent brain damage. The condition improves rather than worsens with time.

Q—When my fifth child was born I was given Pitocin to induce labor. Following this I had a violent headache that lasted a month. All the usual remedies were of no avail. Neosynephrine and drops, however, helped me. What caused the headache and why did the nose drops help it?

A—Oxytocin (Pitocin) causes water retention in some persons. If this process involves the brain, the excessive pressure inside the cranium would cause headache. Since phenylephrine (Neosynephrine) is a decongestant it shrinks the blood vessels in the nasal passages, including the sinuses. This could relieve some of the pressure in the cranium. On the other hand, perhaps you had sinus headaches.

Q—What is histamine? Would daily injections help headaches?

A—Histamine is a chemical poison that is released from cells that are damaged by an allergic reaction. It causes dilation of the blood vessels and large amounts acting on the brain increase the pressure in the cranium. This causes a type of headache called histamine headache.

In an effort to desensitize victims of this disease, a series of small injections of histamine are sometimes given. Although good results are obtained in some victims, this treatment is not universally successful. A drug combination (Midrin), available only on a doctor's prescription, is often helpful for this type of headache.

Q—I have been taking Prolin for two months to relax colon spasms and counteract tension. Are there any side effects? Does it act as a laxative?

A—Fluphenazine (Prolin) is a tranquilizer. If while taking it you have drowsiness, blurred vision or dryness of the mouth, your doctor will probably want to reduce the dosage. Since the drug is given to relax your colon it will not act as a laxative, but the nervous tension for which it is given is in itself a powerful laxative.

sion of mass transportation experts to direct this vital program. They face an enormous task, and should be given full public support. It is virtually impossible to overestimate the importance of the problem, or of the need for swift action to deal with it effectively.

Washington News

BY RAY CROMLEY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Swedish studies show the Soviet Communist party and government are not now the party and government of the peasant.

A strong Soviet self-perpetuating upper class is growing.

These studies by a key Swedish Ministry of Defense specialist on Russia reveal that in the Soviet Union:

Inheritance taxes are strongly weighted in favor of the wealthy. Progressive taxation stops at a low level.

Inherited wealth may thus be expected to play a larger role in Russia as time goes on.

The wage structure is highly beneficial to government and party officials.

MUCH FINANCING in the Soviet Union is accomplished by indirect taxes on food and consumer goods. These taxes hit the little man harder than the man with a high salary.

There is progressive income taxation. But the progressive principle stops at an income level most higher functionaries exceed.

A special tax schedule for authors and artists has the same easy tax principles built in.

The intelligentsia and higher government and party officials receive many other benefits. They are allowed large plots of land and can cultivate privately. They receive special sickness benefits and generous housing allotments.

High-salaried officials thus can easily accumulate considerable unearned income.

HIGHER EDUCATION is becoming increasingly expensive. The wealthy groups in the Soviet Union are favored in educating their children. Higher officials frequently have access to special scholarships for their youngsters. Their sons and daughters are rapidly assuming a more and more dominating position in the universities, compared to their small numbers in the population.

Statistics indicate that the Communist party in the Soviet Union is now dominated by college graduates, with small representation in legislative bodies from the workers and peasants.

In the last Moscow party congresses for which there are figures, less than 5 per cent of the delegates were listed as workers. Party functionaries and administrative officials predominated.

In the last Ukraine party congress on which there are detailed figures, no delegate was classified as a worker or collective farmer. Two-thirds were party, government, army, intelligence and secret police functionaries.

The analysts expect this trend toward government by a favored class to continue to increase.

South Viet Premier Manages To Curb Extreme Buddhists

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — To an American, the wheels within wheels in South Viet Nam — power struggles, inner conflicts, Buddhist uprisings, endless government changes — are an exasperating, confusing sight.

Now perhaps the spinning wheels will slow down. Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, a 35-year-old air force general, seems to have overcome the extremist Buddhist leadership which sought to get rid of him.

Used Force

How did he manage this when others failed? For one thing, he used force against the opposition. But that isn't enough explanation. The real story behind Ky's tactics and success hasn't been told yet.

Some of it can be guessed at by way of contrast in the person of President Ngo Dinh Diem who was toppled and killed in 1963 after using extremely violent force against the Buddhists. He was inflexible, without alternatives, a dictator without the necessary political instincts to survive. He gave no indication he intended to yield any power or share it.

He underestimated the intensity of his opposition and wasn't shrewd enough to split it by showing some willingness to compromise. By his stubbornness he solidified the opposition.

Ky was sharper. When the Buddhists got on his back, complaining that his military government of 10 generals should be replaced by a more representative one of civilians, he agreed, although not saying exactly when.

His agreement, and the steps he took to provide for a constitution, an election, and an assembly, certainly were calculated to take steam out of the opposition and divide it.

His concession could be expected to, and obviously did, satisfy his moderate critics and this seemed to show up quickly when the extremist Buddhists, tasting some success, wanted more fast: they wanted Ky out in a hurry.

They apparently did not have the masses of Viet Nam behind them. The uprisings they engineered in the cities of Saigon, Hue and Da Nang had to be urged and pushed.

Story Not Known

One monk above all others, Tri Quang, was Ky's enemy. No concession seemed enough for him. The story behind this monk is not fully known and perhaps never will be.

In a last desperate effort to arouse the country — or was it a plea for pity? — Tri Quang went on a hunger strike.

But there was more to Ky's tactics than just making a big concession. When the extremist Buddhists in Da Nang rioted, Ky sent in troops to crush them and then, at the last moment, pulled back.

The reason seems clear enough: He wasn't yet sure that most of the country would stand for it. He waited until, apparently, he felt sure. Then he turned the troops loose in Da Nang. No more trouble there.

But in Hue and Saigon the Buddhists who still listened to leaders like Tri Quang, rioted. Bit by bit but slowly Ky shattered them. Even the self-burnings by several of Tri Quang's monks and nuns didn't arouse the nation against Ky.

As this is written the extremist effort seems crushed. But how Ky decided on his tactics and his timing will be a fascinating story, if it ever comes out.

That he now feels self-confident was clear enough Wednesday when his military government said it would stay in power until 1967, permitting only a step by step march to civilian government.

Quick Quiz

Q—Do tears have any special value?

A—Yes. Tears wash the eye, lubricate it and prevent infection by bacteria and germs.

Q—What kind of tea is Oolong?

A—Special kind that comes from Formosa. It is a black tea with the flavor of green tea which has been partly fermented.

Q—How do ostriches differ from all other birds?

A—They have only two toes on each foot.

A—Montana—Latin for mountainous.

Q—How much of the United States was covered by trees when the Pilgrims landed?

A—There were 93 million acres of superb virgin forest, including all territory except the Great Plains and some Western desert areas.

In 1923, 108 companies were manufacturing automobiles in the United States. Within four years the number had shrunk to 44 companies. At the peak of the boom the Independent companies held only 25 per cent of the automobile market while five companies accounted for three-fourths of the volume. But the small firms played an important role since they were more likely to introduce innovations than their bigger competitors.

Meets With Chairmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is reported to have asked a group of House committee chairmen to move remaining administration legislation toward votes.

Johnson met with the chairmen at a closed White House session Wednesday night. Deputy press secretary Robert H. Fleming said Johnson told them "he was very pleased with the progress of the House this session." But another source said the President requested the group to get the bills moving and to a vote.

The house has completed 60 of 90 bills Johnson had recommended. Some still are in committees.

To Resume Assistance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department says the United States has decided to resume full economic assistance to India and Pakistan. The aid will not, however, include military arms or weapons to either nation.

Aid to the "two countries was frozen after the outbreak of fighting over Kashmir, although the United States had made some interim loans to both nations.

Taking in More Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson told a White House audience the government is "taking in in the neighborhood of $10 billion more this year" than he thought it would a few months ago.

The President evidently went a little higher in his estimate than he intended, because he quickly added in a speech to a conference on Medicare that "I said in the neighborhood" of $10 billion. "That gives me a flexibility, I hope," he said with a smile.

To IBM Vermont Plant

Emerson A. Lynn, Lab Controller at the Kingston IBM plant since 1965, has been named project manager of Cost Accounting Services at the company's Essex Junction, Vermont plant.

A native of Newburgh, Lynn joined IBM in Poughkeepsie in 1957 as an accountant. He transferred to the Poughkeepsie lab in 1958 and held posts there including Lab Accounting manager. He was promoted to Finance Administration manager at the Kingston lab in 1962.

A graduate of Syracuse University with a B.S. degree in business administration, he is a member of the National Association of Accountants.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn and their two daughters now live at 15 Roosevelt Avenue. They plan to move to the Burlington area in the near future.

Capital Footnotes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Senate will take a week off for the July 4th holiday so members can return, in the words of Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield "refreshed and replenished."

The Commerce Department reports personal income rose $2.25 billion in May to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $565.6 billion.

Both the House and Senate pass a compromise $7.2-billion appropriation to finance the Treasury and Post Office departments in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The Senate Education subcommittee rejects President Johnson's proposed cutback in federal fund for school districts near federal installations, voting instead to liberalize the payment formula.

The Census Bureau estimates the population of the United States stood at 195.5 million on May 1.

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Nine nations facing Communist China announced the formation of an "Asian and Pacific council" for regional cooperation today, then joined in deploring the rejection of moves to bring peace to Viet Nam. The new council will be known as ASPAC.

The joint communique of the Asian-Pacific conference of foreign ministers in Seoul did not mention the Communists, but the wording implicitly referred to the rejections by North Viet Nam and the Viet Cong of Western peace offers, delegates said.

Heads Dairyman

SYRACUSE — John W. Sliter has been selected to become the administrative head of the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council of New York, according to Bernard W. Potter, president of the dairy farmer organization. He will succeed Carl C. Camenga who has announced his retirement as of January 1, 1967. Sliter will become assistant general manager on July 1 and will assume the responsibilities of general manager the first of next year. Sliter will continue through the end of this year as program and merchandising coordinator for the northeastern United States. In this capacity he has worked with processors, distributors and grocery operations in developing programs designed to sell more milk and milk products.

LEMONADE CHEESE CAKE

Try Cool and Elegant Summer Desserts

Comes summer, and most of us look for ways to keep cool. Homemakers with meals to get welcome ways to achieve this goal and still present inviting fare.
Lemonade, long a favorite summertime beverage, is quickly poured from its carton into an attractive pitcher and glasses. It brings the same refreshing quality to a cool and elegant dessert, LEMONADE CHEESE CAKE.

Both homemaker and kitchen stay cool during its preparation for this is a refrigerator rather than the oven variety cheese cake. Even the crumbs on top and bottom are easily made by crushing chocolate wafers. They add a pleasant contrast in color and in taste.
Time, an all important consideration, is another advantage of this delectably light cheese cake.

It's ready to serve within two and a half hours after it goes into the spring form pan.

LEMONADE CHEESE CAKE

Soft butter
1½ cups finely crushed chocolate wafers
2½ tsp. unflavored gelatine
1½ cups cold lemonade
2 eggs, separated
2/3 cup sugar
1 tsp. salt
2 cups creamed cottage cheese
1 tsp. vanilla extract
¼ tsp. lemon extract
¼ cup whipping cream, whipped

Lightly butter bottom and sides of 9 inch spring form pan. Spread half the chocolate crumbs evenly over bottom of pan.

Soften gelatine in ¼ cup lemonade. In heavy saucepan combine yolks slightly beaten with ½ cup sugar, salt and ¼ cup lemonade. Cook, stirring constantly, over medium heat until a mixture coats a spoon. Remove from heat and add softened gelatine. Stir until gelatine is dissolved. Cool.

Put remaining ½ cup lemonade, cottage cheese and vanilla and lemon extracts into glass container of electric blender. Blend until smooth; add to cooled gelatine mixture, combining thoroughly. Fold in whipped cream and then stiffly beaten whites to which remaining ½ cup sugar has been added gradually. Put into prepared 9 inch

TV Reviews, Best Bets

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "The Undeclared War," an NBC news color special Wednesday night was an effort to explain the outbreak of guerilla warfare in many places in terms of the two-year old conflict in Guatemala.

Three quarters of the hour was devoted, with considerable sympathy, to showing the operations of these mountain fighters with leftist tendencies who have been operating in classic hit and run fashion against the government.

The program explained in slightly fuzzy style the goal of the outlaws — and suggested they were typical of underground warriors in other countries. They crop up in underdeveloped countries where land reform is needed and where the population is sharply divided between a few haves and a lot of have-nots.

Fortunately for the NBC camera team, a couple of the Guatemala guerrillas had a rudimentary knowledge of English and, what was more, a keen working knowledge of the uses of propaganda. Otherwise they would never have welcomed the television team to shoot pictures of them. They emerged, all of them, looking rather like romantic Robin Hoods.

The program made a great point that the most fertile ground for the outbreak of such warfare is in countries with a peasant class that is largely illiterate and held in something like feudal bondage, dominated by rich landowners supported by government military forces. Similar guerrilla warfare exists in neighboring countries of Peru and Colombia, both of which were touched upon lightly in the program.

NBC's short-lived "Let's Play Post Office" a noon hour game show will be replaced by another game show on July 4. The new one will be called "Showdown," and is notable for the fact the host will be a Los Angeles

Think all wagons are too big or too small? Meet the Mind-Changer. (Rambler Classic)

Betty and Phil Mason knew what they wanted: a station wagon with size and style and sass. They hadn't considered a Rambler until Betty met the Mind-Changer, a Rambler Classic 770 Wagon. It's bigger, bolder — with plenty of room for people and paraphernalia. (More total head room — leg room — hip room than the average intermediate wagon.) Betty thought the interior was surprisingly good-looking. She tried out the coil-spring reclining bucket seats* ("Very comfortable.") and poked around in the lockable hidden compartment. Phil took a test drive, went for the Mind-Changing difference our big 327-cubic-inch V-8* makes. He was surprised that many extra features like Double-Safety brakes and that gleaming roof rack are standard, at no extra cost. Betty and Phil had decided on the ideal-size Classic Wagon even before they heard that prices are now at their model-year lowest. Why don't you test-drive a Mind-Changer today? ## Even Doughnuts Changed

Puzzled American Home, Finds Things Are Different

EDITOR'S NOTE — Maine-born John Roderick has been a foreign correspondent for The Associated Press for the last 21 years. And it has been seven years since he was in the United States on vacation. Here are the observations of a slightly puzzled native son.

By JOHN RODERICK
NEW YORK (AP) — What has become of the plain old-fashioned doughnut mother used to make?

It has, alas, gone with the wind, along with the two inches of rich cream which once adorned the top of the milk bottle.

When a man has been away from America for seven years, as I have, his thoughts as he comes home are on many things.

I confess unashamedly that Maine lobsters, Boston baked beans and crisp, hot doughnuts washed down by a cool glass of creamy milk figured in my dreams.

I found the beans and lobsters more or less as they once were. But I wandered down Broadway and up Main Street in a fruitless search for the plain doughnut.

The doughnut of my day has married and remarried and produced a star-spangled crop of offspring called "donuts" of all colors, conditions and classes. They are glazed with a frightening variety of red, blue and green icing, impregnated with a thousand exotic flavors.

Created a Sensation

I created a sensation by asking for a plain doughnut.

I am appalled at the tons of calories Americans daily cram into their mouths.

Friends already alarmingly overweight munch on chocolates, wolf down a malted milk, or tuck away a pie a la mode between meals.

They try to wash away these sins of gluttony with a glass of skim milk. For today skim milk, which we as children regarded with faint contempt as something for hogs, has become a prima donna in fancy dress, beckoning to the fat because it has fewer calories.

I have been struck by the extraordinary contrasts, greater I believe than those I have noted among the Japanese among whom I have lived since 1959.

Never have I seen so much affluence, so many smart homes, apartments, automobiles and public buildings. But beside them there are shocking slums.

Take the train from Boston to New York and look out the window as it moves through the outskirts of the big cities on the route.

Never have I seen so many large, ugly, badly styled automobiles.

Face Is Changed

After the doughnut and the automobile, I stood back aghast at urban renewal. It has changed the face of America. In my home town, great cavities have appeared on Main Street and shopping centers have proliferated on the outskirts.

All this may well be for the good if we are replacing the old with something graceful and vital. But what about the 33-story apartment building in New York which I saw soon after arrival?

"Isn't urban renewal wonderful?" I exclaimed. "They're taking down that ugly old building."

"Are you crazy?" my host asked. "They're not taking it down. They're putting it up."

Today's American, I believe, is taller mentally and even spiritually than ever before. But he often is assailed by waves of mediocrity, compressed into molds of conformity, invited to lose himself to forget his obligations.

What he needs is the plain doughnut.

Labor Claiming Victory In Wage-Price Guidelines

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany was reported today to consider President Johnson's wage-price guidelines "a dead issue."

A source close to Meany said organized labor apparently has won its long fight to bury the White House guidelines. "We're not even having to beat them over the head about it anymore," he added.

This reported victory seems to be further evidence that Johnson's bent and battered guideposts, originally designed to prevent an inflationary wage-price spiral, are headed for the economic scrap heap.

"The indications are that they (the guideposts) are on the way out or already out," said a high source.

The guideposts were the administration's chief weapon in the psychological war against inflation during last year's sharp rise in prices.

Prices have been rising even more sharply so far this year. But Johnson hasn't mentioned the guidepost theory in months, despite several labor contract settlements far in excess of the 3.2 per cent per year limit on wage increases suggested by Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers.

One sign that Johnson may let the guidelines die — probably without a formal burial — was his endorsement of a special presidential emergency board's recommendations for a 4 per cent pay hike for some 34,000 airline mechanics.

The AFL-CIO International

Association of Machinists still is resisting the recommendation, demanding even more.

Johnson also had nothing to say about a 4.7 per cent wage increase recently negotiated by the AFL-CIO Commercial Telegraphers' Union for some 20,000 Western Union employees.

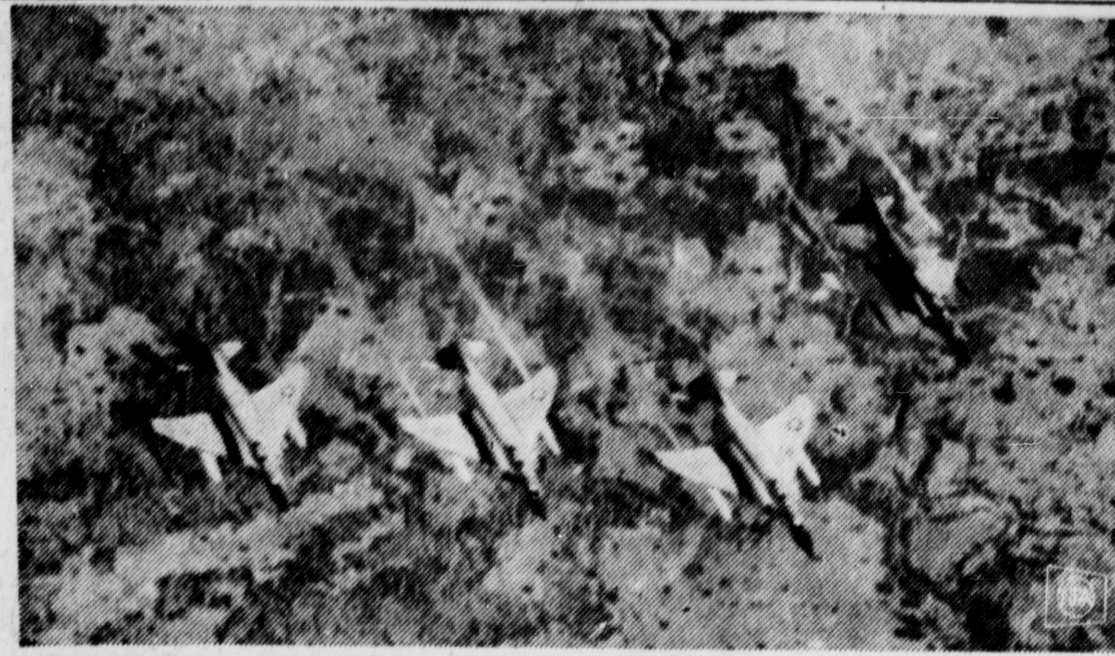

The President and his economic advisers haven't tried to push the guideline pill down anybody's throat since council chairman Gardner Ackley tangled with New Jersey labor leader Pete Weber last March.

"He told us to go to hell," said a spokesman for Ackley in relaying one of Weber's remarks.

But Weber merely was voicing what virtually every other labor leader in the nation had been thinking and saying for more than a year.

Reformed Synod Votes to Proceed With Unity Plan

HOLLAND, Mich.—The General Synod of the Reformed Church in America voted here today to proceed in church union negotiations with the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

At the same time the Synod voted to send a fraternal letter to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church requesting it "to clarify our mutual relationships in the light of the actions of the 1966 General Assembly which strongly supported the continuance of our discussions and the preparation of a Plan of Union of our two bodies and also voted full participation in the Consultation on Church Union."

The latter is a consultation on church union, growing out of a proposal for a united Protestant Church in America first presented by Dr. Eugene Carson Blake of the United Presbyterian Church at the Episcopal Cathedral in San Francisco in 1960, and which was at first known as the Blake-Pike Plan. Some eight denominations are presently participating in these discussions.

Dr. Henry Beltman, of Classis of California, a former president of the General Synod, called for a bolder statement and participation of the denomination in COCU. A contrary viewpoint was expressed by Dr. Henry Van Dyke, of Classis of South Grand Rapids, who declared that "modernism" had made inroads into many American churches, and that "if the Presbyterian Church, U. S. is interested in these other denominations, I'd like to know about it." Speakers from the floor stated that they had heard from some of the Presbyterian commissioners to their own Assembly, who said that they were themselves confused by the action of their Assembly.

An amendment to send the fraternal letter "with the understanding that no further steps in the drafting of the Plan of Union be taken until the answer to our letter is received by the Synod of 1967" was defeated by a vote of approximately two to one. A later motion that the Reformed Church should itself join COCU, was ruled out of order by the president, Dr. Donner Atwood, on the basis that this would contradict the actions of the Synods of 1962 and 1964 which had voted to "hold all other union efforts in abeyance" until a decision on a Plan of Union with the Presbyterian Church.

The president's decision was appealed, but the Synod supported him overwhelmingly. The Synod then passed a motion to instruct the Interchurch Relations Commission "to study the possibility of our participation in COCU with instructions to report its findings to the Synod of 1967."

Synod directed the church's lower judicatories to cooperate as far as possible in taking advantage of every possible means of acquaintance. It called upon the members of The Reformed Church "to regard the drafting of the Plan of Union with an openness of mind and heart and spirit, that we all affirm our readiness to be led into what-

Manager Gives His Reasons for Picking Aldrich

"If the Republican party is going to stop being the minority party in Congress we've got to make up in quality what we presently lack in quantity," John L. Larkin, campaign manager for Alexander Aldrich, said today in summing up his reasons for supporting Aldrich.

The Kingston attorney, who last year managed a successful primary contest for Ulster County Surrogate, sees no inconsistency in backing the regular Republican candidate for Congress this year.

"As a Republican," Larkin said, "I want our party to put forward its best qualified people as candidates. This is the only way," he pointed out, "we can protect our majority position locally and become a majority party nationally once more."

Larkin noted that four out of five GOP County Committees in the 28th District are backing Sam Aldrich because "they want a winner, not only next November, but also on the floor of Congress where one man of Sam's ability is worth a good many of the opposition party."

"I have nothing against Aldrich's Dutchess County opponent," Larkin said, "except that he has placed his own personal ambition ahead of that of his party, and has waged a campaign based on the false issues of sectionalism in Dutchess County and anti-organization dissent in the other four counties of the District."

"Anyone who has compared the two candidates' qualifications or has heard them debate," Larkin said, "knows that Sam Aldrich is by far the more experienced and better prepared to wage a winning campaign in November."

"It really makes no difference which county our Republican Congressional candidate hails from," Larkin stated, "as long as he is the best our District has to offer."

To those of my fellow Republicans who believe there is something heroic about bucking the organization," said the leader of last year's successful Ulster County primary contest, "I would point out that the party leadership will pick the best possible candidate in nine out of 10 campaigns because their leadership is always on the line. This year," Larkin stated, "the leadership picked the best man for Congress in Sam Aldrich, and that's why I'm managing his campaign."

Methodists Hear Of Ministerial Shortage in Area

The second day of the 167th session of the New York Annual Conference of The Methodist Church of the New York Area convened at the University of Bridgeport Wednesday.

The morning was given over to a composite report of the eight district superintendents in this area by the Rev. Walter J. Benedict, superintendent of the Long Island West District. Speaking in behalf of his fellow district superintendents he said that this area is faced with 50 ministerial vacancies this year with no immediate prospects of filling them in sight. "It would take all the 1966 graduates of Yale Divinity School to fill these vacancies. It would take 150 years of senior high school, 200 years of college and 150 years of seminary training to meet these 50 requirements," he said. He attributed the discrepancy to lack of interest in the ministry at the grass roots level and urged the Conference to concern itself with this increasing problem.

The superintendents' report included the fact that this year for all its purposes The Methodist Church has $2,000,000 more at hand than it did in 1964 and that of its 203,680 members the average person gives $72 to the church yearly. He said that there are currently up to $15,000,000 invested in building improvements and that there are sufficient funds available for this denomination's programs including retirement homes, camp improvements and church building projects.

Cites Ecumenical Moves

The Rev. Mr. Benedict said that the Methodist Church shows signs of activism in working with other denominations including Catholic and Roman Catholic faiths and is taking its place in the ecumenical movement of the age. Referring to this, he said that "we Methodists need to learn how to die as a denomination, upon occasion, so that the Christ we all serve may be exalted." He lauded the Conference for its ability and forthright concern for things ecumenical.

District Superintendent Benedict concluded his report by warning the Methodist delegates present that the plight of the Negro and Puerto Rican in this area is improving only slightly. He said that unfortunately President Johnson's Poverty Program is hardly touching the matter and that in the New York Area, "we are sitting on top of a volcano." He said that the church must take its place in top of a volcano.

Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia, the Legislature's top-ranking Democrat added firmly:

"The programs we agreed upon will produce enough money to keep the fare at its present level. We believe the $84 million is in the package. I will work closely with the City Council in every way to have the 15-cent fare remain."

Lindsay originally proposed an income tax — on city residents and commuters alike — that would amount to 50 per cent of the state income tax. It would have yielded $385 million.

Instead, he compromised on an income tax on city residents alone that would amount to 40 per cent of the state income tax, and yield $137 million—plus the

Agree on NY City

Republicans fought for an increase to 25 cents, the minimum bus fare throughout the rest of the state.

The sharp differences of opinion over the fare became evident quickly after Rockefeller and Lindsay made brief announcements of the settlement, congratulating each other and the other participants in the talks.

The Senate's Republican majority leader, Earl W. Brydges, who led the fight for a fare boost throughout the legislative session and during the Rockefeller marathon talks, stepped forward to comment on the fare outlook.

"The fare has to be increased," Brydges said. "As far as I am concerned the city can not transfer money from its treasury to subsidize the fare without permission from the Legislature. Legally it's impossible."

Backed Legislation

The Niagara Falls Republican blocked legislation last month that would have permitted the city to transfer $69 million to the Transit Authority to subsidize the fare.

He said he would continue to block any similar legislation so that the authority, a state-created agency, would be forced to make itself self-sustaining by raising the fare.

Brydges immediately was challenged by the City Council's Democratic majority leader, David Ross, who elbowed his way between Lindsay and Rockefeller to reach radio and television microphones.

Ross snapped angrily: "We think we have the money in the budget to preserve the fare. We will do everything possible in the City Council to make sure the 15-cent fare is held for at least a year. There is $84 million in the budget for that purpose."

Adds Comment

Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia, the Legislature's top-ranking Democrat added firmly:

"The programs we agreed upon will produce enough money to keep the fare at its present level. We believe the $84 million is in the package. I will work closely with the City Council in every way to have the 15-cent fare remain."

Lindsay originally proposed an income tax — on city residents and commuters alike — that would amount to 50 per cent of the state income tax. It would have yielded $385 million.

Instead, he compromised on an income tax on city residents alone that would amount to 40 per cent of the state income tax, and yield $137 million—plus the commuter pay roll levy of $23 million.

The commuters, under the original Lindsay plan, would have paid income taxes amounting to about $90 million. Suburban-area representatives in the Legislature vigorously opposed the original Lindsay plan.

Lindsay also sought to have the state collect the monies for the city but Rockefeller has resisted the idea. That point apparently is yet to be resolved.

Under the city's existing — but never utilized — payroll — taxing power, the first $1,200 of an employee's annual salary would be exempted from the tax.

The law will be revised to provide more generous exemptions in the lower — wage brackets.

For those earning $10,000 a year or less, the first $3,000 will be exempted. For those in the $10,000-$20,000 bracket, the first $2,000 will be exempted. In the $20,000-$30,000 bracket, the first $1,000 will be exempted. There will be no exemption for those earning more than $30,000.

Other Provision

A provision will be made also to apply the tax to self-employed persons.

Travia said the compromise tax package would produce less than the Democrats had anticipated and that cuts would have to be made in Lindsay's budget to reflect the lesser revenue.

Lindsay said that, besides the $283 million, he would obtain $102.5 million from various other sources which, he said, "are too complicated to explain." Mostly this will come from various state-aid programs and higher yields from some existing taxes than originally estimated.

His total yield from all sources should add up to $385.5 million, he said. The mayor's $4.6 billion budget was prepared with the expectation that he would obtain his original $520 million tax program. The City Council, however, said it would trim the budget by $100 million and Lindsay agreed to settle for $420 million in new money.

Thus, Lindsay explained, he is left with a gap of $34.5 million that must be raised by other sources of revenue or trimmed from his proposed budget.

The City Council meets Friday in City Hall to act on Lindsay's budget and is expected to grant approval in view of the agreement on the compromise by Ross, City Council President Frank D. O'Connor and Council Majority Leader Angelo M. Arculeo.

Also participating in the negotiations were Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson and Senate Minority Leader Joseph Zaretzki.

Rockefeller drew advice from his budget director, T. Norman Hurd, State Tax Commissioner Joseph Murphy and staff assistants.

Lindsay was guided by the author of his tax plan, Murray Drabkin, Deputy Mayor Robert Price; City Budget Director Eugene Becker; and David Lindsay, the mayor's twin brother and tax advisor.

At 4:30 p. m. Judge Mino adjourned the hearing until 10 a. m. Friday, when the Woods case will be taken up.

142 Americans Reported Killed During Past Week

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American combat dead climbed to the third highest level of the year last week, reflecting in part the cost of the victory over a North Vietnamese regiment in the central highlands.

The U. S. military command said 142 Americans were killed, 741 wounded and one missing or captured last week compared with 109 killed, 636 wounded and 13 missing in the week of May 29-June 4.

A total of 156 Americans died in the week of March 7-13, when a Monday through Sunday reporting period was being used; and 146 in the regular week of May 15-21.

The latest toll brought the number of U. S. servicemen reported killed by enemy fire since Jan. 1 to 1,956 and to 3,804 since Jan. 1, 1961.

The unofficial count of American wounded for the year climbed to 12,213.

The allies reported 1,240 Communists killed last week, an increase of 338, and 166 captured, an increase of 46.

This compared with a total of 299 allied troops reported killed. The South Vietnamese government said 151 of its troops were killed and 30 missing last week compared with 121 killed the "Brinkley" decision of the New York State Court of Appeals, it was ruled that any defendant who had been convicted in a trial in which his own confession was used against him, could demand a hearing to determine the voluntariness of that confession.

Hearings Held

As a result many defendants took advantage of that decision to seek re-trial hearings in an attempt to nullify a confession on the grounds it had not been voluntarily given or the defendant had not been properly advised of his constitutional rights.

The recent U. S. Supreme Court decision in the Sheppard-Maxwell case sets down "guide lines" regarding interview of suspects wherein a statement is involved. These "guide lines" are even more stringent and specific than were the previous rules.

The three defendants who sought a hearing before Judge Mino Wednesday to determine the voluntariness of both oral and written statements given to law enforcement officers in regard to the alleged crime are Harold Delano Lee, Thurman Lee and James Samuel Woods, all of Poughkeepsie, who stand indicted for robbery, first degree; second degree assault and second degree grand larceny, arising out of a holdup at a New Paltz liquor store at Ohioville last December 1.

It is charged that three men arrived at the store, two armed, one of them armed, Fred Woolsey, Milton, was allegedly assaulted and the men left after cleaned out the cash drawer.

Gave Statements

The three men were later questioned and allegedly gave both oral and written statements implicating themselves in the crime. They now seek to prevent use of those statements on trial, claiming that they were not properly advised of their rights and that the statements were not voluntary.

Two of the suspects were interviewed at the Dutchess County Jail where they were confined on another charge, one was first interviewed at his Tulip Street home and later gave a statement at the Highland State Police substation, after being arrested by Senior BCI Investigator Michael Lisman and Investigator John Salters of the State Police.

Harold Lee is represented by Ward Ingalsbe; Thurman Lee by Francis Martocci and James Samuel Woods by George Beck.

Both Investigators Lisman and Salters testified they had notified the defendants they were entitled to counsel, need make no statement and that if they did it could be used against them. After this warning, statements were given, both oral and later reduced to writing.

Troopers Questioned

District Attorney Joseph Torracca appeared for the prosecution, questioned the troopers in regard to the manner in which the statements were taken and the manner of informing the three men in regard to their constitutional rights.

Both Senior Investigator Lisman and Investigator Salters testified that they had informed the defendants of their rights prior to the questioning and at points during the questioning. None of the men asked for counsel.

Lisman testified, however, that he had not informed defendants that if they did not have funds to hire an attorney, they need not make any statement until an attorney is present.

Harold Delano Lee was apprehended at his home on Tulip Street, Poughkeepsie, and later questioned at the Highland substation. Assisting in the investigation was Detective Norton of the Poughkeepsie police department.

When Harold Lee was located at his home, he told the investigators that he heard the police were looking for him and he had been on his way to the police station to see "what it was all about." He denied any part in the Ohioville holdup and said Woolsey must have been wrong in his identification, continuing that to white men "all Negroes" looked alike. Later he admitted participation and gave the officers a statement.

At 4:30 p. m. Judge Mino adjourned the hearing until 10 a. m. Friday, when the Woods case will be taken up.

Garraghan Favors

this rate the proposed increased storage would give the city 65 more days of storage capacity. Present capacity is 1,200,000,000 gallons.

Mayor Garraghan, noting that the Water Department has the plans for increasing storage, felt that it should now be considered because of proposed large developments in the city in the future.

The mayor with members of the Water Board and engineers made a survey tour of the city's water supply system last Sunday.

Sought Property

He noted today that for some time the Art Students League has sought to buy the property in the Woodstock area which was once part of the local reservoir system. Buildings on the property built as a National Youth Administration project in the 1930's have been purchased by the League.

The mayor thinks that the property should be appraised and sold to the League with a provision giving the city the right to buy it back, if needed, at the price for which it was sold. It has been indicated that the League would conduct the school for eight months each year instead of operating only in the summer if it gains title to all of the property.

VanBramer Lists Campaign Plans

Glenn C. Van Bramer, Democratic candidate for the Constitutional Convention, today made known his campaign plans for the remainder of the week—including a keynote address to the New York State Young Democrats on Saturday.

Tonight, he will address the Town of Woodstock Democratic Club in Ulster County; Saturday, speak in Nassau County on the Constitutional Convention at the annual New York State Young Democratic Convention, and on Sunday, attend a picnic in Ulster County and the Dutchess County Democratic Candidate and Committee Barbeque at the Hyde Park home of Bernard Kessler.

"When I was nominated," Mr. Van Bramer said, "I promised a vigorous campaign effort and I fully intend to honor that promise stressing the lasting importance of the Constitutional Convention. This campaign is unique, however, in that we candidates must first educate the voters about the job we are running for, and then, and only then, why we, as individual candidates deserve to win."

Ultragenorous Play Is Winner

By JACOBY & SON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

South's one diamond response to his partner's opening one club and is ultra modern. The theory is that you want to give your opponents every possible chance to hang themselves and if you don't bid a spade they may bid the suit themselves. We rather like this modern theory when it works. When it does not we long for the good old days.

The diamond response results in a deuce of spades opening against the three no-trump contract which would be reached in almost any bidding sequence.

East wins with the ace. He notes that his partner has only four spades. Then he looks at the five card club suit in dummy and decides to try to kill the dummy by leading a heart.

West covers whatever card South plays with his king and right here it is up to South to become ultragenorous and let West have a trick he has no right to drag in.

Once South makes this play he is held to two heart tricks instead of three, but he is sure to bring home dummy's club suit because there is no way for West to knock out the ace of hearts. Four clubs plus two hearts plus two spades plus one diamond represents a total of nine tricks which is all South needs.

If South takes that first heart he will be held to two club tricks only provided East remembers to duck two club leads.

South may make three no-trump anyway. There are all sorts of ways for him to try for an end play but if the defenders handle their cards correctly, there will be no end play and South will go down.

Champion Drum Corps Pageant Slated June 25

Preparations are rapidly taking shape for the 12th annual Pageant of Champions, a most exciting and colorful drum corps competition held in the area, which is slated for Saturday, June 25 at 8 p. m. at Dietz Memorial Stadium, according to Howard Kriner, pageant chairman and business manager of The Criterions Drum Corps, sponsors of the event.

The Criterions represent Kingston and Newburgh, and are sponsored by Kingston Post 150, American Legion and John T. Kennedy Post 973, Veterans of Foreign Wars of Newburgh.

This year's event will feature corps from New York, Canada and Pennsylvania.

To Give Exhibition
Kriner said Troop 12 Indians sponsored by the Old Dutch Church of Kingston, will be featured in an exhibition. This unit recently appeared as featured exhibitors at Carnegie Hall.

Five competing corps will be featured. Four of these will be the Westshoremans Bonnie Scots of the Greater Harrisburg, Pa., area; The Esquires of Irwin, Pa.; The Sunrises of Mineola, L. I., and the Les Troubadors of Hull Quebec.

The Les Troubadors unit is the newest entry and it will make its first appearance in this area on the night of June 25. It is a marching corps made up of some 70 men.

Recognized as one of the finest drum and bugle corps in New York State, the Criterions of Kingston, did not participate in the Memorial Day parade. Kriner explained that the Criterions which started as the Port Ewen Cavaliers then joined with the Newburgh Ambassadors, have joined forces with the well known Inter-Statesmen organization of the Albany and Troy

Actor March Talks About Quitting

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I think it's time to hang up my hat," said Fredric March, chewing on the tag end of a cigar.

The two-time Academy winner — "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," 1932; "The Best Years of Our Lives," 1946 — was sitting next to the entrance of the stage where "Hombre" was being filmed. He had just finished a scene with Paul Newman and Martin Balsam and was waiting for the next one.

"What am I doing here?" he ruminated. "I've got four grandchildren coming from their home in Italy to our house in Connecticut; my daughter is married to an Italian-American who lives in Florence. My son is getting married this summer."

"Here I am making a picture, feeling as tired as I have ever been, when I should be in the East with my family. It doesn't make sense."

March had just returned from a gruelling 13 weeks in the Arizona and Nevada deserts and mountains. It was no ordinary area and will become known as Empire Statesmen.

The combined corps will have 89 playing members and hope to become a top notch group, if not a nationally known corps. A fifth corps to participate in the Pageant of Champions will be announced soon by Kriner.

location; one company worker, a veteran of Western films, reported he has never experienced a tougher trip for a movie.

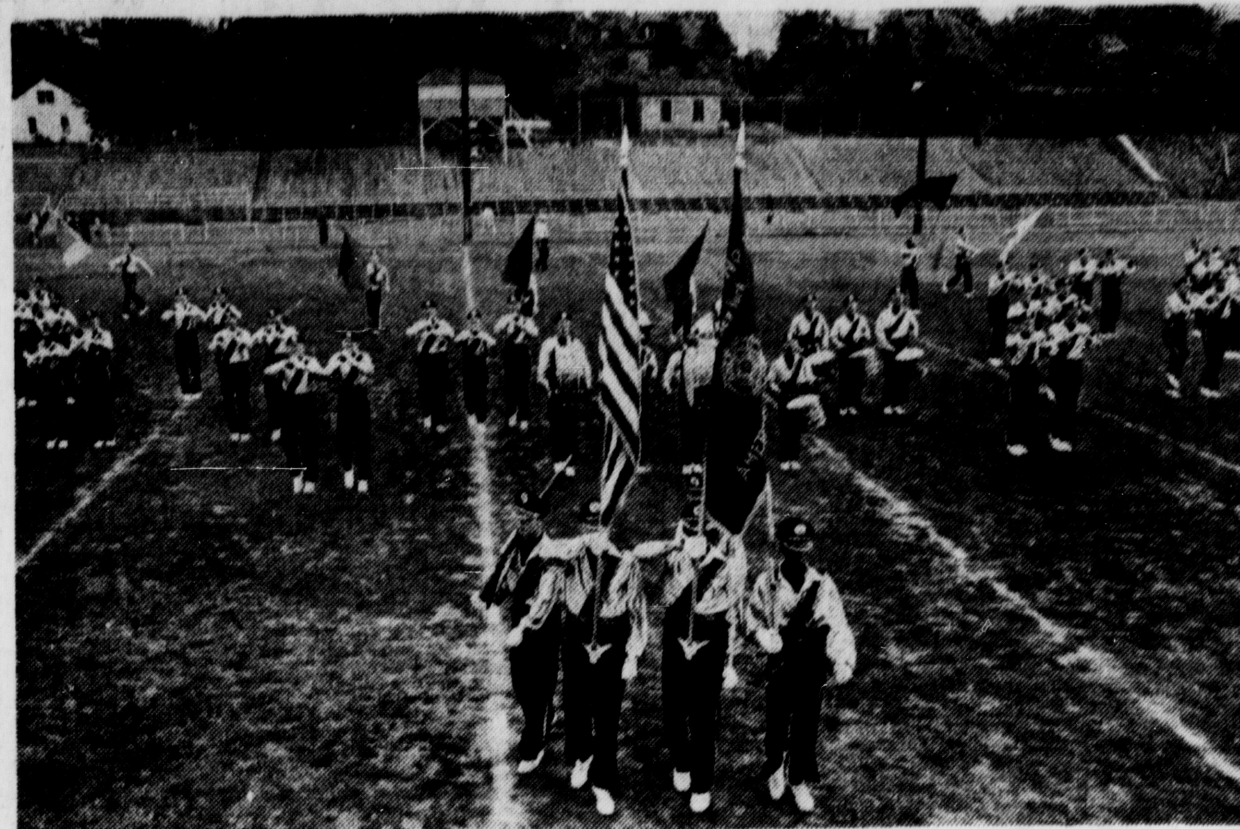

"The weather was murderous," reported March, "so hot that you couldn't sleep at night. In one location, it was 53 miles over mountain roads to reach the shooting at the top of the peak. The place was on a ledge with a road so narrow that a Jeep would have to back down it to descend."

The actor said that he survived the location only through the aid and support of his wife and often costar, Florence Elbridge. During their stay in Las Vegas they celebrated their 39th wedding anniversary.

Despite her ministrations, March came to the conclusion that he should end his long, distinguished career.

"Look — I'm 68; I'll be 69 in August," he remarked. "I think I've done my stint. Now I aim to do the things I like to do: spend some time with my family, and travel."

"Fortunately, I'm in a position where I don't have to work. I made money in the years when you could still keep it, and having been a banker, I took

HOSTS AND SPONSORS OF PAGEANT OF CHAMPIONS—The Criterions Drum Corps, one of the finest units of its kind in the area will give an outstanding exhibition Saturday night, June 25 at the 12th annual Pageant of Champions at Dietz Memorial Stadium. The exhibition, which will present five competing corps from New York, Pennsylvania and Canada, has attracted thousands of people from the area each year. Troop 12 Indians, sponsored by the Old Dutch Church, will compete. That unit gave an exhibition on May 14 at Carnegie Hall as the main feature. The Les Troubadors of Hull, Quebec, will make their first appearance in this area at the event the Criterions will present. The Criterions are shown as they appeared at the 1966 event.

WHITE ELEPHANT SALE

Sure we have white elephants.
When you're as busy as we are, you're bound to make a few bad guesses. But we feel sure that at these prices . . . our white elephants will be red hot bargains for someone.

When the mill over-produced on 12-foot rolls of this lush, plush, custom-made ACRYLIC VELVET TWEED BROADLOOM, we made a terrific buy—and so will our discriminating customers. Just feel the "heft" of this luxury carpet and you'll understand why it sells regularly for $19.95 a sq. yd. In six beautiful colors, at ONLY .....$11.95 sq. yd.

Rooms must be getting narrower. How else do you explain the fact that certain 15-foot broadlooms have not been selling as rapidly as they used to? At any rate, we have excess rolls of 15-FOOT LUXURY CARPET, including Velvet, Tweed, and Sculptured, in Wool, Nylon, Acrylic, which once bore price tags from $8.95 to $10.95. If you can use carpeting 15 feet wide, you're lucky, because we're selling these at just $4.95 sq. yd.

Single odd rolls of a pattern take up too much room and sell slowly. Any astute buyer who can use an outstanding brand of ACRYLIC SCULPTURED BROADLOOM in Blue, Bronze, Mocha, or Sauterne that sold at $7.95 a sq. yd., will get a remarkable value at .....$4.95 sq. yd.

Every so often, we become too enthusiastic over a quality and buy too much of it. Last year, we felt that way about a certain high quality ALL-WOOL PLUSH BROADLOOM. We've sold oodles of it at $14.95 a sq. yd., but we still have a lot of rolls left, in a good color selection at .....$9.95

Do you like cheerful, COLORFUL BRAIDED AND HOOKED RUGS? We do—but in these days of wall-to-wall carpeting, they don't sell as they did in the days of yore. We have them in a whole range of sizes and patterns, starting as low as $3.95 each

Once upon a time, we made a "Special Purchase" of "Candy Stripe" and "HOOKWEVE" CARPET in interesting, bright Colonial patterns. Apparently, the purchase wasn't as "special" as we thought, because even at the modest prices of from $8.95 to $12.95 a sq. yd., they didn't sell out. But we hope you will find them very, very special at $6.95 to $8.95 sq. yd.

Frankly, even though NYLON BROADLOOM CARPET, over-all, is our biggest seller, we sometimes end up with certain rolls left on our hands (or rather, in our warehouse). Look over these excellent Nylon Textured Broadlooms, all of which originally sold at far, far more than $4.95 sq. yd.

When a manufacturer discontinues a line, we get "stuck" with all the SAMPLES we've bought in order to show the line. You may find these samples just right for stairs, door mats, floor mats, etc., etc. They're priced right, too, at $1 to $3 each You've heard of "pop" art? Well, we've got "POP" CARPET—a whole roll of "bowling alley" carpeting, actually patterned with bowling balls and pins! No fooling! Great for playrooms, barrooms, porches—unbeatable as a conversation piece! You'll throw a curve strike by buying this way-out carpet. It sold for .....$5.95 a lineal yd.

Here's another plum for those who appreciate off-beat carpeting! It's SISAL CARPET—colorful, practical, and fine for indoor-outdoor use. There's only one roll of it left, and we're letting it go for only .....$1.00 a lineal yd.

TV Image Still Problem for LBJ: Homey Approach Is Working Well

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson is the first triple-screen president in history.

He has a habit of watching three television screens simultaneously — each carrying a different program.

This is one measure of Johnson's keen interest in the opinion-molding potential of television. It also reflects his interest in watching — and studying — his own filmed-in-advance appearances on television newscasts.

Of course, the triple-screen receivers in the White House and at the LBJ Ranch in Texas create a problem. Johnson can watch three screens but can tune in on the sound from only one channel at a time, using a remote control button to pick up the voice he wants.

Improving Technique

Since taking office, the President has devoted many hours considering ways to improve his television technique. His latest was to abandon the mechanical prompting devices he once used. Most observers believe he is more relaxed and natural without them.

Dwight D. Eisenhower, first president to make use of television, turned to Hollywood for expert advice. He enlisted the services of actor-producer Robert Montgomery to give him pointers on delivery and help in arranging proper lighting for television appearances.

Johnson does not rely on just one coach. He weighs advice from many, many sources, in and out of the White House. And he studies film clips of his own sessions before the camera, to judge for himself.

During 2½ years in the White House, Johnson has experimented with prompting devices, facial makeup, lighting, contact lenses and — lately — has adopted carefully chosen conventional eyeglasses.

Chucked Prompters

A prompter system flashed his speech texts before him on one-way mirrors propped up to the left and right of him.

Johnson got rid of the prompters in early 1966. Since then he has been reading his speeches from manuscripts typed in large letters and bound in looseleaf notebooks.

Besides appearing more relaxed and natural without the mechanical aids, the President has been departing from his prepared texts more often, to indulge in homey off-the-cuff philosophizing and storytelling, at which he excels.

The President also equipped himself recently with a new pair of eyeglasses with transparent plastic rims. He had been searching since 1964 for the "right" kind of glasses to wear. Once an optician and a television network executive made at least two trips to the White House so Johnson could try on, for their approval and his own, scores of different eyeglass frames. None was found quite suitable.

During the 1964 campaign, he often used contact lenses for major appearances. However, he found they made his eyes water.

Skunk Hunting

RATON, N.M. (AP) — Raton humane officer Jack Rowell is going skunk hunting with a wooden box and his fingers crossed. Rowell has been assigned by the city manager, John Murphy, to rid Raton of 100 to 200 skunks after reports from the New Mexico Department of Health that some might be infected with rabies.

Milkshed Price

NEW YORK (AP)—Market Administrator A.J. Pollard announced Wednesday that dairy farmers in the New York-New Jersey milkshed will receive $4.16 per hundredweight (46.5 quarters) for May milk deliveries to pool handlers.

The April price was $4.35 and $3.68 was paid for May, 1965, milk.

The producer butterfat differential was set at six cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

The administrator reported that receipts from producers totaled 1,123,899,467 pounds. This was 67,667,561 pounds, or 5.7 per cent, under the 1,191,567,028 pounds received in May 1965. Sales of fluid milk (Class 1) dropped 1,302,325 pounds, or 0.3 per cent, to 481,687,224 pounds.

Fluid milk made up 42.9 per cent of the May pool, compared with 40.5 per cent a year ago. Handlers paid $5.12 per hundredweight for milk received within the 201-210 mile zone and used as class 1.

Hot Play

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A Tucson Little Theater group was nearly burned out while rehearsing for a play, "The Fireman's Flame," when a blaze erupted recently. Real firemen snuffed out the flames.

Asks Resignation Of NY Grievance Board in Albany

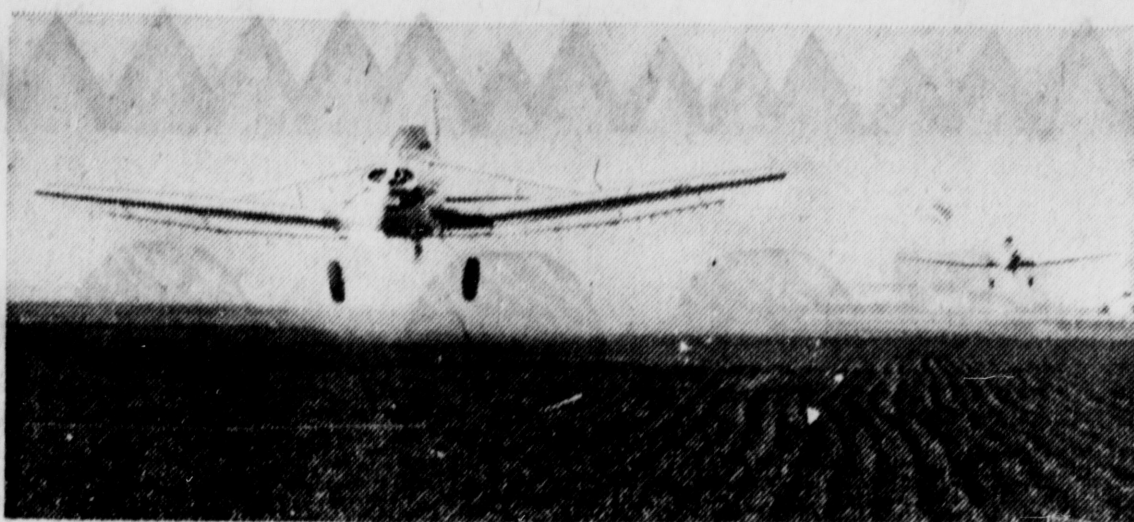

Calling the New York State Grievance Board a "Judas goat" for 130,000 state employees who since the use of the procedure results in reprisals against the employees involved, Al Wurf, executive director of New York State Employees Council 50, AFL-CIO in an appearance before the three-member Grievance Board, the highest tribunal in the state grievance procedure, requested that the board members resign and that the procedure be discontinued.

"It is better to have no procedure than to have a procedure that is toothless and thoughtless to the point of being dangerous to state employees."

This grievance procedure was given to state employees because of the existence of the Condon-Wadlin public employee no-strike-law. It was a puny attempt at giving state employees a vehicle of redress since they had lost their right to protest working conditions," Wurf stated.

"The history of the grievance procedure has been completely contrary to its stated purpose of handling employee problems. In case after case where the board ruled in favor of the employee, state administrators have refused to implement decisions. Some classic examples are the State Insurance Fund where the board ruled in favor of an employee coffee break and the State Administration refused to grant this. Another case is that of the superintendent of the Otisville Training School for Boys who absolutely refused to recognize the directives of the board. Hundreds of cases of reprisal and intimidation against state employees have taken place because of the employees' usage of the procedure. Creedmoor State Hospital is one example of where an absolute reign of terror exists due to the employees attempting to exercise their rights under this directive."

New York State Employees Council 50 warns the governor and the legislators that the very existence of this "phony attempt" to placate state employees in substitution of bonafide collective bargaining will result in fomenting the very thing the grievance procedure was created to prevent.

Rochester Man Faces 20 Years in Prison

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A 19-year-old young man faces a prison term of from 20 years to life for the fatal shooting last Dec. 4 of a 26-year-old man during an argument on a city street corner.

Judge George D. Ogden of Monroe County Court sentenced Delbert Adams of Rochester Wednesday and ordered him sent to Elmira Reception Center.

A county court jury convicted Adams on May 27 of second-degree murder in the shooting of Cleveland Chatman Jr., of Rochester. The argument was prompted by a near collision of Chatman's automobile and another car containing Adams, police said.

Adams also was found guilty of first-degree assault in shooting at Chatman's brother, William, 25, of Rochester. The bullet missed William, police said.

Ogden ordered that a five-year sentence on the assault conviction be served concurrently with the murder term.

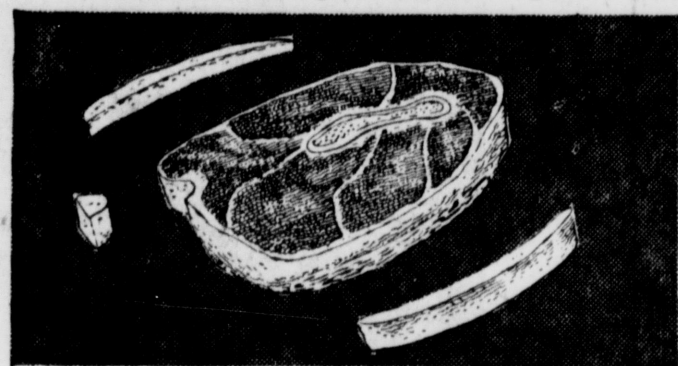

Adams' address is 237 Hawley St. Chatman lived at 61 Hickory St. William Chatman lives at 196 Adams St.

Eight Big Bands Set for Parade

The Pacers Drum and Bugle Corps representing the Poughkeepsie Polish American Club and one of the highlights of last year's Saugerties Savings Bank Saugerties Jaycees have announced the receipt of a check for the scholarship from John Robbins, representing the Savings Bank.

The famous Pacers have held the Hudson Valley Junior Championship title as well as the Columbia County Junior Championship for the last several years. The excellent sound of this corps has been heard throughout the east: in the Pulaski Day Parade in New York City, the Holy Name Parade in Bayonne, N. J. In 1963 they performed in the World Open Competition in Roosevelt Stadium in Jersey City and again in 1964 in Hedges Stadium in Connecticut.

The Pacers are a member of the Hudson Berkshire Marching and Maneuvering circuit and the Yankee circuit of the class A-1 division. The membership consists of a 13-man drum line and a 32 man horn line with a 14-girl color guard.

Seven other musical marching units have been signed by the Jaycees thus far to participate in the July 4 parade. They include the Stewart Air Force Band, Yankee Doodle Band of Rensselaer, Troop 12 "Indians" of Kingston, Continental Cadets of Catskill, Green Hornets of Catskill, Saugerties Drum Corps and Tivoli Drum Corps.

Local groups and organizations participating in the event include: Saugerties Chamber of Commerce, Glasco Fire Co., American Legion Post 72, Malden West Camp Fire Co., Brownie Troop 185, Cub Pack 132, Saxton Fire Co., and Girl Scouts of St. Catherine LaBoutte. As in the past a large number of civic organizations have entered into the spirit of the celebration and are entering floats in the July 4 parade. Float entrants include: Centerville Fire Co.; Cub Scout Pack 37; Girl Scout Troop 104; VFW Auxiliary 5034; Society of Little Gardens; Kingston, Cossackie, Woodstock and Saugerties Jaycees; Daughters of the American Revolution; Eastern Star; Knights of Columbus; Lions; Okidake Camp Fire Girls; and the CYO.

AT COMMUNION BREAKFAST — Principals attending the annual Communion Breakfast of the Holy Name Society of St. Mary of the Snow, Saugerties, included (l-r) Robert Schnell, outgoing president; John Bunyar, Catholic High School Scholarship winner; Joseph DiDomenico, chairman of the breakfast; and Sister Mary Leo, principal of the local Catholic elementary school.

Special Service For Seniors Set

Annual Baccalaureate Service for Seniors graduating from Saugerties High School will be held Sunday at 7:30 p. m. in Reformed Church of Saugerties, Main Street.

Participating in the processional will be members of the Class of 1966, lead by marshalls of the Junior Class, combined choirs of participating churches, officers of the churches and the clergy. The graduating Seniors are asked to meet at the church at 7 p. m. with their robes in order to be gowned and ready for the processional.

The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered by the Rev. George D. Wood, president of Saugerties Area Council of Churches. Subject of his message is "The Urge to Build." Music will be by combined choirs of participating churches under the direction of Howard Houghtaling. Selections to be sung include, "Onward Ye People," by Sibelius and "Battle Hymn of the Republic" by Wilbowski.

Participating in the service will be representative clergy of the area. The call to worship and invocation will be given by the host minister, the Rev. Orville Jay Hine. Prayer for the graduates will be given by the Rev. August Paus Jr., minister

Makes Statement On Rowdy Action

Recent examples of vandalism and rowdy conduct which have been attributed to public school pupils brought this comment from Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Dexter O. Arnold: "It should be obvious to all that the Board of Education and school authorities deplore these activities which may or may not be attributable to pupils. We have tried to discourage gatherings which are not school supervised. We insist on good behavior on school property and during the school day when we have jurisdiction over our pupils. Any infraction of school rules and regulations will result in disciplinary action. Students who may be suspended will not be allowed to participate in school activities including graduation ceremonies.

"It is unfortunate that the majority are sometimes affected by the actions of the thoughtless and inconsiderate. By and large, our students are fine young people and want no part of rowdyism. It is important that blame be placed on the proper individuals."

Lists Schedule Of Closing Week

Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, Superintendent of Schools, Saugerties Central Schools, has issued the following information regarding the close of schools:

Elementary schools will close at the end of the regular school day on Thursday, June 23. The Morse School, however, will close on Friday, June 24. Because construction delayed opening of the new building, it is necessary to run the extra day to meet State requirements.

Grades seven and eight will return to school for report cards on Friday, June 24.

Regents examinations will be conducted from Friday, June 17 through Thursday, June 23. Commencement exercises will be held on Friday, June 24.

Slate Rummage Sale

American Legion Auxiliary, Lamouree-Hackett Post No. 72, of Saugerties, will hold a rummage sale on Friday and Saturday, June 24 and 25, in the store formerly occupied by Halpert's on Main Street, across from the Orpheum Theater.

Donations for the sale are currently being accepted from the public. Those wishing to contribute may call Catherine Van Gaasbeek, Alice McWeeney or Catherine Teetsel.

Baptist Church Notes Activities

Tonight, at 7:30 o'clock, the regular mid-week prayer service and Bible study will be held in First Baptist Church, Saugerties. The public is invited to attend this service.

Friday, at 6 p. m., YAMS Class will hold annual family picnic at IBM Country Club, Kingston.

Sunday, at 9:05 a. m., the Wonderful Word broadcast will be heard over WGHQ. The Rev. Brooks N. Henry will continue a series of studies from the Book of Revelation.

Sunday school is held at 9:45 a. m., with classes for all ages. At 11 a. m., morning worship service is held with the pastor speaking on "What A Saviour!" Beginner church and primary church are held during the sermon period. A nursery is provided. At 6 p. m., Berean Youth Fellowship will meet. The topic for this week is "Popularity Plus." This is a training hour for all Junior and Senior High School young people. At 6:30 p. m., there will be a Sunday school teachers meeting. At 7 p. m., evening service is held with the pastor speaking on "The Prophet, Jonah."

Monday, Deacons will meet at 7:30 p. m.

Wednesday at 6:30 p. m., Philathea Class will hold annual picnic at Seamon's Park.

OES Will Offer Auction Program

Members of Emmanuel Chapter 517, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold an auction along with members of the Fellowcraft Club of the Masonic Lodge, on Saturday, July 2, at the new temple recently built on Russell Street, Saugerties. One of the highlights of the auction will be the rapid spicing of Hank Saggie, local auctioneer. The auction is scheduled to start promptly at 10 a. m. and those who wish to browse should come earlier to see the many items of antiques, furniture and bric-a-brac that will be available.

Mrs. Ernest A. Schirmer of West Saugerties is in charge of arrangements for collecting various auction items. If there is something that you wish to donate to the auction, please call Mrs. Schirmer and she will be glad to have a member of her committee pick up any items.

CHECK PRESENTATION — Wilson C. Edmunds Jr. (right), president of Saugerties Jaycees, receives check from John Robbins, representing the Saugerties Savings Bank. The donation will be used to cover sponsorship of the Pacers Drum and Bugle Corps of the Poughkeepsie Polish American Club by the local bank in the Fourth of July parade in Saugerties, sponsored by Jaycees here.

Rev. James M. Egan

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Rev. James M. Egan, director of the Graduate School of Sacred Theology at St. Mary's College in South Bend, Ind., died Wednesday in Providence, where he was in retreat at Providence College. He was 57. Father Egan, a native of New York City, was a member of the Dominican order.

Reagan Gives Views in Speech

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan said today he is "a throwback to the age of unhyphenated Republicanism" and will focus on "nagging problems" such as taxes, crime, labor and education in his race for the California governorship.

He said he fully expects Californians of both parties to swing the state into the GOP ranks in November.

In a speech prepared for a National Press Club luncheon, Reagan gave what he described as "an unfiltered, uncensored version of where I stand and what I think the issues are in the fall election."

The 55-year-old Hollywood star, who won the Republican nomination for governor of California June 7, faces Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown in November.

Reagan flew East Wednesday to lunch with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm and later meet here with the California GOP House delegation and Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif.

Eisenhower told newsmen after the two had lunched that Reagan "seems to have integrity and common sense, and he's for Republicans."

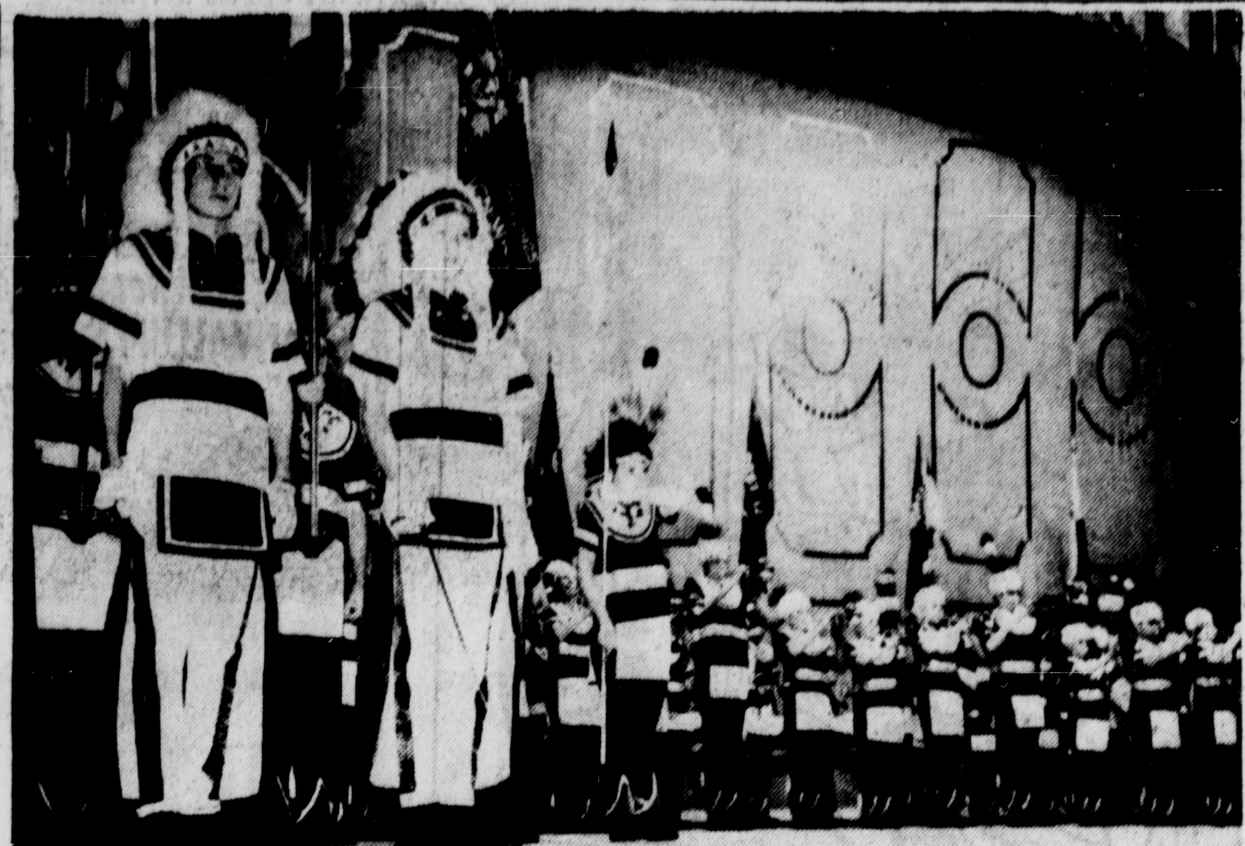

Asked if Reagan's visit meant an endorsement as a potential presidential candidate, Eisenhower said:

"Any candidate elected governor of any big state would have to be considered by the party" as a presidential possibility.

Wicks Firemen March

Members of A. H. Wicks Engine & Truck Company are to report at 11:30 a. m. Saturday, June 18, at the firehouse for inspection, preliminary to their participation in the Hudson Valley Firemen's Association parade in West Windsor.

Joshua Pusey of Lima, Pa., took out the first patent for book matches.

TROOP 12 INDIANS WILL EXHIBIT—This unit sponsored by the Old Dutch Church of Kingston is shown above as it gave a highlight and featured exhibition at Carnegie Hall. The group will be one of the top attractions at the 12th annual Pageant of Champions to be presented by the Criterion Drum Corps, Saturday, June 25 at 8 p. m. at Dietz Memorial Stadium.

Five leading corps from Canada, Pennsylvania and New York will participate in the event which is expected to attract thousands of persons from the area.

New Paltz Methodist Church Confirms Class

The Confirmation Class of the New Paltz Methodist Church was received into membership Sunday at the 11 a. m. service of worship.

The course of study took four and one-half months and included a trip to Temple Emanuel in Kingston and an all day trip to New York City to visit the Brooklyn Methodist Hospital and the Bethel Methodist Home in Ossining. The 12 members of this year's class were each presented with a pictorial New Testament by the church. Leland Heinze, lay leader of the New Paltz Methodist Parish, conveyed the greetings and congratulations of the congregation to the confirmands.

The pastor, the Rev. Roy Allan Hassel, has been in charge of the membership training class and reported that all of the members of the class achieved the grade of 80 or more after their 17 week study program. Miss Joanne Marie Salerno and Theodore James Sirko achieved the highest over-all grades.

The members of this year's class included: Mary Jane Baumgartner, Ronald Earl Crans, Henry Grimsland, Brian Robert Hasbrouck, Rick Curtis King, Sharon Ann King, Norma Joan Lunan, Floyd Wayne Marks, Joseph Frances Marks, Joanne Marie Salerno, Theodore James Sirko and Michael Ray Snider.

Adult members will be taken into the membership of the church June 26 at the 11 a. m. hour of worship.

Governor Sends Regards to Corps On June 25 Show

Well wishes to all those taking part in the 12th annual Pageant of Champions at Dietz Stadium, Saturday June 25, have been received from Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller in a letter to Howard Kriner, chairman of the Annual Pageant of Champions sponsored by the Criterion Drum and Bugle Corps of Kingston and Newburgh.

Governor Rockefeller, in a letter dated June 7, received by Kriner, states "I am delighted to send cordial greetings to all taking part in the 12th annual Pageant of Champions and to all the people of Kingston and its surrounding communities, since the pageant is sure to attract thousands of spectators to Dietz Stadium."

"The Criterion Drum and Bugle Corps of Kingston and Newburgh is to be congratulated for sponsoring this exhibition which will give great pleasure to so many people," the Governor wrote.

"Assemblyman Ken Wilson tells me that drum and bugle corps from as far away as Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Canada will take part in their splendid show. I am sure it will be a resounding success and a great credit to the people of Kingston. My best wishes to all for a successful pageant," the Governor concluded.

tion of the new St. Joseph's Church by His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman will be shown.

The Knights will have the center as a permanent meeting place. Rental of the facilities was offered to the newly formed council by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward P. Monckton, pastor of St. Joseph's Church after the church need for the center was eliminated by the new church.

Will Be Married With Slippers 549-Years-Old

By HOLCOMB B. NOBLE

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Nancy Ellen Fitch said today she has a gnawing fear that when she steps to the altar to be married Saturday—everybody in church will be staring at her feet.

"I've thought of wearing a sign around my neck saying 'Bride' but I suppose that wouldn't be in keeping with the general tone of the wedding," she said.

"So, I guess I'll just have to keep smiling."

Nancy, 24, is marrying John M. Rainier, 23, Tulsa, Okla., who is studying for his doctorate in science at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The lure of Nancy's feet, which she said "are not historic at all," is that they will be inside a pair of beautifully preserved green satin slippers that are believed to be 549 years old.

Nancy is a direct descendant of Sarah Jane Willey, the family said, but how Sarah Jane came to get the slippers from Brewster, a spiritual leader of Plymouth Colony, is uncertain. How did the same pair of shoes fit all those different size feet? It's in the construction.

Nancy got them out of a 1912 shoe box, to which her mother, Geraldine, had returned them after her wedding in 1935.

The family says the shoes have been handed down from mother to daughter ever since Sarah Jane Willey got them from William Brewster aboard the Mayflower in 1620.

Nancy was hit on the head behind a car-washing establishment in the city. The reason for the quarrel was not determined.

Police said Henry refused to file a complaint after the incident. He returned home after being hit and was admitted to the hospital the following day.

Nancy said the wedding shoes are the widest at the ball of the foot and cup it in such a way that it fits almost any size.

She said the shoes still bear the label of their shoemaker, John Hose, 1417, and that they were made in England.

Faces Murder After Jack Killing

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A 25-year-old man stands accused of first-degree manslaughter in the death of another man who was hit on the head with an automobile tire Jack during an argument on June 6.

John Chisholm of Buffalo surrendered to police Wednesday and was charged with the death Tuesday night of Cleotha Henry, 23, of Buffalo in Buffalo General Hospital.

Henry was hit on the head behind a car-washing establishment in the city. The reason for the quarrel was not determined.

Thunderstorms Hit Southwest Region

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Severe thunderstorms, whipped by strong winds, buffeted Oklahoma and bordering areas of Texas and Arkansas early today.

The storms, accompanied by heavy rain and hail, were driven by winds up to 70 miles an hour in and around Oklahoma City. Roof damage, felled trees and some power failures were reported in Oklahoma City.

Less intense thunderstorms also moved across Missouri to the upper Ohio Valley.

Skies were clearing over most of the Southwest, the north-central states and the Far West.

A warming sun made temperatures comfortable today in the north-central part of the nation.

Henry's address was 513 Hickory St. Chisholm lives at 58 Northland Ave.

Tight Police Control Stops Chicago Riots

CHICAGO (AP) — Tight police control brought peace to a Northwest Side area Wednesday night for the first time since Puerto Rican crowds began a running battle with police Sunday.

Arnell Cruz, 20, whose arrest and subsequent shooting by a policeman first brought crowds into the streets, was released from police supervision in a hospital when several Puerto Rican community groups raised his $5,000 bond.

No new arrests were reported, but police moved quickly to break up clusters of people.

Revolt Is Defeated

LONDON (AP)—Another revolt by some members of Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor party met the usual crushing defeat Wednesday night when the voting test came.

The caucus of Labor members of the House of Commons voted 225-54 to reject a motion by left and right wingers calling for the withdrawal of British troops east of Suez. Wilson told them such a move would be "the surest prescription for a nuclear holocaust I can think of."

Wilson's critics sought to cut defense spending in Malaysia, Singapore and the Persian Gulf. They accused the government of continuing to act like a great power abroad while the nation is in dire economic straits.

Hijack Effort Fails

HAVANA (AP) — An airline flight engineer who killed two men when he tried to hijack a plane was executed immediately after his conviction Wednesday, and a Roman Catholic priest who gave him refuge was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

Angel Maria Betancourt Cueto was executed by a firing squad at dawn after a trial in La Cabaña Fortress that began Tuesday afternoon.

He killed a guard aboard a Soviet-built Ilyushin 18 airliner on March 27 and ordered the pilot to fly to Miami. When the pilot tricked him and landed at Havana Airport, Betancourt shot him to death and escaped.

He was captured two weeks later in a Roman Catholic convent. The Rev. Miguel A. Loredo Garcia was sentenced for hiding him there, but another priest was acquitted.

To Televis Proceedings

LONDON (AP) — Britain's House of Lords is going on television.

Parliament's upper house voted 56-31 Wednesday night to allow its proceedings to be televised live. Talks will be held with the British Broadcasting Corp. to arrange the details.

The House of Commons, which adopts Britain's laws, has appointed an all-party committee to consider televising its meetings.

Arrives in London

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Erroll Barrow of Barbados arrived in London today for talks next week on independence for his Caribbean island.

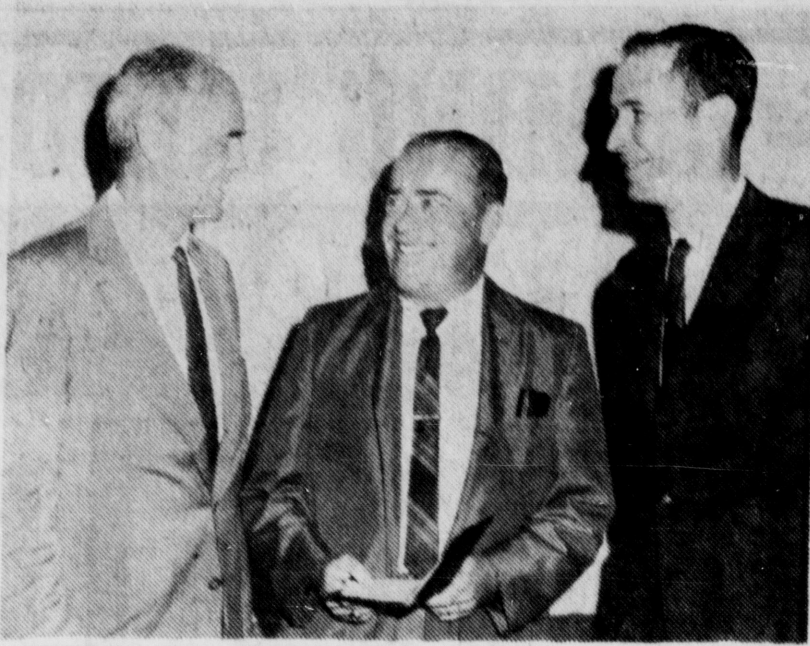

Barrow refused to discuss the talks with newsmen, but a British source said Barbados would base its claim for independence on its sugar resources and its tourist potential.

Sen. Kennedy Closes His Tour of Africa

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy wound up his 12-day tour of four African countries today and said he had been impressed by the "great fund of friendship for America among the people of all these countries."

The New York Democrat and his wife flew to Athens.

Kennedy met with government leaders in Tanzania, Kenya and Ethiopia but the white government of South Africa gave him the cold shoulder. He asked South African officials for criticizing the country's apartheid policy of racial segregation in talks to university students and by shaking every black hand in sight.

HURLEY GOP GUESTS—C. H. DuMond, center, president of the Town of Hurley Republican Club is flanked by Senator R. Watson Pomeroy of Dutchess County, left and Jay Rolison, Republican candidate to succeed him in the newly-formed 38th Senatorial District, which includes Dutchess and Ulster Counties. Both men were speakers at the Hurley GOP Club's monthly meeting Tuesday held at Twin Lakes Mountain House, Rolison, the main speaker emphasized the importance of unity in the Republican Party. ### Vols Parley Enters Second Day; Parade Is Saturday

The 77th Annual Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association Convention opened its first session officially at 10 a. m. today and rolls into its second session tonight featuring a stage show beginning at 8.

The convention will continue through Saturday, when it will climax in a parade 2 p. m. consisting of Association companies and visiting departments.

This morning's session featured a welcoming address by John McDaniel, president of the Quassaick Fire Engine Company. Other speakers include Theodore Marsden, supervisor of the Town of New Windsor and Newburgh mayor Joseph Mullin.

Preliminary opening of the Convention took place Wednesday evening with a meeting of officers of the Association with the New Windsor Convention Committee.

Tonight's stage show boasts an array of stars of stage, screen, television and radio and is restricted to members and delegates.

Convention business will be taken care of Friday when the delegates meet at 11 a. m. to elect new officers and hear the annual reports of the various officers and committee chairmen. The Mardi Gras promenade through New Windsor will begin 7 p. m.

Saturday's events include the final meeting of the Board of Directors which will be followed by the organizational meeting at Convention Headquarters.

The three-day Convention, which is reportedly the largest in the Association's history, will culminate in the parade, which is under the jurisdiction of the New Windsor Convention Committee.

Negotiators Report Break In News Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Top negotiators for both sides today reported a break in the two-week deadlock between the World Journal Tribune Inc. and the drivers union.

Matt Meyer, president of the new publishing corporation, said "a lot of progress" was made at an 11-hour negotiating session that ended at 1:30 a. m.

Joseph Baer, president of the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers (drivers) Union, said he was "very encouraged."

Neither Meyer nor Baer would tell newsmen what had been discussed.

When the negotiations became deadlocked two weeks ago, the key dispute was over the number of men to be cut from the 836 drivers union members who worked for the Herald Tribune, Journal-American and World-Telegram & Sun before they merged into the new corporation.

A few hours before the breakthrough in the publisher-driver impasse was announced, Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice president of the Newspaper Guild of New York, had said final agreement between the guild and the corporation was near.

The guild is the only one among the 10 newspaper industry unions that is on strike. The guild struck April 24, the day before the scheduled start of publication by the new corporation.

The World Journal Tribune Inc. and six craft unions have reached contract agreements. In addition to the guild and the drivers, the pressmen's union and the mailers' union are still without settlements. Chief mediator David L. Cole said Wednesday night he would try to get pressmen and mailers negotiations going again today.

The new papers planned are the Herald Tribune on weekday mornings, the World Journal on weekday afternoons and the World Journal Tribune on Sundays.

Louisville Firemen Continue 'Sleep-In'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A marathon "sleep-in" of two Louisville firemen at City Hall entered its third day today, as both sides refused to budge in a wage dispute.

"I will stay here without eating until July 1 unless we get more pay or my doctor says my health is endangered," said

Firemen Thomas L. Dale. City officials reiterated that they cannot tell whether there will be money for firemen's pay raises until September, when a new property tax assessment is expected to be completed.

The union has asked for pay raises totaling $341,000 a year. The starting salary for firemen is $4,600 annually which reaches $5,140 after the third year and then varies by rank.

Questions, Answers on Federal Tax

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequent asked by taxpayers.

Q—Are you getting refunds out any faster with your computers?

A—Yes, we are processing refunds faster and computers are partly responsible. Over 27 million refund checks had been mailed by April 15, 10 per cent more than for a comparable period a year ago. In other words, computers helped get refund checks to nearly 3 million more taxpayers by April 15 than received them last year.

Q—What about expenses connected with attending military reserve meetings in the evening. Is anything deductible?

A—The cost of your uniform, less any nontaxable allowance, will be deductible but not the travel costs to and from your reserve meetings unless you also worked at your regular job on the same day you attend a reserve meeting. Then the cost of a one-way trip from your regular job to the meeting can be deducted from your gross income.

No Recommendation

Q—I need someone to help me appeal my tax case but your people won't recommend anybody. Why is that?

A—There are many qualified tax practitioners and the government cannot be put in a position of favoring one over another. Officers of your local chapter of legal, accounting or tax practitioner associations will give you the names of those who can represent you.

Q—Do you have any publication that tells taxpayers what to do if called for an audit?

A—Yes, IRS Document No. 5202, "If Your Return Is Examined." It can be obtained without charge by writing to your District Director of Internal Revenue.

Q—My return was audited and I actually got a larger refund than I claimed. Does that happen very often?

A—Yes, it happens fairly often. One object of our audits is to make sure that the correct tax is collected from each taxpayer. We find many taxpayers who have overpaid as well as those who have underpaid.

Last year $145 million was returned to taxpayers as a result of audits where claims for refund had not been filed. On the other hand, our examination of returns resulted in the assessment of $2.7 billion in additional taxes and penalties.

Q—Is it true you have to get permission from the Internal Revenue Service to leave the country?

A—The law requires that most aliens must show their tax affairs are in good order before they are granted a sailing permit.

Must Bring 3 Years

To establish this, copies of 1963, 1964 and 1965 tax returns, as well as a statement of income and expenses for 1966, should be brought to your local Internal Revenue office. You should also bring your passport and re-entry permit as well as certain other papers and documents. For a detailed discussion of these requirements you may obtain Internal Revenue Service Document No. 5589, "U. S. Tax Guide for Aliens," free by writing to your District Director of Internal Revenue.

These requirements do not apply to U. S. citizens, although U. S. citizens who are delinquent

MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION BANQUET — The annual banquet for members of the Mothers' Association, St. Joseph's School, took place in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel on June 14. Seated at the speakers' table were Mrs. Edward Gardner, outgoing president; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. O'Reilly,

Woman's Club Plans Reviewed At June Meeting

The June meeting of the Woman's Club of Rosendale was held at Williams Lake Hotel.

Mrs. Albert Morelli and Mrs. Thomas Hanrahan were volunteer workers for the health clinic for June. Mrs. Irwin Smith gave a resume of the Governor's conference for women held at New York City and attended by her and president, Mrs. Arthur O'Leary as representatives of the club. Mrs. Howard Mansfield was also in attendance.

Plan Strawberry Festival

Final arrangements for the annual strawberry festival sponsored by the club were made. The festival will be held Thursday June 23 from 5:30 to 7:30 p. m. on the library grounds. Tickets may be obtained from the chairmen, Mrs. Arthur O'Leary, Mrs. Arthur Mulligan or at the library. Those wishing to take out orders will bring their own containers. Money raised is given to the library.

Mrs. Frederick Dippel of the scholarship committee introduced in payment of Federal taxes should arrange with the Internal Revenue Service for payment before going abroad.

Q—Hospital insurance is a deductible expense, isn't it? One of your agents has disallowed this deduction which I had taken.

A—Cost of hospitalization insurance is deductible as a medical expense only when these expenses are itemized. Some taxpayers erroneously list hospitalization under "other" expenses where it is not subject to the 3 per cent floor on medical expenses. Perhaps this is what happened in your case.

Q—I am retiring and will be moving into an apartment. If we give our furniture away can we claim this as a charitable deduction?

A—You can if you give it to a charitable organization such as Goodwill or the Salvation Army. The fair market value of the furniture at the time of the donation should be used to determine how much may be deducted.

Two Churches Vote to Merge

HOUGHTON, N.Y. (AP) — Delegates to the 32nd annual General Conference of the Wesleyan Methodist Church of America have voted to merge with the Alliance of Reformed Baptist Church of Canada.

The Reformed Baptist Association was scheduled to consider ratification of the merger during its annual meeting next month in St. Johns, New Brunswick.

The association contains about 2,500 communicants in 50 congregations in eastern Canada and the northeastern United States.

The Reformed Baptists operate a Bible college in Sussex, N.B., and perform mission work in Rhodesia. Both activities would be merged with those of the Wesleyan Church.

About 600 Wesleyan Church delegates, meeting in Houghton College, voted unanimously Wednesday for the merger.

They were scheduled to consider later this week a proposed merger with the Pilgrim Holiness Church which has headquarters in Indianapolis, Ind.

After the business meeting a picnic supper was served on the lawn of Williams Lake Hotel. The next meeting of the club will be held in September.

Democrats to Meet
The regular monthly meeting of the Rosendale Democratic Club Inc. will be held Monday, June 20 at 8 p. m. at the Town Community Building at Maple Hill. This is an important meeting and it is hoped there will be a good attendance. Refreshments will be served.

Jamestown Moose Win
CHICAGO (AP)—Members of the Loyal Order of Moose from Jamestown, N.Y., have won the Class I Publications award for the second year in a row.

The awards were announced Wednesday at the group's 78th convention. Harold D. Ross of Mount Morris, Ill., was elected Supreme Governor.

Scientists say it would be improbable, from a statistical standpoint, for life to have appeared only on Earth.

Most deer live in small bands comprising a family group but the males are often prone to be solitary seasonally. Bucks are polygamous, collect harems and battle other males for possession of the does. On occasion the antlers of two fighting bucks become so firmly engaged that the struggle ends in both combatants dying of starvation.

Missionary Back To This Country After 40 Years

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. William Baur left Webster Groves, Mo., in 1926 with his bride of one week and a dream of service as a missionary. With the dream realized after 40 years in India, the Baur family are back in America for good.

Their four children and 10 grandchildren—three of whom they had never seen—raised a sign reading "Welcome home Baur's" as the liner United States docked in New York Wednesday.

The grandchildren, from 2 to 12 years old, carried banners with their names in big block letters.

The Rev. Mr. Baur, 64, went first to the Indian state of Madhya Pradesh, where he rode the missionary circuit for the Evangelical Church, now merged into the United Church of Christ. Mrs. Baur ran a school for Indian boys.

Later, for 16 years, the Baur family directed a colony for 600 lepers at Raipur in central India.

"If we had to do it again, knowing all that we do now, we would do the same thing," the Rev. Mr. Baur said. "It's a matter of doing the work that you're called to do. It helps you get over a lot of rough spots, knowing that you're called."

The call, he said, grew from the atmosphere of his boyhood. His father was a professor of church history at the Eden Theological Seminary, Wellston, Mo.

The Baur's older son, the Rev. William L. Baur, will carry on the family tradition of service when he leaves in August for Raipur with his wife and three children to work in hospital administration 16 miles from where his parents lived and worked.

Another Baur son is a social worker in Chicago. One daughter married a minister and the other is a nurse. Three of the children were born in India, the fourth during a brief visit to the United States.

Although the Baur family are going home, they are not retiring. After they drive back to Missouri, they expect to "find some niche"—probably some small church out in the country," the Rev. Mr. Baur said.

Lane Promoted

Raymond L. Lane, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Lane, Mt. Tremper, received an early promotion to Army pay grade private E-2 on completion of basic combat training at Fort Dix, N. J. May 20. He was awarded the promotion two months earlier than is customary because of his score in firing the M-14 rifle, high score on the physical combat proficiency test and his military bearing and leadership abilities. The early promotion program is an Army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees. Lane attended Oteora Central School, Boiceville.

There were only three departments in the first cabinet of the United States: State, Treasury and War.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON, AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The threat of a federal tax increase is moderating. And one reason is that many Americans already are finding their total tax bills considerably higher this year. This moderates their urge to spend and makes a tax hike less likely.

It was fast-rising disposable personal incomes after taxes that was blamed for the big rush to buy goods and services. This demand, growing faster than supplies, was sending prices higher. And this spurred talk of a federal tax increase as a way of curbing inflation.

But personal incomes aren't increasing as fast now as they did a few months back. For many Americans, however, tax payments are increasing.

State and local tax collections are up this year. Legislative debates on ways to raise them still higher are heard around the land.

Higher Social Security Taxes
U.S. Treasury revenues are increasing faster than first expected. Workers are paying higher Social Security taxes. Their take-home pay has been trimmed by larger withholding for federal income tax payments. Federal excise taxes on new cars and phone bills are higher now than they were for a few brief weeks at the start of the year.

There are other reasons than steeper tax bills to account for the recent slowdown in personal income gains. And taxes are only one reason for the decline in consumer spending noted in several fields of late, such as autos and housing.

But some of the uncertainty in consumer minds as to future trends of the economy — of the outlook for jobs and paychecks — has come from the talk about the need for higher taxes lest the economy's early 1966 boom lead to a late 1966 bust.

Also the countertalk about a tax increase being unneeded because the economy already was cooling down of its own accord may have perplexed some consumers.

Take Second Look

This uncertainty — plus the drain on family budgets of higher tax payments and higher costs of goods and services — apparently led many families to take a second look at their plans to spend more for goods and services now and in the immediate future. Especially hit at first were those goods and services where spending can be deferred on consumer whim.

So far, all this has added up to moderation rather than any turndown in the economic cycle. Personal income's increase in May was $2.25 billion, but the average monthly gain in the first quarter of 1966 was $3.5 billion. This moderation in growth in May still puts the annual rate before taxes at a record $565 billion.

Neolithic Village

Archaeological excavations in southern Kurdistan have revealed the remains of an early Neolithic village dating to about 8500 B.C.

PLAN FLEA MARKET—A new attraction at this year's Stone Ridge Library fair June 25 will be a flea market offering a variety of items at the library grounds, Route 209, Stone Ridge, for the browser. The annual event will be held from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. and will include an international snack shop, plant and garden sale and art show. Discussing the flea market are (l-r) the Mmes. # CHANNEL CHATTER

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Network television's news departments, somewhat ironically, find it easier to cover daily a war on the other side of the world than some activities crowded into a few short blocks in downtown Manhattan.

There are more than 1,200 stocks traded on the New York Stock Exchange alone, and the really important news to viewers any day from that place is whether the particular stocks he

To Aid Training Of 40 Machinists

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John W. Gardner have jointly approved seven new institutional training projects under the Manpower, Development and Training Act, including a 22-week course for machine operator trainees in Poughkeepsie.

The area project, which has been allocated $70,561 is designed to accommodate 40 trainees who will pursue the course at Poughkeepsie High School.

owned went up or down. It is absolutely impossible to crowd this detailed information into even an hour-long news round-up.

But television can — and did Tuesday night — introduce viewers to a tense, frantic and that narrator Harry Reasoner called "The Capital of Capital."

The program on CBS called "Wall Street: Where the Money Is" opened with a closeup of $10,000 bills and a sheaf of securities and closed with a shot of a mutual fund executive ordering 10,000 shares of an unidentified stock.

We never got a tip on the market, but we did get a fast-paced tour of the financial community. There was the noisy bustle on the Exchange floor that looked like a disturbed hive of bees. There were men buying and selling by hand signals on the American Exchange and men shouting themselves hoarse on the Commodities Exchange.

"You might say that every time there is a transaction on the New York Stock Exchange, somebody is right — and somebody is wrong," philosophized a one broker said his judgment proved correct on an average of seven times out of 10. Another said he tried to be right 80 percent of the time — to shoot higher would make him timid. Another suggested that men who made real money in the market tended to run with stocks rising in value and cut their losses quickly.

One of the most interesting sections of the program was a brief documentary of the sale of a $50-million bond issue. It showed four financial syndicates bidding for the issue and it built up like a stage drama as the rivals attempted to cut under each other's offer.

Altogether it was a lively, thoroughly understandable presentation of an off-beat subject. It was produced with wit, intelligence and considerable imagination.

NBC and ABC expect to cover Thursday's news conference on the Surveyor 1 mission, now scheduled for 2 p. m. EDT. More pictures of the lunar surface will be shown and experts will explain what has been learned about the geography and composition of the moon.

CBS will have an hour special, "Two Weeks on the Moon" next Sunday — 6-7 p. m. EDT.

Recommended tonight: "The Undeclared War," NBC, 9-10 p. m. EDT, a report on the brushfires and other hostilities since the end of World War II.

Local Drum Corps To Give 'Apology' Show on Friday

The Empire Statesmen Drum and Bugle Corps, a combination of the Inter-Statesmen and the Criterion's will give their "apology" exhibition to people of Kingston and vicinity on Friday evening, at Britt's Department store at the Kingston Shopping Plaza.

Unable to appear in the Memorial Day parade in Kingston because of the reorganization and inability to secure new uniforms in time, the Empire Statesmen did not make an appearance in the parade. In order to give hometown Kingstonians a preview of future appearances, the new organization will give its initial exhibit at the Kingston Shopping Plaza at 7:45 p. m. Friday when Britt's will be holding a promotion for the annual Pageant of Champions which will be held at Dietz Stadium on Saturday, June 25 when drum corps from New York, Connecticut and Canada will meet in competition.

The Critterions, sponsored by Kingston Post No. 150, American Legion, through loss of members by call to military service, had lost a large number of its members. For that reason a combination with the Inter-Statesmen of Troy became necessary and the new Empire Statesmen corps was formed.

Pine Needle Scale Seen as Nuisance

SYRACUSE—One of the more common nuisances to pine tree owners is the pine needle scale. The scale is a native insect and one of the several species which attack our evergreens.

Home owners who are planning on doing some landscaping will be interested in this pest as it most often attacks young, newly-transplanted trees. Although pine needle scales seldom kill a tree, they open the way for other pests by weakening it.

A four-page leaflet, "Pine Needle Scale," is being offered free to the public by the State University College of Forestry. Dr. Howard C. Miller, extension entomologist at the college, details the symptoms, damage, control and the life cycle of the needle scale.

Dr. Miller describes the protective scale covering of the insect as being white, or nearly so, and no larger than 1/10th inch long. The scale is wider at the posterior end making it appear pear-shaped.

To obtain a copy of "Pine Needle Scale," send a postal card to the Extension Department, State University College of Forestry, Syracuse, N. Y. 13210.

Residence of the governor of Hawaii is known as the "Washington Palace."

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I have a wonderful idea for mothers whose children go away to summer camp.

Several months before camp time, I start saving plastic bags that our country style bread comes in and also the little plastic clips used to close them.

When packing time comes I place one pair of shorts, necessary underwear, socks and a blouse in each plastic bag. If the child is to be gone two weeks, I fix 14 packages—one for each day—plus one or two extra for emergencies, then slip on the plastic clip or a rubber band.

These packages stack neatly in suitcases and foot lockers. So every morning our "pride-and-joy" has her clothes all together in one plastic bag and everything matches.

The plastic covering also protects the clean clothes in case of a carelessly dropped swim suit.

Each evening the soiled clothes are put back into their own plastic bag.

Our camp director was so pleased with my system that this year we are going to put the idea in our camp folder. Hope you like it as well.

Dear Heloise:

A couple of my stainless steel pans need a face lifting!

I guess I had the fire too hot and one of them has a bluish tinge. How can I restore the natural finish of the pan?

Also, I let some beans cook dry in one of my stainless steel pans. I got the burned stuff out, but the inside of the bottom of the pan is covered with little "pictures" of the beans. Is there any way to remedy this?

Can any of you homemakers help Janie? If you have the solution to either or both of her questions, please do let us know. Drop me a line in care of this paper. Letters do not have to be signed to appear. We sure would appreciate it, Love,

Dear Heloise:

I do a lot of sewing, so I went to a rummage sale and purchased a used metal record holder and keep my patterns in it.

It only costs a quarter and keeps my patterns neat and easy to find.

Dear Heloise:

I slice the ends of bacon strips off to a desired length, and use the cut-off pieces as seasoning for various foods.

They give a fresh taste to a can of green beans, etc.

Those little cut-off pieces are also perfect to put in baked beans, or to dice up and fry for the hot dressing on a wilted salad.

Besides, the bacon fits in the skillet better when it isn't quite so long, eh?

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, June 16, the 167th day of 1966. There are 198 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1897, the Alaska Gold Rush began with news of a rich discovery of the ore at Bonanza Creek.

On this date In 1920, the Council of the League of Nations held its first public meeting at St. James Palace in London.

In 1939, Germany's Reichsbank was placed under the direct control of Adolf Hitler.

In 1940, the French Maginot Line was abandoned to the Nazis in World War II.

In 1945, the Belgian Cabinet resigned in protest over the possible return of King Leopold III.

Ten years ago — Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov arrived in Cairo for a week-long visit as the guest of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser. During his stay in Egypt, Shepilov was to make a bid for closer Soviet-Arab ties.

Five years ago — After a week-long official visit to the U.S., Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani prepared to leave, saying the U.S. should publicize its ideals as effectively as it does its products and services.

One year ago — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara announced an additional 21,000 U.S. soldiers were being sent to South Viet Nam to offset a continuing buildup of Communist forces there.

Former Turncoat Happy in New Job

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Morris Wills, who lived nearly 12 years in Red China after refusing repatriation at the close of the Korean War, is "happy" as a Harvard University librarian.

Wills, who is from Fort Ann, N.Y., near Lake George, accepted the position with the university's Center for East Asian Studies several weeks ago.

He said he was happy in his job, which is to aid in the expansion of the center's Chinese library. While he was in China, Wills studied at Peking University and learned several Chinese dialects.

With him in Cambridge are his wife, Kai-yen, and their young daughter, who returned to the United States with Wills last November.

Wills was one of 21 American servicemen who defected when the conflict ended in 1953.

Hospitals Expected to Be Jammed After First Months of Medicare

EDITOR'S NOTE — Even

before it goes into effect, the Medicare program seems to be pointing to some glaring shortages in the nation's medical facilities. The following second of four articles explaining the effect of the program on nursing homes, bracing for an onrush of elderly patients.

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer

However Medicare weathers its first critical months — the predicted increase of elderly patients July 1 — it will come upon a second deadline that could potentially jam up hospitals even more than the first.

That deadline is Jan. 1, 1967. On that day, nursing home provisions for persons 65 and older go into effect.

The problem is two-fold. First, patients must spend three days in a regular hospital before qualifying for the nursing home care for chronic ailments. Second, there is now and has been a shortage of capable nursing homes and beds.

An Associated Press survey of hospitals and doctors across the country indicates that the great worry is that elderly patients seeking nursing home care, and unable to find it, might back up into the general hospitals.

What Medicare seems to be doing, even before it goes into effect, is to point to some glaring shortages in the nation's medical facilities.

In any case, hospital administrators say, increasing the number of beds devoted to chronic, long-term cases could hamper general hospital ability to care for the acutely ill — from the acute appendix case to the emergency room patient.

Said the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in a report to President Johnson:

"There is a significant shortage of health personnel and certain health facilities that has been evident for some time. Medicare, of course, did not create these shortages, but by putting older people in the same position as others to compete for services, the program will have the effect of adding to the present demand for medical services."

Fear Backfire

Many hospital authorities fear that the nursing home provisions might backfire.

Clarence W. Bushnell, administrator of the hospital in Bridgeport, Conn., said, "I foresee a massive increase in patients in January 1967 to qualify for nursing home care."

In Michigan, administrators also expressed concern about the shortage of qualified nursing beds.

J. Henry Irwin, head of Reed City Hospital, said: "The thing we are concerned about is that many cases that were being treated at home of a semichronic nature will be admitted because they now feel it is their right and the obligation and duty of the doctor to admit them."

Much the same fear was voiced by Dr. Tenero D. Caruso, a Los Angeles surgeon. "I can say that all of the people in rest homes will want to go into hospitals to conform with these regulations, and this will be a terrific load that the hospitals will have to carry for a while," he said.

Not all the hospitals nor the doctors expressed this kind of fear.

Some said in fact that the change would be for the good. Municipal and county hospitals in the more populous, wealthier states like California and New York saw a shift in patient admittance, with many patients now seeking private hospitals rather than government-sponsored institutions because the Medicare bill would now pay their way in the smaller, often more expensive facilities.

A Good Impact

In some areas nursing home provisions were not expected to have an adverse impact, but actually a good one.

John Brewer, executive director of the Hospital Council of Southern California, said many county hospitals will now be freed of chronic disease loads because of the paid nursing home care.

How much can be done between now and the New Year's Day deadline to increase the number of nursing home beds is a question without an answer at

Charge Drink Firm With Water Pollution

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The J. Hungerford Smith Co. of Victor, maker of fruit-flavored syrups for soft drinks and ice cream, denies charges of polluting Great Brook in Ontario County.

Company spokesmen disputed State Health Department claims Wednesday that the company overloads the village sewage disposal plant, allowing untreated wastes to escape into the brook.

Earl W. Murray, hearing officer, reserved decision and adjourned the case to June 29. In other pollution hearings before the state agency:

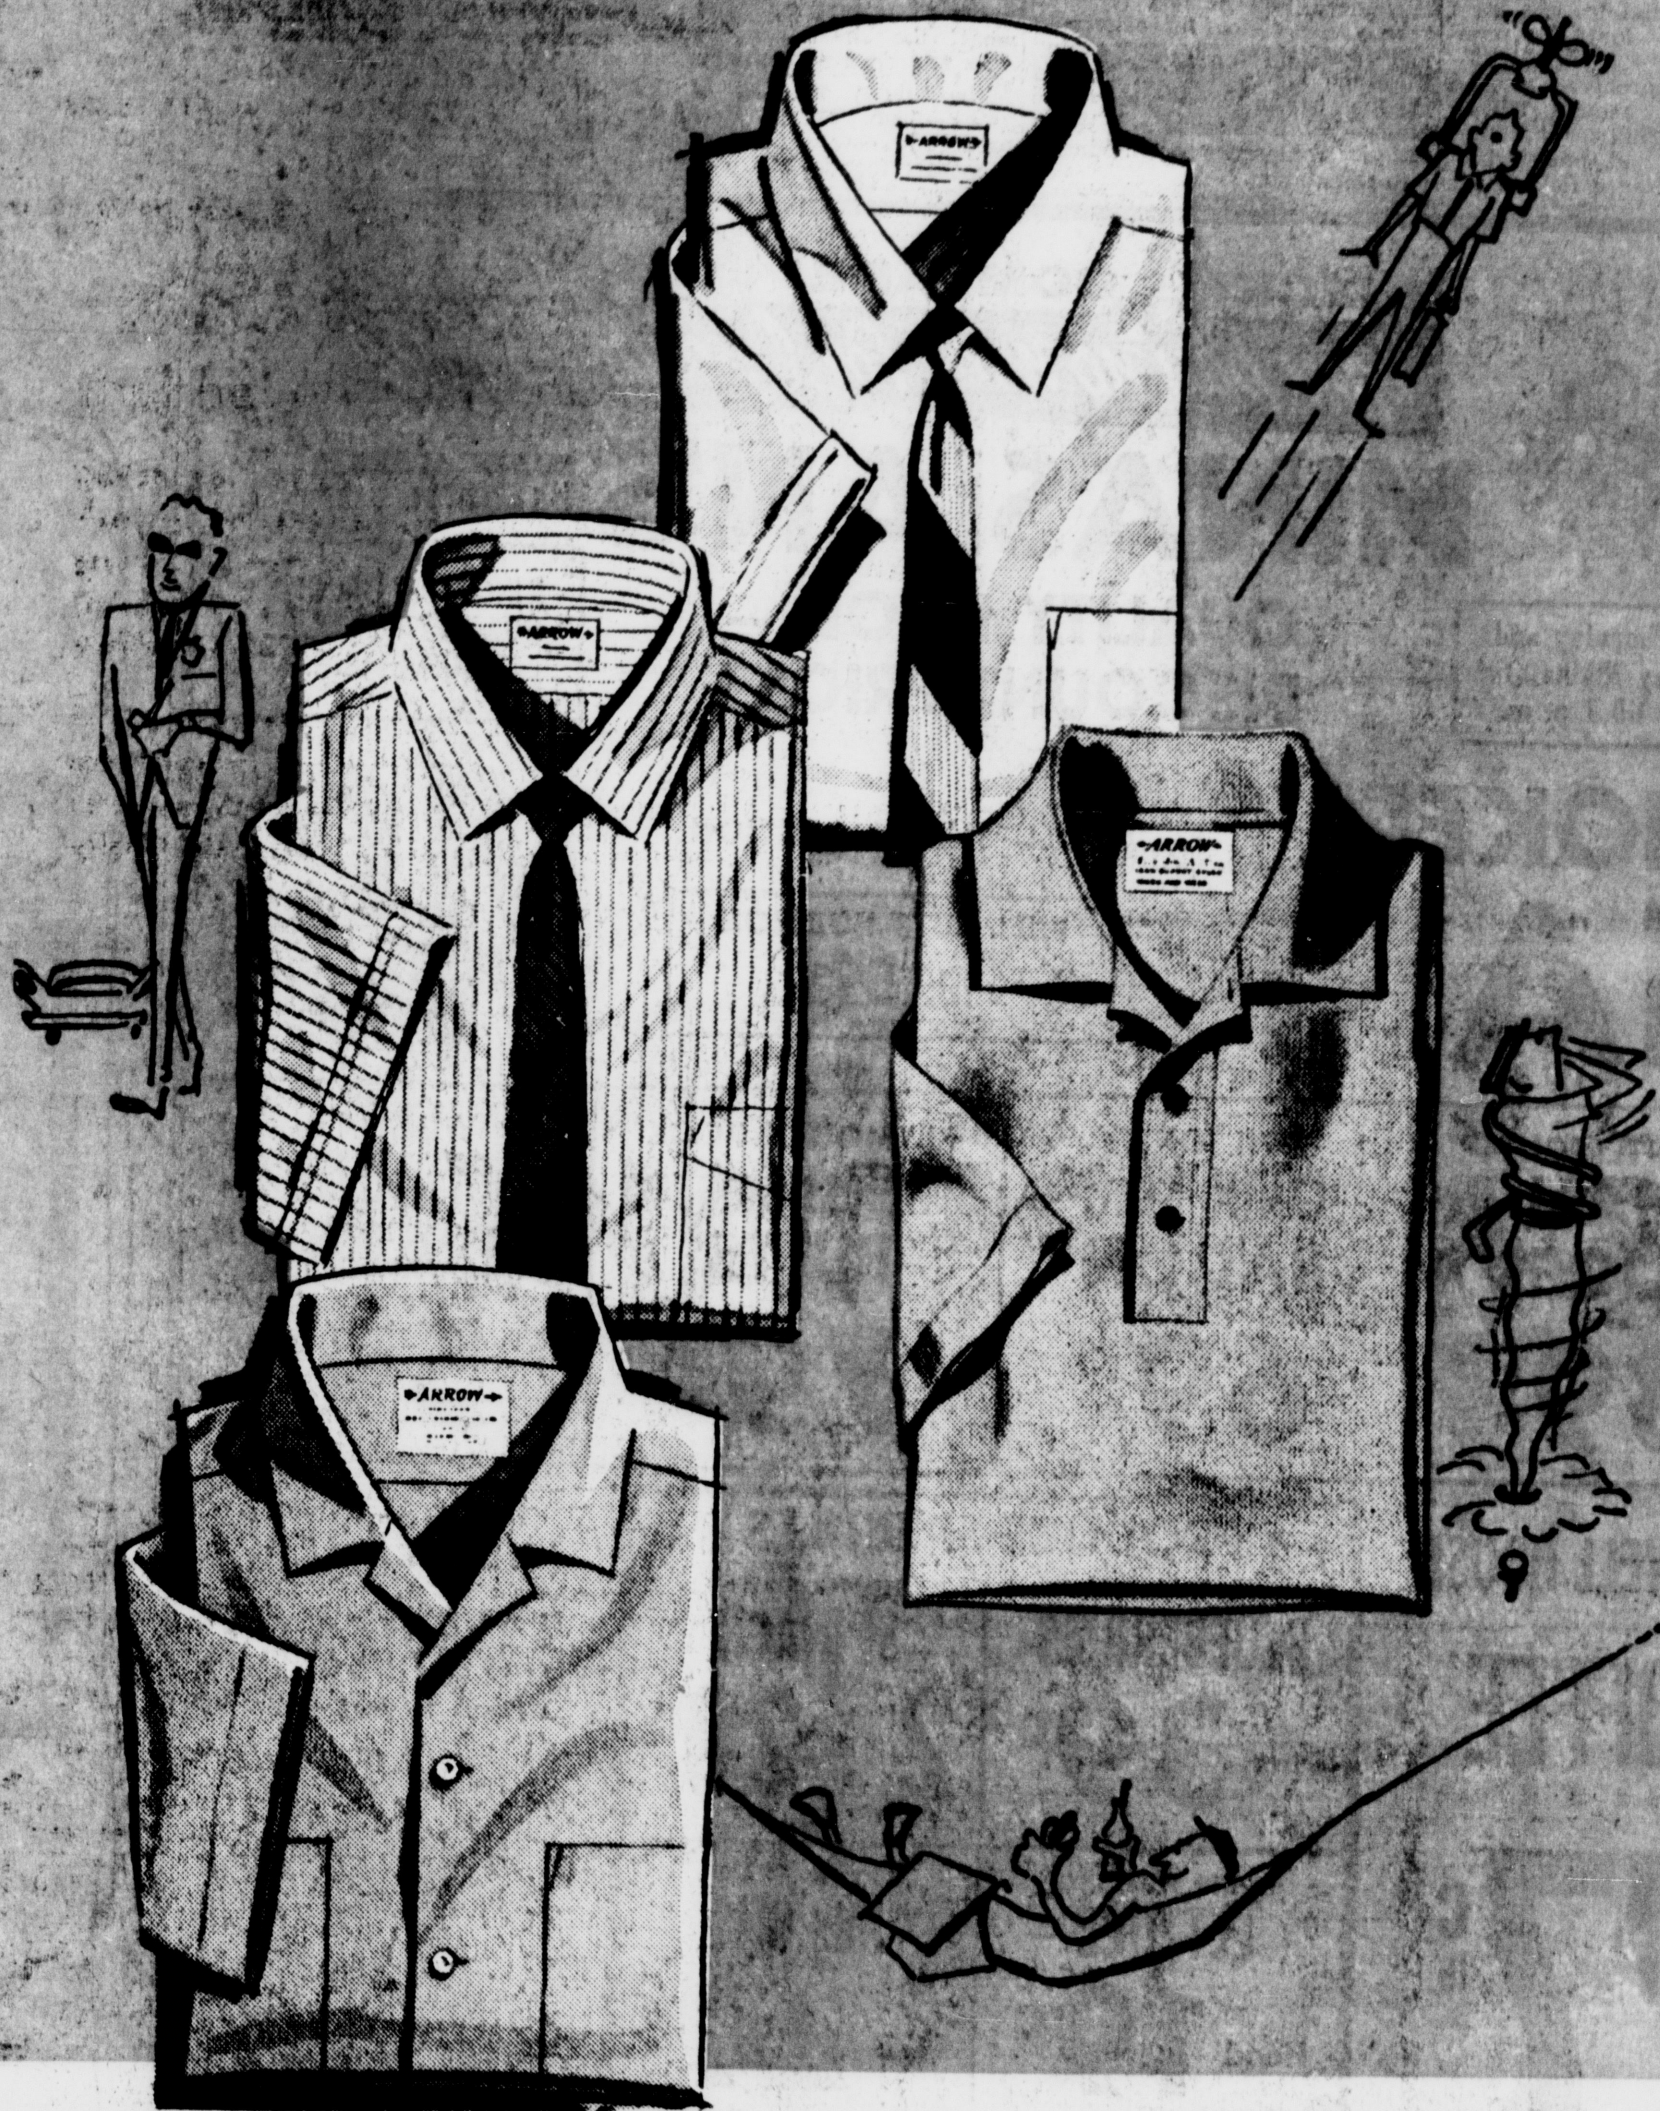

—The Sonoco Products Co. of Amsterdam, charged with polluting Chuctanunda Creek with industrial sewage, agreed to contract with the city for waste disposal. The company makes paper products.

—The Patrician Paper Co. of South Glens Falls, charged with polluting the upper Hudson River with untreated waste, agreed to contract with a local municipal agency for waste disposal or to construct its own plant.

Whites, Negroes Join Forces In Walk Through Mississippi

By BILL CRIDER
HOLCOMB, Miss. (AP) — The sight of whites marching with Negroes provoked barely hidden resentment among the white populace as the Mississippi march moved into the greening delta land today.

"They can't be white, they must be yellow," snapped a hefty matron, rocking in a chair in front of a country store closed because the marchers were coming by. There was only a sprinkling of whites in the column.

All stores and service stations in this community of 250 were shuttered as the procession passed through singing freedom songs. They are en route to Jackson, the state capital, to finish the march James H. Meredith started before he was wounded June 5.

"I think they are a bunch of nuts, they're not proving anything," said Roy Alldred, 13, a white boy from Wilmington, Ill., who is visiting his grandfather in Holcomb.

"Son, you don't know how right you are," a man said. They were among 50 whites on one side of the street. A similar cluster of Negroes stood on the other side, watching silently.

Loud, contemptuous, insulting remarks from spectators about the marchers, the FBI, the federal government and newsmen are routine.

The highway patrol, however, seeks out potential trouble spots and moves to forestall problems.

As the marchers moved southward, the change toward repressed hostility becomes marked. More and more ghost shacks, where Negro field hands once lived, are along the countryside in an agricultural area that has become largely mechanized. Cotton, grown on huge fields, yielded readily to machines.

Many Negroes in the delta are jobless, living on free government foods. Many say they are homeless. Most have not registered to vote — and these are the ones the marchers hope to inspire. Their drive in Grenada the last two days resulted in hundreds being registered — many by temporary Negro clerks.

There has been a change, too, among the marchers who now are 108 miles along their 225-mile route.

"Gee, there has almost been a complete turnover since it started," said Mike Rosentbaum, 18, Florence, Ala., a white youth who dropped out last Thursday and rejoined Wednesday.

"Hardly anybody is around who was here when it started." The march contingent undergoes continual change, as some return to jobs and new people join. It is expected to end June 26.

Pledge Support For Medicare

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pledges of support from state and national medical and hospital groups eased today the Johnson administration's concern over the start of the medicare program July 1.

John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare, announced that he had received "many expressions of eagerness and willingness to cooperate" from the more than 200 leaders of the health professions who attended Wednesday's White House "conference on medicare implementation."

The conferees discussed half a dozen major problems to be faced, Gardner said, including shortages of nurses and other medical manpower, racial discrimination in some Southern hospitals, concern over the method of reimbursing hospitals for their increased load of elderly patients, and some signs of public misunderstanding of what the insurance program does and does not provide.

The all-day meeting of delegates from every state also produced new and promising proposals for dealing with these potential difficulties, Gardner reported. He said the government has pledged to follow up the suggestions and do "everything we can to sustain and nourish our great voluntary hospital system."

Adventists Meet

DETROIT (AP) — Cobo Hall becomes the center today for the 50th quadrennial world conference of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

The conference will run through June 26 with an estimated 10,000 expected to attend, including 1,400 representing 189 foreign countries.

UNDER THE LIMIT—Too small to require a license for driving, this miniature vehicle called a "Poussy-Car" made its debut at an international trade show in Paris. Powered by a motor-bike engine, the car can hit an average speed of 31 m.p.h.

Dear Abby . . .

Husband Resents a 'Prying' Wife

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Over a year ago I married a man of means. We are both in our early fifties, and it is the second marriage for each. I gave up a good job, alimony from my previous marriage, and a lovely home of my own to marry him. A year passed and he never discussed his business matters with me. Nor did he mention any provisions he might have made for me in case of his death.

When I brought this up he became highly indignant and said such questions were prying and improper, and I had aroused his suspicions of my motives in marrying him.

Then he said before he took any action to provide me with the security I felt I was entitled to, I would have to "prove myself in the marriage." This has become a grave issue between us. What is your opinion?

INSECURE
DEAR INSECURE: This matter should have been discussed and resolved before you married him. He knows that it is his responsibility to provide for you in case of his death, but he probably resented your bringing it up. (A man of means is usually extremely sensitive about his money the second time around.) Steer clear of the subject for awhile. It will come up again. But if you really feel financially insecure, consult a lawyer and find out where you stand.

DEAR ABBY: Would you say it was proper to "neck" (or whatever you want to call it) with your ex-husband? And how about going beyond that point?

JUST ASKING

DEAR JUST: It is just as proper to "neck" (if that's what you mean, that's what I'll call it) with an ex-husband as it is to neck with any other single man. Past relationships confer no special privileges, however.

DEAR ABBY: Everytime I read or hear a professional person condemning girls and women who wear curlers in their hair in public, I could scream. I think it's just fine that some women have the time and money to have their hair done in beauty parlors, but there are lots of us who don't.

I, for one, am busy with housework and children during the day, and if I want my hair to look nice in the evening I have to put it up every day. That means I must chauffeur the children to and from school, do my shopping, walk the dog, and do all my outside errands with curlers in my hair. Frankly, Abby, I don't see that it is such a big crime. Thanks for listening . . . I feel better already.

MRS. J. B.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ANNABELLE: I cannot agree that women lie more than men. They just lie about different things. A woman will lie about her age. A man about his income.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hoping to Find Croten Man Alive

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Hopes rose today for the prospect of finding alive a missing U.S. Peace Corps volunteer, who may be ill somewhere in Brazil's desolate northeast states.

Stephen Rutledge, 25, of Croton-on-Hudson, N.Y., has been missing from his post in Maravilha, Alagoas State, since Tuesday, June 7. Townspeople reported Rutledge was ill and left to seek medical help.

Warren Fuller, Peace Corps director for Brazil, said Wednesday that a team of volunteer searchers had found a bus driver who had seen Rutledge the day he disappeared.

"My hope is that, if he's ill, he is being taken care of by a family which is out of communications with the area," said Rutledge's father, Edward, who arrived Wednesday.

Brazilian and American authorities have been searching for the young man since last Thursday, when he was first reported missing.

Potsdam Man Killed In Viet Nam Fighting

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department reports that Army Pfc. Jessie Shannon of Potsdam, N.Y., has been killed in action in South Viet Nam.

He was the husband of Mrs. Sharon M. Shannon of Potsdam. Shannon's death was announced Wednesday.

The Shannon address is 7 Chestnut St.

West Point on DDD

Direct Distance Dialing (DDD) twirls into action at the U.S. Military Academy on June 19. This will be the first military installation in the area to utilize the New York Telephone Company's DDD. The new dialing system at West Point will alleviate overcrowding of the old switchboard system now in effect, which required operator assistance in handling all but local calls. It is estimated that Direct Dialing will bring savings amounting to more than $20,000 in the first year, and $32,000 each year thereafter to the Military Academy, and will provide modern, first class service.

Swedish Arts Group Tonight, Tickets at Door

Tickets will be available tonight at the Kate Walton Field House for the unique entertainment to be presented by the Swedish Performing Arts Group. The program is under the sponsorship of Kingston Rotary Club.

Sweden's acclaimed gymnasts, the Sofia Flickorna and the Danderyd Oratorio Choir will present the program, which will start at 8 o'clock.

The Sofia girls have given over a thousand performances to which Ambassadors and other representatives from many countries throughout the world have been present.

The Danderyd Choir also has traveled extensively. It is the only Scandinavian Oratorio Choir to have performed in the Holy Land.

The troupe, which is touring the United States at the invitation of the American government, performed in Washington on Wednesday.

Honor Boy Scouts Ready Tri-Mount

Over 40 members of Half-Moon Lodge No. 28, Order of the Arrow, the Boy Scout honor camping society, gathered at Camp Tri-Mount in East Jewett last weekend for their annual spring work weekend. In addition to the business meeting, election of officers and the induction of seven new members Saturday night, a variety of work projects were accomplished which put the camp well on its way toward being ready for opening day July 3.

In charge of the over-all organization and direction of work parties were John Carlson, district commissioner of the Mohican Trail District, and Edward Petery, district commissioner for Minnewaska Trail District. Among the many items of work completed over the weekend, several major projects were outstanding. All tents were erected in the troop sites and bunks and mattresses installed for summer use. Porcupine damage to doors and floors of latrines in several sites were repaired. The dining hall floor was completely scrubbed and given a new finish. All rowboats were hauled out of waterfront storage for painting before the season begins. The old camp lumber depot was completely cleaned out and its contents transferred to the new storage area beyond the Moseman house.

Serving as crew chiefs with the work parties were: John Helmer, Scoutmaster of Troop 17, Tillsong; Norman Wilson and Arnold Van Laer, Scoutmaster and Assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 16, Stone Ridge; Kenneth Magyar, assistant district commissioner of the Mohican Trail District; and Nicholas Tiberio, assistant Scoutmaster of Troop

At the business meeting, presided over by Lodge Chief Michael Greenwald of Kingston, the following Lodge Officers for 1966-67 were elected: chief, Dean Bryden of Troop 39, Saugerties; vice-chief, Howard Haines of Troop 29, Ellenville; secretary, Douglas Wager of Troop 45, Coxsack; and treasurer, Ray Wells of Troop 9, Kingston. These newly-elected officers will take office in September. It was also decided by the membership that the Lodge's annual banquet shall remain in its traditional time of year, the Christmas vacation period. This year's banquet will be held Tuesday, December 27, and will be hosted by the Kingston area Chapter, Norman Wilson, advisor.

To Serve Tea Today At Aldrich Offices

Meet Sam Aldrich is the password at the Republican Congressional candidate's Wall and John headquarters here today.

Alexander Aldrich, whose "Whistle Stop" campaign concentrates on Ulster County today will be in and out of his Kingston campaign headquarters all afternoon and plans to serve ice tea to all visitors between three and four in the afternoon.

"If you'd like to meet Sam join us for iced tea between three and four," said Mrs. Augustus Parker, Ulster County Aldrich Campaign Headquarters chairwoman, in an invitation to the public. "Sam also will be at the Wall and John store front between seven and eight in the evening to meet any Ulster County people who wish to talk with him," Mrs. Parker added.

Mayor Garraghan Marks Burglary Prevention Week

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan today proclaimed June 19 to 25 as Burglary Prevention Week and Police Chief Robert F. Murphy in support of its purpose lists precautions to prevent theft.

"There are many steps the average home-owner or apartment-dweller can take to reduce the possibility of loss from burglary," the chief said.

Ideal for Culprits
Summer, he noted, is considered the ideal time for action by burglars, sneak thieves and second-story men, and "some especially careless people even go off for long vacations and forget to do a few simple things that would protect their homes while they are away."

Four main steps, he said are: give the house a "lived-in" look, "button up" the house, reduce risk and tell the right people.

When people leave home, he advised, they should arrange to have lawns mowed, handbills and circulars should be picked up, sidewalks swept, mail forwarded or held at the post office and milk, newspaper and other deliveries should be cancelled.

Some light should be left in a house, and an automatic timer should be used. A "good idea," he said, "is to have a timer-controlled light downstairs or in the living room, and another with a later turnoff time upstairs or in bedrooms." Use of outside timer-controlled lights also serve as protection.

Houses should be thoroughly locked, windows well closed with screens locked from inside, garages closed, and the police department should be notified by those leaving homes for long periods. He also advised use of safe deposit boxes for storing valuables while away.

PLANNING COMMITTEE—The committee members of the "Poverty Is People II" workshop met at the College of Mount Saint Vincent, Riverdale, New York City, recently to organize the workshop which will be held at St. Cabrini Home, West Park, N. Y., from July 5 to 9. Sponsored by the department of child care, Catholic Charities, New York City; Mercy College, Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.; and the College of Mount Saint Vincent, it will provide teachers with an opportunity to develop self-awareness in carrying out

St. Cabrini Home Will House Residence Workshop in July

A four-day in-residence workshop for teachers will be held at St. Cabrini Home, West Park, N. Y., from July 5 to 9. It is sponsored by the department of New York City; Mercy College, Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.; and the College of Mount Saint Vincent, Riverdale, New York City. The purpose of this workshop entitled "Poverty Is People II" is to provide teachers with an opportunity to develop greater self-awareness in carrying out their educational apostolate, and an additional knowledge about people, particularly the children and families in the parish or institutional school.

Participants will hear and confer with educators, psychologists, sociologists, and guidance personnel. They will visit and observe children in different settings, and will have an opportunity to learn about behavior. Films and field trips will provide further thought for discussion.

Sisterhood Cancels Social Activities

The Congregation and Sisterhood of Agudas Achim have announced the following scheduled activities have been canceled because of the death of Sisterhood member Mrs. Rachel Levine: congregation board meeting; annual barbecue which was scheduled for Saturday; and all young peoples meetings.

Mrs. Levine had been a member of the congregation for 50 years and an active worker.

Will Tour Europe With Ithaca Choir; Plans Music Career

ROBERT J. MOORE

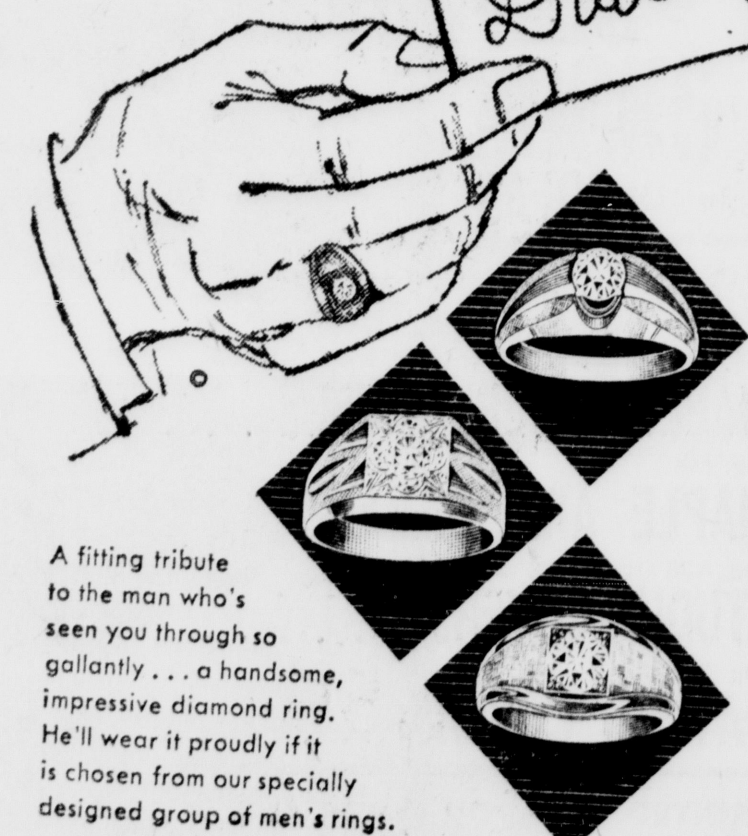

Leaving July 6 to tour Europe with the Ithaca College Concert Choir is Robert J. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Moore of 7 Ten Broeck Avenue. The tour will begin in London and proceed to Edinburgh, Amsterdam, Cologne, Bonn, Frankfurt, Hamburg, Munich, Salzburg, Paris and Venice. Purpose of the trip is to promote cultural understanding among nations and bring international fame to Ithaca College.

Earlier this year Moore was one of four pianists featured in the Ithaca College presentation of Stravinsky's Les Noces, conducted by Robert Craft, a native Kingstonian. The choir later recorded the work under the direction of Stravinsky himself at Columbia Studios in New York City.

Moore will be a senior at Ithaca College School of Music and plans a career in music education.

"HELLO" STILL FIRST CHOICE FOR ANSWERING HOME PHONE

In yesterday's quiz on telephone manners, many of the statements were not actually wrong, but in each case there was one that was preferable to the others. Here are the best choices, and the reasons for choosing them.

1. No matter who answers the telephone in your home, the friendliest and simplest response is "Hello." It is an accepted word of greeting whenever it's used, and it's less pretentious than "Mrs. Smith's residence." "Yes" is too abrupt even when followed by "Who is calling?"

"Hello" opens the conversation naturally, and allows the caller to go on to ask for the person he wishes to speak to, or to greet the who answers if he recognizes the voice.

2. When making a long-distance call, you will save precious seconds if you have a list of the things you wish to say at hand. One is often so overcome with excitement, especially if making a long-awaited call to someone very far away, that every coherent thought goes out of his head.

Excitement or not, it's never helpful to shout, in fact, since telephones are adjusted to a normal voice, a loud noise simply distorts the sound.

It's not necessary to call person-to-person if you've arranged the hour of your call with the receiver, or if you're sure that he'll be in. This service is very useful, however, if you are not reasonably certain of reaching him, and you do not wish to speak to anyone else at the number.

3. By far the most satisfactory way to help a person who has reached your office number by mistake is to tell him he has the wrong number and what your number is. In this way he will know whether he should look up the number he wants again or simply dial more carefully. To say "wrong number" and hang up doesn't help him at all—you're very apt to get the same call a minute later. To ask what number he wants doesn't help—you'll just have to repeat that your number is not the one he wishes.

4. When telephoning a business office the caller must identify himself immediately—until he does, a secretary has every right to refuse to connect him with her employer. The proper way to identify yourself to a switchboard operator or secretary is "Mr. Fox of the ABC Company." However, if you know the personnel well enough, especially in a small office, or if you are speaking to another man, you would say "Sam Fox" rather than "Mr. Fox."

The third choice is the truest statement. One of the worst offenses commonly made is to place a call, and when it is not immediately answered, to attend to something else. The one called has the right of way, and it is inexcusable to force him to wait when you initiate the call.

The correct wording and addressing of wedding invitations and announcements are described in the booklet, "Wedding Invitations and Announcements." If you would like a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Freeman. (A Bell-McClure Syndicate Feature)

ENGLISH TEACHER IS FETED—Miss Martha Barnett (third from left), retiring as head of the English Department of Kingston High School, was feted by 40 members of the department at a banquet Monday night at the Skytop Restaurant. She was presented a book-gift certificate and a season theatre ticket, recognizing both her retirement from teaching and her continuing interest in language arts. Miss Barnett, a graduate of Mount Holyoke, joined the Kingston Schools in 1940 and was appointed head of the English Department in 1945. With the expansion of the school system, she extended her duties to supervision of the Myron J. Michael and J. Watson Bailey schools, as well as the high school. She served on several occasions on the Preparation Board of Regents Examinations in English, and has been recognized throughout the State as an authority on evaluation in the field of English. In 1958 when the Kingston Schools were evaluated by the State Department of Education the Chief of the English Bureau commented, "This is the best organized English Department in the State." Miss Barnett established the Advanced Placement Program at Kingston High School as one of the first such programs in the State, and has taught this honors program for seniors since that time. Among those who attended the banquet were teachers from the three schools under her supervision, as well as the Principals of Kingston High School and J. Watson Bailey School. The affair was initiated and arranged by the teachers as a token of their esteem for Miss Barnett. With Miss Barnett at the dinner are, from the left, Robert Tucker, who will teach Advanced Placement English next year; Mrs. Ida Sherman, long-time member of the English department; Victor Mahoney, succeeding Miss Barnett as department chairman; and Dan Allen, KHS principal. seniors and their parents during Commencement weekend. A major in Radio and Television, Miss deGroff has completed off-campus work experience in her major field during the regular College internship period. While a student at Endicott, she received a gold key charm for outstanding service as club officer for the Broadcast Club.

OES Grand Matron Pays Official Visit to Chapter

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Davis of Prattsburgh, Grand Matron of the Order of the Eastern Star, State of New York, spoke recently at a meeting of the Greene-Ulster District held in St. James Methodist Church, Kingston.

In her address the Grand Matron described the close cooperation which is being effected between the 150,000 Eastern Stars of the State and the 300,000 New York Masons. The Stars have always contributed annually to the Masonic Brotherhood Fund, but Mrs. Davis suggested new ways to help, such as support of the Masonic Blood Banks, and closer ties with the Utica Masonic Home where a large number of Stars are guests.

Mrs. Davis urged her members to continue faithfully their devoted care of the guests at the Eastern Star Home in Oriskany and their services to sick and troubled Sisters in their own homes. She suggested that the Constellation of Junior Stars prepare to become Eastern Stars by working in Hospitals as Aides and by increasing their fund raising for local causes. As a teacher of American History, the Grand Matron urged the Junior Stars to take field trips to the many historical sites in New York State and report on their impressions.

The Eastern Stars, in war and peace, have been particularly aware of the needs of Service Men and Veterans; and have established auxiliaries in every Veterans Hospital in the State. Mrs. Davis urged the members to put fresh effort into this work, which is so appreciated by the service men. She also outlined plans already under way for rendering assistance to the 235,000 service men in Vietnam. Through military Chaplains and the 800 Masons now serving in Southeast Asia, gifts of radios, organs and TV sets will be distributed to our sorely pressed forces as was done in World War 2, when more than 500 or-

The Grand Matron stressed the achievement of mature thinking in these serious days, and urged members to inform themselves of the great issues of these changing times.

Members of Brownie Troop 26 and Junior Girl Scout Troop 24, St. Peter's, participated in a Fly-Up ceremony concluding regular weekly activities for the school year, recently.

The Junior Girl Scouts who were presented with the following badges by their leader, Mrs. John Dittus Jr., were: Barbara Aumand, storyteller and magic carpet; Jill Becker, home, health and safety; Sandra Becker, toy-maker; Judith Booth, cook, collector and housekeeper; Jean Carroll, pen pal, gypsy, cook, my community and magic carpet; Rosemary Dittus, magic carpet; Bernadette Harder, pet and toy-maker; Patricia Koskie, waterfun, and cook; Roberta McDonough, cook and home, health and safety; Deborah Murray, waterfun and home, health and safety; Patricia Nagy, collector and personal health; Francine Nucaro, waterfun, and home, health and safety; Mary Ann Prendergast, home, health and safety collector; Gail Sabatino, housekeeper; Dorine Shuman, collector, toy-maker and health aid; and Cynthia Wolff, home, health and safety.

Jill Becker, Patricia Nagy, Francine Nucaro and Dorine Shuman received the Sign of the Star. Jill Becker, Jean Carroll, Rosemary Dittus, Kathleen McNelis and Patricia Nagy received their five year pins.

The entire troop, the girls mentioned above and Susan Benincasa, Patricia Kearney, Kathleen Langton, Melinda Nagy, Mary Ann Seism and Deborah Smith, earned the troop drama badge.

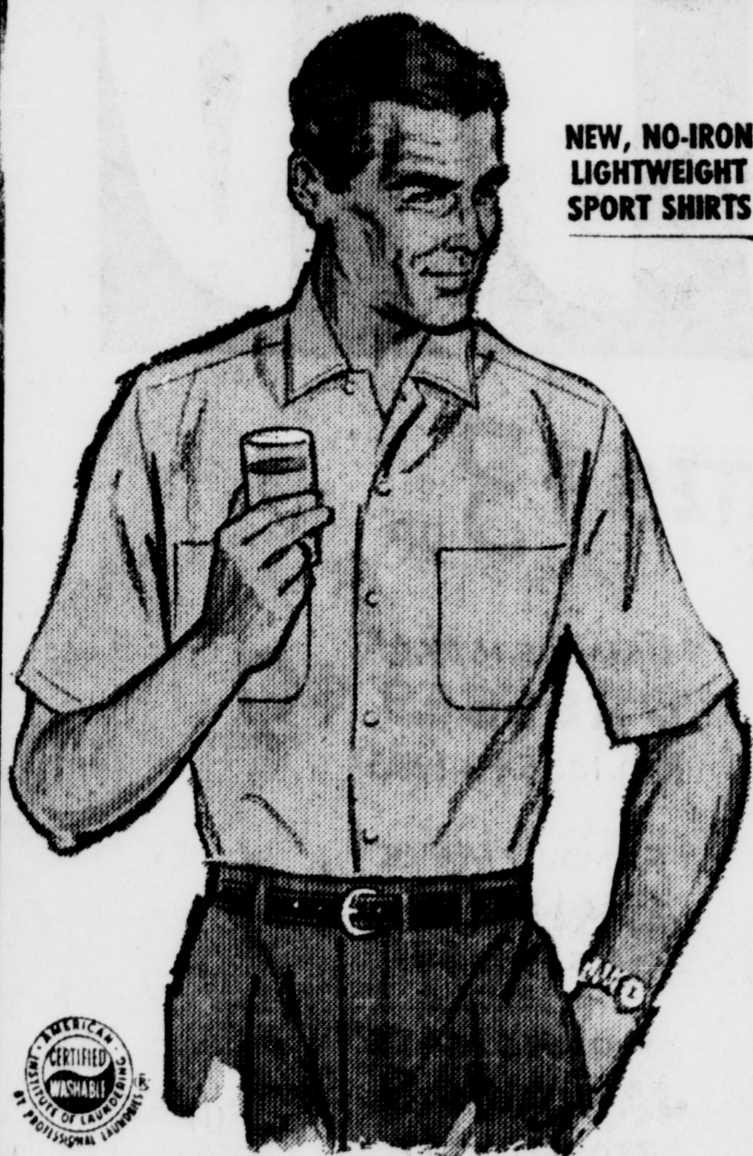

In the evening the Junior Girl Scouts of Troop 24, accompanied by Mrs. Dittus and Mrs. James Nucaro, assistant leader, traveled by bus to New York City to attend the Ice Capades at Madison Square Garden.

ANNUAL SPRING LUNCHEON—Mrs. Alexander (Sam) Aldrich, left, wife of the candidate for the Republican nomination for Congressman from the 28th District pins a corsage on Mrs. Augustus Parker, co-chairman of the Alexander Aldrich Headquarters in Kingston. The informal ceremony took place at the annual spring luncheon of the Ulster County Women's Republican Club held Saturday at the Granit Hotel, Accord. Guest speakers were Dutchess County attorney Jay P. Rolison, Republican candidate for Senator from the newly formed 38th Senatorial District. Also present were Sargent's attorney Louis Francello, and Senator R. Watson Pomroy (R) of Dutchess County. A fashion show was conducted by the Mmes. Arthur Barnes, Raymond LeFevre, LeRoy Crosswell, Joseph Morris, Bernhardt Kramer, Michael Spada, Charles Penney, Albert Kurdt, M. V. Reedy, Emma Miley and Van Darrow, with Mrs. Warren Mann as commentator. Luncheon chairman was Mrs. Kramer, assisted by the Mmes. Frank Campochiaro, Monroe Longendyke, M. Morgan, Warren Mann, Van Darrow and Miss Cordelia Feltman. Seated at the head table with Mrs. Crosswell, club president were Mrs. Kenneth L. Wilson, wife of the Assemblyman from Ulster County and Mrs. LeFevre, vice chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee.

THE MATURE PARENT

Rear Up on Hind Legs

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence,
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Our 15-year-old girl rebuffs me if I even ask her if she's had a good time on a date. I've told her how this hurts me but all she says is, her dates are her business. Mrs. Lawrence, when I was her age I used to go into my parents' bedroom after I'd been to a party or out with a new boy friend and tell them how I liked him, if he was going to call me again, if anyone had said anything about my dress. But this generation...

ANSWER: Your daughter is scared to discuss her dates with you lest you use the information to try to recover childhood control of her.

Is that why you want information? Or do you want it because you are interested in her happiness? If you are more interested in her happiness than you are in reclaiming control over her, say so. Blow up when you say so. You are entitled to indignation. She has misjudged you.

"The adolescent puts a taboo on closeness to parents because he associates tenderness and warmth with humiliating infantilism, with dependence on them," is a recent statement made by psychiatrist Dr. Murray Bilmes.

He's right. Your 15-year-old daughter is scared of closeness to you because she thinks you'll exploit it to turn her into a baby again. So what? What has her terror of renewed control of her got to do with you? It's her terror—not yours. You and I don't have to put a taboo on closeness to a child because he puts one on closeness to us. We are not children. We are loving parents who are passionately interested in his happiness.

So when a 15-year-old daughter treats us like an FBI agent seeking information on her social activities in order to stick her with a charge of subversion, we are entitled to get very mad. We are entitled to yell:

"Idiot, I'm asking you questions because I love you! I shortened the hem on that dress you wore to his party! I pressed it! I gave thought and work to make you feel happy in it! And you you won't even tell me if you were! O.K., keep it to yourself! Be a pig about it if that is what you have to be!"

Talk about domination! What do you think you are when you let this child's fear of closeness to you scare you away from it, too? Dominated, controlled, swallowed up alive is what you are, my friend. It's sure fascinating to know that the young regard us as a bunch of sneaky tyrants. But if we're not sneaky tyrants, what's their distorted judgment got to do with us? Nothing. Not a thing.

Local Neighborhood Holds Annual Fete; Awards Are Given

Highlight of the third annual June luncheon of the Kingston Girl Scout Adults was the presentation of the Leader of the Year Award to Mrs. Frank Mongillo of Lake Katrine.

This award is presented annually to the leader, who, in the opinion of the Neighborhood Service Team, best portrays those qualities desirable in a Girl Scout leader. Mrs. Mongillo has worked for three years with Brownie Troop 12, one year as assistant, and as leader the past two years. During that time she has on many occasions showed not only her ability as a leader, but also her willingness to share her idea and experiences with other leaders in the interest of more and better programs for scouts of all ages.

Mrs. John Dittus, Leader of the Year for 1965 made the presentation and surrendered the Girl Scout Statuette, symbolic of the award, which will remain in Mrs. Mongillo's possession until next year when she will pass it on to her successor.

Mrs. John Murdoch, Neighborhood Chairman, presented Certificates of Appreciation to retiring Service Team Members Mrs. Bruce Stout and Mrs. Olav Sande. Other members of the service team received Girl Scout Friendship Pins in recognition of their work in scouting, including Mrs. Kenneth Schupp, Mrs. Robert Kmiecik and Mrs. Horace Brown.

On behalf of all the leaders, Mrs. Mongillo presented Mrs. John Murdoch with a corsage of yellow roses in appreciation for the many hours of dedicated service she has given to Girl Scouting in the Kingston Neighborhood.

The luncheon was held Thursday, June 9, at the Governor Clinton Hotel and will be the last regular meeting of the association until September. A special award was given to Mrs. Robert Pomeroy for her work as chairman of the 1966 Girl Scout Exposition. Mrs. Pomeroy and Mrs. Mongillo will be members of the Neighborhood Service team starting in September.

The Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts is an active participating member of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Unit leaders include Karen Halloran, an Ulster County Scout, and Irma Arndt of Union, N. J., both of whom attended the Roundup at Idaho, Sandal Morris, a Sociology Major from Howard University, Dooreen Lyke, New Paltz College, Alice Lenihan, College of St. Elizabeth.

Local Scout Assists

A registered nurse will be on hand, and a doctor on call to take care of the health and safety of all campers.

Registrations for camp are still open. There are still a few vacancies for girls in each session. Camp periods are July 16-17; July 17-30; July 31-Aug. 13.

Camp Wendy which accommodates 300 girls for resident camp, and over 1100 girls for troop camping is maintained and developed by proceeds from the annual cookie sale.

The Ulster County Council which operates the camp is a member agency of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Bailey Cadettes Get Awards at Ceremony

Cadette Girl Scout Troop 60 of the J. W. Bailey School held awards night at the school on Monday.

The troop as a whole has placed great emphasis on public relations and community service during the past year and also completed a course in typing and one in sewing in which many of the cadettes participated.

Highest award went to Cadette Scout Susan Richter, who achieved first class rank, upon completion of the fourth challenge, the Challenge of the Girl Scout Promise.

To earn first class rank, which is the highest award in the Cadette Proficiency badge in each of the six program fields and meet each of the four challenges: Social Dependability, Emergency Preparedness, Active Citizenship and the Girl Scout Promise.

Senior Leader Mrs. Francis Fagan then officially welcomed Scout Richter into Senior Troop 131 by presenting the senior cap and handbook. Year pins and proficiency badges were also awarded to the other members of the troop by their leader, Mrs. John Schlegel.

Six former Junior Scouts were welcomed as new Cadettes and received their Troop Crests. They included Patty Ljutic, Patty Sande, Cathy Carley, Robin Ellsworth, Debbie Wiands and Eleanor Glynn.

The troop expressed their appreciation to the Troop Committee by presenting Girl Scout Friendship Pins to Mrs. John Goerke, Mrs. William Hudson, Mrs. Hubert Richter, Mrs. Robert Kmiecik and Mrs. Laurence Siewers. Judge Hubert Richter received a special gift of appreciation for his assistance to the troop in the citizenship field of activities.

The scouts participated in a pie eating contest which ended in a draw. Refreshments were served to all of the parents present.

UCCC Book Dedicated To School's Backer, Native of Kingston

Graduates of Ulster County Community College have dedicated their yearbook, "The Forum," to Macdonald DeWitt—a prime mover in originating the proposal for a community college in Ulster County.

DeWitt, a prominent New York Attorney, is Trustee Emeritus of the college and gave a $150,000 gift to help start the college.

The yearbook dedication reads as follows:

"It is a rare man who can be singled out as standing above others for his extraordinary contributions to an educational institution. Such a man is Macdonald DeWitt.

"Not only was Mr. DeWitt a prime mover in originating the proposal for a community college in Ulster County, but he was also an outstanding contributor to the ultimate establishment of the College and an active member of the Board of Trustees.

"Mr. DeWitt was made an honorary member of the faculty of the College for his 'lifelong interest in education,' a trustee emeritus for his 'unbounded devotion' and 'service' to the Ulster County Community College Board of Trustees.

"Thus, it is to you, Mr. Macdonald DeWitt, that we, the Class of 1966, respectfully dedicate this Forum in gratitude and appreciation for your initiative, support and interest in our College."

DeWitt, one of the country's outstanding libel attorneys, is the senior member of the New York Law firm of DeWitt, Nast and Diskin.

He was born in Ulster County, Sept. 29, 1878, the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Miller DeWitt. His father was a lawyer in Kingston.

DeWitt was graduated by Kingston Academy in 1896, but did not go to college because his father could not afford to send him. For a year he studied law in his father's office and for two years attended New York Law School. He was admitted to the Bar July 27, 1901.

Meats for Outdoor Featured at Stores

NEW YORK (AP) — Food stores across the nation are featuring meat cuts for outdoor cooking. But just what ends up on the grill may depend on where you are.

In the Midwest, increased supplies of cattle have cut beef prices — and hamburger, steaks and roasts are featured for the weekend.

But on the West Coast, beef and pork prices may be somewhat higher in most markets.

In the Southeast, some chain stores are featuring fryer parts. In the Northeast, the emphasis is on lamb — stew, chops and legs — along with beef.

Many traditional summer vegetables and fruits still are somewhat high, with sketchy supplies because of bad weather. But generally there are plenty of cantaloupes and green beans.

Avavath Israel

Religious services at Congregation Avavath Israel, 72 Wurts Street, will be held Friday, June 17, at 8 p. m. and Saturday 9:30 a. m. This Sabbath is the beginning of the new month of Tamuz, and special new month services will be conducted, including the famous Hallel, the special prayer of Psalms. The Bible portion of the week, known as Korach, will be read, depicting a revolt against the leadership of Moses and Aaron in the desert by the man Korach, who came to a dread, miraculous death.

Sunday, June 19, the Bar Mitzvah of Mark Tannin, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Albert Tannin will be celebrated. The Bar Mitzvah boy will read the Bible reading and chant the Musaf service. He will then be given the Bar Mitzvah charge by Rabbi Harry Z. Schechterman.

The Hebrew classes at the Talmud Torah of Kingston are now recessed for the summer vacation.

Expect to Spend $3 Million Annually for Communications

By WILLIAM S. STEVENS
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State now expects to spend about $3 million a year on consolidated facilities for communication among its various agencies.

A study of the possibilities is nearing the recommendation stage.

The question is simple—how best to handle the thousands of daily telephone calls, telegrams and other data transmissions among the hundreds of state agencies scattered around the state.

The answer is much more complex than the question, says a spokesman for the Office of General Services, the department that oversees housekeeping procedures for all the state agencies.

Expect Recommendations

A spokesman told the Associated Press that recommendations based on a two-year study are expected sometime in September.

Early estimates, he said, indicate the cost of consolidated facilities will be about $3 million a year—but the single system will provide far more services than the state presently realizes from its $2.5-million annual communication bill.

The sweeping study of inter and intra-departmental communications was launched early in 1964 at the request of Dr. T. Norman Hurd, the state budget director.

Hurd noted while preparing the executive budget that there were numerous requests from all agencies for funds to pay for various types of communication.

The General Services Office sent questionnaires to all state agencies, asking them to outline communication demands.

In addition, the New York Telephone Co. correlated the cost to state agencies for all toll telephone calls made in April 1964. The cost for toll calls in that single month was $140,000, Edward J. Mason of the general services' communications division, said.

As answers to the questionnaire came in, the General Services Office learned that various units for the state government already were mapping plans for statewide communications for the individual offices.

For instance, Mason said, the State University of New York was considering a plan to link its educational television stations at Albany, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse and New York City in a statewide network.

Computerized Hookup

The Motor Vehicle Department was planning a computerized hookup of its various offices to provide information on registrations, cancellations and other pertinent data.

Another project considered was a statewide fingerprint network under the New York State Intelligence Agency.

It became apparent, Mason said, that professional aid was required if the state were to plan an adequate communication system that would link all the thousands of message sources.

The firm of Jansky and Bailey of Washington, D.C. was hired to conduct a two-phase study.

The first phase was concerned with the State University's educational television network, which would rely on a microwave system. Micro-wave requires a series of towers across the state to pick up and retransmit television signals.

The second phase dealt with other agencies and various types of communications, including telephone, telegraph, visual or data-receiving systems. It also included the university's proposed television network and the effect that system might have on other plans.

The studies have now reached a stage, Mason said, where state officials are ready for further discussions with the consultants leading to recommendations.

Mason added that, although no final decisions have been made, it was quite apparent that the state would lean toward a contract system with private suppliers of communication facilities, rather than set up its own systems.

Mason noted that matching federal funds were available for communications if they were part of the civil defense network. He said, however, that, although the state's civil defense operation was included in the study, the primary purpose of a single communication network was not that of civil defense, thus indicating there was little likelihood of receiving federal money.

Other states, including California and Nebraska, are investigating governmental communication network, Mason said.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Scattered thundershowers and increasing humidity slowed the advance of a six-day-old brush and timber fire in the mountain wilderness of Los Padres National Forest.

Eight firefighters, of the more than 2,500 fighting the blaze, have been injured.

They had contained half the fire's 100-mile perimeter early today but officials would give no estimate when full containment would be gained.

The coast city of Santa Barbara lies 30 miles to the south. U.S. Forest Service officials said that residents near the area still are alerted for possible evacuation.

City Revenue Creates Major Crisis in Executive Mansion

By GERRY MCLAUGHLIN

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Suddenly, the current of major crisis generated excitement at the Executive Mansion.

The red brick dwelling on Eagle Street, which the State of New York provides for its governor was — for a fleeting few days at least — the scene of the action.

Invited Leaders

Gov. Rockefeller invited the Legislature's leaders, New York's Mayor John V. Lindsay and the New York City council chiefs to the Executive Mansion this week to try to settle the legislative dispute over the big city's revenue program.

The governor figured that the negotiations might proceed with less strain, away from the bustle at the Capitol.

Inevitably, however, the summit conference attracted major attention. Newsmen, television and radio reporters, photographers and TV cameramen took up stations outside the iron gate that separates the mansion from the street in a low-income neighborhood a few blocks south of the Capitol.

The newsmen spent long periods, waiting for a word or two from the participants in the grueling negotiating sessions. State troopers kept close watch to make sure no one tried to go inside the building.

More Card Games

In the intervals between frenzied interviews, outside card games flourished. Telephones were installed beneath a tree on the mansion lawn.

Eventually, the governor took pity on those outside and sent them sandwiches. He ordered the mansion's garage opened as a shelter for the newsmen when rain began to fall.

Neighbors sitting on porches and steps across the street gaped at the proceedings. They found them unusual because Rockefeller normally spends little time at his Albany residence.

As the neighbors looked on, some of them drinking beer and munching pizza, someone played a hand organ.

At nightfall, enterprising television technicians set up electric lights under the trees.

On the third day of the conferences, Rockefeller instructed his staff to open the executive swimming pool to reporters who wanted relief from the heat.

In breaks between discussions, some of the negotiators stood on the mansion's front steps for a breath of fresh air. Lindsay strolled the grounds with an aide.

The mansion had not been the scene of such continued activity since the days when Averell Harriman was governor and occupied the big house.

Since taking office in 1959, Rockefeller has preferred to spend much of his time in his New York City office and apartment or at his home in Westchester County.

Eyeing the proceedings this week, one of the governor's neighbors remarked:

"It'll be back to normal soon. Then the only noise you'll hear is somebody running the lawnmower."

Noted Author

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Lawrence A. Keating, an author who wrote 28 books, died Wednesday at age 63. Keating was a native of Chicago. In recent years he had concentrated on juvenile fiction.

Trying to Avert Seaway Strike

OTTAWA (AP) — Negotiators worked against a 10 p.m. deadline today in an attempt to avert a St. Lawrence Seaway strike in the wake of settlements that ended one other Canadian transport walkout and averted another.

The 1,200-member Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers has threatened to strike the seaway tomorrow at noon. The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority requires 12 hours preparation to make sure no ships get trapped in the canal system if a strike starts, so the effective deadline for a settlement is 10 p.m. tonight.

Although workers on the U.S. side of the international waterway would not be affected by the strike, the Welland Canal section of the waterway between Lake Ontario and Lake Erie would be sealed off. The canal is entirely on the Canadian side.

The union demands a 35 percent pay hike over two years. The Seaway Authority has offered 15 percent.

The union says it wants hourly wages to come closer to the $3.57 average paid on the U.S. side of the international waterway. Operating employees on the Canadian side average $2.36 an hour.

Meanwhile, about 4,000 longshoremen were expected back on the job in Montreal and Quebec today, ending a 39-day strike that caused one of Canada's worst shipping tieups.

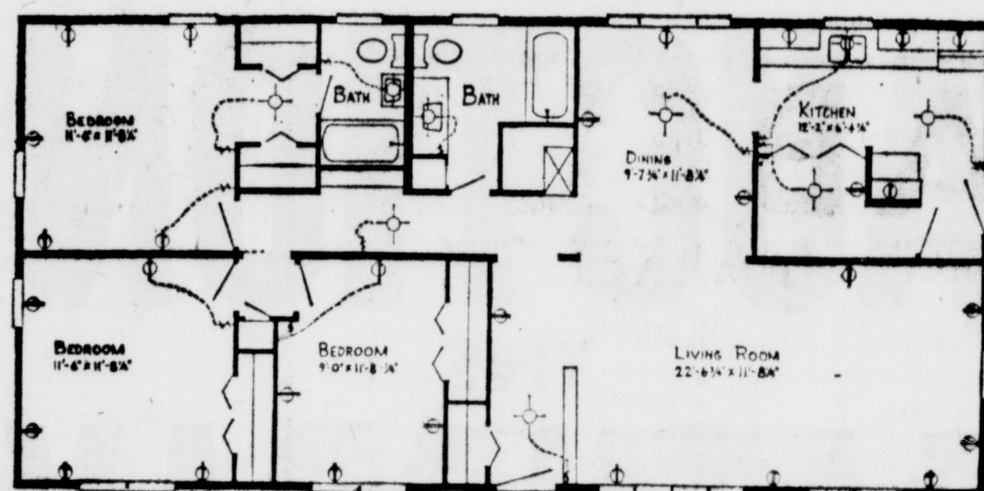

The dock workers voted Wednesday to accept the proposed two-year contract, which was drafted last weekend in meetings with Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson. About 250 longshoremen in Trois-Rivieres, Que., resumed work Wednesday.

Pays for Damage

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has paid a Louisville man $10 for damage to a 30-foot hedge behind his house caused by a crowd that engulfed Humphrey at an impromptu political rally for local candidates.

Shortly after the rally last Oct. 23, Emmet Minia, 76, a retired auto painter, received a letter from Humphrey which said: "I just read in the account of my visit in the Courier-Journal that the crowd waiting to greet me trampled your hedge. If there was serious damage to the hedge, I hope you will let me know. I am sorry about the damage and hope we can fix things up."

Minia billed the vice president for transplanting and fertilizing boxwood plants. He named the plants the Hubert Humphrey Boxwoods.

To Meet Lynda Byrd

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Angier Biddle Duke, the U.S. ambassador to Spain, says he's looking forward to a visit from President Johnson's daughter, Lynda Byrd, starting next week. Duke said Wednesday he expects Miss Johnson and a schoolfriend, Susan Schein of New York, to remain in Spain about two weeks.

Walks on Water, Sinks

BOMBAY, India (AP) — The Indian yoga who did not walk on water Sunday hasn't tried it again, as he had said he would. Instead, L. S. Rao has been busy in Bombay refunding $8,000 in ticket money to spectators who had to be restrained by police from attacking him after Sunday's failure.

Rao successfully walked over burning coals, then swallowed what he said were tacks and nitric acid. Finally, he stepped out into the water in a pool. He sank.

To Honor 'Night Owls'

NEW YORK (AP) — All the city officials who've been acting as "night owls" at City Hall will be honored July 25 by their boss, Mayor John V. Lindsay.

On the six-month anniversary of the program, Lindsay will present each of them with a gold-plated lapel emblem of an owl and a certificate reading: "Who says they don't give a hoot about the city?"

The program is designed to assure that a high-level official is on duty to cope with emergencies.

Tax in Nut Shell

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — This is the $283 million New York City tax package in a nutshell:

Income tax on city residents — $137 million.
Payroll tax on commuters — $23 million.
Business income tax — $58 million.
Increased stock-transfer tax — $35 million.
Increased water charges — $30 million.

The water-rate increases can be put into effect by the city without having to obtain permission of the Legislature.

"My mother just adores housework. In fact, there's nothing she'd rather see me do!"

Telephone Workers See New Experiment

LAKE GEORGE, N.Y. (AP) — Telephone company workers in Colorado watched some blind children one day playing with a ball attached to a bell. When the ball stopped rolling, how ever, the bell stopped too, and the children couldn't find it. As a result, the workers developed a "talking ball," which they demonstrated Wednesday to the Telephone Pioneers of America, at the group's 30th annual meeting at this resort community.

The talking softball, still under development, emits a steady electronic hum. It has led to suggestions for talking basketballs and talking belts to allow blind children to play tag.

Carter Hurls 1-Hitter In Babe Ruth Contest

John Carter of Hurley Lions allowed only one hit—a single by Harry Wynkoop—and struck out 12 to lead his team to a 4-0 win over American Legion in the Babe Ruth League.

Ken Gilligan, the losing pitcher, yielded 5 hits, including doubles by Carter and Phil Clum and struck out 16.

Masons edged the Vols, 11-6, behind the 7-hit pitching of Steve Van Dyke in a game halted by the curfew. The winners had 10 hits off Hank Harder and Joe Kearney.

Don Koeppen and Dave Klonowski got two hits each for Masons and Rick Cogswell clubbed a pair for the Vols. Dwight Byrd, Grant Dunham, and Van Dyke clubbed doubles.

Costello, Lasher Go the Distance

Subway Grill battled unbeaten Armstrong's to a 12-inning, 3-3, tie in the City Softball League Wednesday.

Bill Costello of Armstrong's and Bud Lasher of Subway Grill went the distance. Costello yielded six hits and struck out 12. Lasher gave up five hits and whiffed nine.

Key blow of the thrilling contest was Ron Ferraro's two-run homer in the sixth that tied the score and sent the teams into extra innings. Larry Kithcart had a double-single for Armstrong's.

Dukes in Breeze

Royal Dukes combined 3-hit pitching by George Norton and 16 hits off three Met hurlers to breeze to an 18-1 triumph. Rich Sackler slammed a homer and double and B. Murphy hit two doubles. Jack Tremper had two doubles and a single and Rich Amato a single-double combination.

Mike Amato came out of a two-year retirement to check Amato Atlantic's 4-game losing streak with a 6-4 win over Jack's Barber Shop. He scattered nine hits and pitched shutout ball over the first five innings. He had perfect control and didn't issue a walk.

Key hits by John Tremper and Nick Berardi provided the crusher for Amato's Frank Tiano snuffed out rallies with two great fielding plays at second base.

Gibson Wins 100th Leads N.L. in K's

By MIKE RATHET
 Associated Press Sports Writer

It was in the cards for Bob Gibson to post his 100th victory. But can the St. Louis ace become the National League's new strikeout king?

A 30-year-old right-hander apparently reaching his peak, Gibson stepped up to the 100-victory plateau Wednesday night when he pitched a three-hitter in the Cardinals' 1-0 victory over Pittsburgh.

Threatens Koufax
 It was only natural that Gibson, one of the league's top pitchers, eventually post victory No. 100, and it may be just as natural for the fireballer to take a shot at dethroning Sandy Koufax as the NL's No. 1 strikeout artist.

A right-hander has been unable to lead the National League in strikeouts since 1962, but Gibson has inched his victory total, his number of innings pitched and his strikeouts upward each of the last three years.

Last season he hit the 20-victory mark, worked 299 innings and struck out 270. And right now he's running ahead of both his own strikeout pace — and Koufax.

By striking out eight Pirates, Gibson ran his total for the season to 128 in 126 innings, or just over one an inning. That's by far his best ratio ever. Koufax, meanwhile, is running second with 117 strikeouts in 117 1-2 innings, his usual one-an-inning clip.

Mays Needs One
 While Gibson remained ahead of Koufax, Willie Mays closed in on Ted Williams, moving to within one homer of third place on the all-time home run list by hitting No. 520 of his career in San Francisco's 4-0 victory over Houston.

Elsewhere, the Dodgers stayed two games back of the front-running Giants with a 6-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs, the New York Mets edged Atlanta 5-4 and Cincinnati swept Philadelphia 7-6 and 9-6.

Roosevelt Feature

To Smokeover N.

Tactile edged favorite Smokeover N. by three-quarters of a length and captured the $10,000 Bridal Guild Pace at Roosevelt Raceway Wednesday night.

The event, the top purse in the evening's harness action in New York State, was clocked in a fast 2:00 4-5, the second fastest time in Roosevelt's summer meeting.

The 7-year-old Tactile ($11.00) held off a stretch bid by Smokeover N. while Cold Front settled for third.

In other featured harness races in New York State:
 VERNON—Luscious Lou ($2.40) edged rival 2-year-old Molly Brook Dean by a length and won the $2,200 pace in 2:05 3-5.
 SARATOGA — Duc Drummond ($3.20) won the first division of the $3,200 pace by 2 1/4 lengths over Frosty Helen. The mile was clocked in 2:09 3-5 over a slow track. Mighty Arden ($3.80) defeated Fairmeade Melody by 5 lengths and won the second division in 2:09.

Bostic Points for 2nd Crown

Defending Champ In Good Position For Repeat Win

By CHARLES J. TIANO
(Freeman Sports Editor)

The elements are all there and, if thoroughly shaken, should produce a rousing finale in the 16th annual Herdegen Memorial golf tournament this weekend.

Shawangunk Country Club (Ellenville) and The Twaalfskill Club is where the action is in that order Saturday and Sunday.

The principals are four-time champion Leon Randall and defending champion Harvey Bostic, another Wiltyckian. They are in a flat-footed tie at 148. Wins since 1962, Randall wants that title to re-establish his prominence among area swingers.

Bostic, meanwhile, can match Randall as the only back to back winner in the tournament's history. He won his first Herdegen last year with a 72-hole total of 281.

Other contenders include three-time winner George Hughes of Twaalfskill, three shots off the pace at 151; young Dan Gaffney, Wiltyck at 150, and Form Coughlin of Twaalfskill, a new threat at 153. With only five strokes separating the first five players, the Herdegen jacket is strictly up for grabs.

In Good Position
With the last 36 holes at Shawangunk and Ellenville, Bostic need be conceded a good chance to achieve a repeater. In the 1965 classic, he matched par figures of 68 at Ellenville and 70 at Twaalfskill. Randall had an unusually high 74 at Twaalfskill, usually a birdie paradise for him, and a one-over 69 at Shawangunk.

The form players are not selling three-time winner Hughes short. In a quiet, unobtrusive manner he posted 151 over the weekend and any time he is within three shots he is a definite threat.

Dan Gaffney, a straight-A student at Boston College, represents the challenge of youth to the Old Guard. Two shots off, he has the game and desire to go all the way. The other contender, Form Coughlin, is a little known but highly skilled golfer. With one of the rounds at Twaalfskill, he must be conceded a chance to win.

Putting troubles haunted Bill Van Aken in the first two rounds and the Woodstock warhorse needs a big comeback. His all-time tournament record of 275 set in 1958 appears to be safe for another year. The single round record of 63 is shared by Ricky Barthel and George Hughes. Both did it at Woodstock.

Wiltwyck Has Eight
Wiltwyck leads the qualifying contingent with eight players. Twaalfskill will have seven, Woodstock 4, Ellenville one. One of the major surprises of the qualifying round is the fact that five of eight at-large entries made the cut.

The group is made up exclusively of college and high school players — Jordan Pauker, David Blakeley, of Kingston High, and three from State U. New Paltz — Coach Doug Sheppard, Bill Cutler and Bill Odenaal.

Twaalfskill will host a luncheon for the finalists, following Sunday's round. Area golf club president and pros have been invited.

The Saturday pairings:
9:00 — Jordan Pauker, David Blakeley.
9:08 — Dan Gaffney, Alex Sharpe III, Rich Hilton.
9:16 — Doug Sheppard, Joe Modica.
9:24 — Harold Van Aken, Clarence Raichle, Robert Carrington.
9:32 — Form Coughlin, Robert Merritt, Brian Smith.

9:54 — Bill Odenaal, Bill Cutler, Rick Barthel.
10:02 — Harvey Bostic, Frank Weller, Alvin Boice.

Denning Heads Junior Golf

M. Leslie Denning of Woodstock Country Club has been elected president of the newly formed Mid-Hudson Valley Junior Golf Classic. He is chairman of the junior golf committee at Woodstock.

Other officers are: John Purvis, Twaalfskill, vice president; George Schirick, Wiltyck, secretary-treasurer. Named to the executive committee were Mrs. Alice Beeher, Red Hook; Leon Randall, Wiltyck; Bill Van Aken, Woodstock; and Bill Gressick, Catskill Country Club.

Gressick, pro at Catskill, will serve as liaison between the organization and the Northeastern New York PGA. Only junior members of the five clubs involved are eligible to participate in the five open tournaments planned in 1966. The age group is 12 to 17 years. The schedule opens June 24 at Catskill.

Harris-Spiesman Team Captures Member-Guest

Mrs. William D. (Chris) Harris and her guest, Mrs. Clifford Spiesman of Wiltyck, combined for a best-ball 68 to win first place in the Twaalfskill women's Member-Guest tournament. They had nines of 36-32.

Mrs. Robert Carrington and Mrs. John Carrington (Palenville) took second place with 37-34-71. Mrs. John Olivet won low putts honors with 27. Mrs. Edwin O'Reilly was runner-up with 29.

Other scores:
Mrs. George Rusk - Mrs. Kermit Schwarz (Wood), 38-34-72; Mrs. James Andetta Jr. - Mrs. Richard Davenport (Wilt), 35-38-73; Mrs. Edward Minasian - Mrs. Gerald Overbaugh (Wilt), 36-37-73; Mrs. Edwin O'Reilly - Mrs. Howard DeWitt (Wilt), 38-36-74; Mrs. William A. ## Oriole Relievers Save Another Win

Baltimore Manager Hank Bauer probably can't wait to yank his next starting pitcher.

The Orioles' elite bullpen corps has stretched its week-long perfect game to 12 2-3 innings and the way things are going, Bauer can point to just about any of his relief pitchers and get a hitless job.

Moe Drabowsky tacked on the latest 3-13 inning stint Wednesday night when he saved Wally Bunker's sixth victory as the American League-leading Orioles downed Washington 6-4.

Perfect Pitching

Before Drabowsky, rookies Eddie Watt and Gene Brabender and veteran Stu Miller had pieced together 9 1-3 perfect innings over five games. Bauer has to stop and think to remember the last time he didn't get an airtight relief job.

"I've got a heckuva bullpen," Bauer smiles. "I can pull anyone of them and get a good job done. With the exception of Watt and Brabender, all the rest are seasoned ball players. I can bring them in under pressure and they don't get shook."

Still awaiting his chance to add to the perfect string is the newest member of the bullpen corps who joined the Orioles Sunday.

Fisher Can't Make It

That would be Eddie Fisher, who was only the top reliever in the majors last year. He hasn't been able to crack the bullpen rotation yet. If he's patient, Bauer may find a spot for him.

The Orioles' victory kept their lead at one game over Cleveland which unleashed Yankee-killer Fred Whitfield and beat New York 8-5. Elsewhere, Detroit battered Boston 11-7 as Al Kaline got his 2,000th career hit, California swept a doubleheader from Minnesota 8-1 and 6-3 and Kansas City edged Chicago 5-4 with the second game of the doubleheader postponed by rain.

Whitfield hit his fourth home run in eight games against the Yankees this year as the Indians kept pace with the front-running Orioles by beating New York.

In the SERVICE

Earns Commission Is 2nd Lieutenant

DON O. HARTMAN

Don O. Hartman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arlando E. Hartman of 3501 E. 37th, Des Moines, Iowa, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force upon graduation from Officer Training School (OTS) at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Lieutenant Hartman, selected for OTS through competitive examination, is being assigned to Robins AFB, Ga., for duty with the Air Force Logistics Command which provides supplies, equipment and services to keep the USAF's combat units ready for immediate action.

The lieutenant, a graduate of East High School, received his BSME Degree from the University of Wyoming. He is a member of Sigma Tau Omega.

His wife, Mary, is the daughter of Mrs. Josephine Kelly of Rt. 19, Kingston.

Denies Request For Rate Increase

NEW YORK (AP) — The State Insurance Department has turned down a request by the Rochester area Blue Shield plan for rate increases up to 72 per cent for in-hospital care.

Insurance Superintendent Henry Root Stern Jr. noted that the Rochester plan — formerly known as Genesee Valley Medical Care, Inc. — adopted a higher fee schedule for doctors last Jan. 1 on the policy rider covering doctors involved in in-hospital care.

He said the new fees are 35 per cent or more above those of other plans, including the New York City plan.

Stern added, "There is no justification for this burden upon Blue Shield subscribers in Rochester."

He said also that adoption of a "substantially higher" fee scheduled for doctors increased Rochester Blue Shield's operating deficit on the in-hospital medical care rider from $87,000 in 1965 to about $500,000 this year. He said 74 per cent of the plan's subscribers were affected.

The denied application would have provided subscriber rate increases ranging from 40 to 72 per cent.

Defects Proposed Stock Exchange Move

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The New Jersey Senate has defeated a proposal aimed at guaranteeing tax free stock transactions for the New York Stock Exchange in this state.

The Senate Wednesday rejected, 13-5 a resolution for a public referendum to decide whether to prohibit stock transfer taxes in New Jersey. It would have required an amendment to the State Constitution.

The resolution was passed by the Assembly several weeks ago with little debate. In the Senate, however, Democrats and Republicans joined to defeat the proposal.

Sen. Nicholas T. Fernicola accused the Stock Exchange of "using" the Legislature in its dispute with New York City officials. The Exchange had threatened to move from New York because of Mayor John Lindsay's proposal to increase the stock transfer tax by 50 per cent. Several new Jersey cities offered themselves as relocation sites, and the Assembly resolution followed.

Postpone Opening of Bids

Opening of bids for a 1,000 pupil junior high school to be erected on Fording Place, Town of Ulster, has been postponed until Wednesday, June 22, according to Harry Halverson, of Harry Halverson Associates, architects. The opening had been scheduled for Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. Six separate contracts are involved in the project.

Fined $10

Two drivers charged with speeding were fined $10 each in City Court today. The fines were paid by Bruce D. Kennedy, 17, of Miller's Lane, and Diane F. Geiser, 20, of Parish Lane, Lake Katrine. Andrew T. Jackson, 24, of Box 262, East Kingston, charged with failure to keep right, was fined $5.

Boy friend of a Palm Springs matron was dragged unconscious from her pool. She got in the way of the rescuer, who brushed her aside with:

She (screamed)—Artificial, nonsense. Give him the real thing I can afford it.

In Albuquerque, a taxi driver, his garbage uncollected, tried leaving it in a neat package on his cab's back seat. Said he: "It works. I watched one woman through the mirror. She spent five minutes stuffing it into her shopping bag."

When Maurice Eagan was United States Minister to Denmark it was his custom to go through the provinces once a year lecturing on American Literature. One night when the King and Queen were dining at the legation the King said:

King—Mr. Eagan, I receive agreeable reports of your lectures in the provinces. Do you use a different lecture each time?

Mr. Eagan—No, I always use the same one, Your Majesty.

King—But what do you do if people come a second time?

To which Mr. Eagan replied, Mr. Egan—They never come a second time.

Three explorers in the bush had no food and only one cart.

Why We Say--

YELLOW PRESS 6-16

IN LAST CENTURY: In the 1800's certain newspapers were referred to by other newspapers as the "Yellow Press." The allusion was to newspapers that ran erroneous stories on the "Yellow Peril" or the danger Oriental people posed to the U. S.

ridge. They drew lots for the use of it.

The winner set off, but had not gone far before he was faced by two lions. He immediately fled back to the tent, hotly pursued by the lions. Just as they made their final spring, he stepped smartly to one side, allowing the lions to burst through the tent opening.

Quickly he closed the flaps and shouted to his companions: "Start skinning these two while I look around for a few more."

One way to make people slow down in their driving would be to call it work.

Moose Schedules Firearms Safety

Members of Kingston Lodge 970, Loyal Order of Moose, will hold their first Firearms Safety Day with a special program at 3 p. m. Sunday, June 19 at the Lodge Rooms, 82 Prince Street.

Co-chairmen Richard Peters and Harry Coale said that Special Agent Charles Smith, supervisor in charge of firearms for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and Trooper J. B. Hewitt, of Troop C headquarters of State Police at Sidney, will conduct the program. They said that films will be shown in conjunction with the program.

Lodge officials said that the purpose of the program is to stress the importance of proper care, use and storage of all types of firearms in the home and the prevention of needless accidents, particularly among children. The public is urged to attend the program.

Doyle Still Is In Critical Condition

Robert A. Doyle, 41, of Box 284, RD 2, who was injured Monday night in a traffic accident on Route 28 west of Route 209, Town of Ulster, was still in critical condition today at Benedictine Hospital. State Police reported a van-type truck operated by Doyle went out of control and overturned after hitting a guide post.

A spokesman at Kingston Hospital today reported that Michael Stock, 18, of Box 74, Lake Hill, who was injured early Saturday when his car hit a parked car on Route 212 in Shady, was discharged yesterday.

Wounded Marine Earns His Fourth Purple Heart

CHU LAI, Viet Nam (AP)—A Marine sergeant who was wounded three times in the Korean War got his fourth Purple Heart today—on a rocky hilltop in Viet Nam.

"It was the longest night of my life," said S. Sgt. Jimmie Howard, 36, of San Diego, Calif. Howard suffered a back wound while leading 17 other Marines in a last-man stand. They fought heroically against an attacking force of 250 Viet Cong in the early morning darkness.

Howard's small band of Leathernecks held out for five hours until Marine reinforcements arrived in helicopters and drove off the attackers.

From a hospital bed in Chu Lai where he was in satisfactory condition, Howard told how his small force nearly ran out of ammunition and resorted to knives, bayonets and rocks, to beat back the enemy.

"We wanted them to think we still had grenades," Howard said, "when the reinforcements got to us, we had just eight rounds of ammunition left."

By that time, Howard said, he had only seven men left who were able to pull a trigger and five of these were among the wounded.

U.S. military headquarters said that all but two of Howard's casualties.

Howard said the Viet Cong attacked just before 1 a.m.

"They lobbed 60-millimeter mortar at us and then opened up with machinegun and small-arms fire," he said. "From then on it was Katie-bar-the-door."

"We played gopher when they charged up the hill. We got down on the deck (ground). They had us surrounded and were coming up the hill."

Howard radioed for air support. Marine jets hit the Viet Cong positions with napalm, and helicopters strafed them with rockets and machinegun fire.

About 6 a.m., helicopters brought in Marine reinforcements and after a brisk fight drove off the Viet Cong.

The reinforcements were pinned down by machinegun and sniper fire when they landed 100 yards from the base of the hill. An air strike was called on the machinegun position, but it failed to silence the enemy fire.

A squad of Marines swept around the machinegunners' right flank, and the Viet Cong fled.

Another hero of the fighting was Navy medical corpsman Billy Holmes of Madison, Tenn. Holmes spotted a wounded Marine being dragged away by a Viet Cong soldier, attacked the Viet Cong and pulled the wounded Marine to safety.

Sentence Imposed in Three

felony when he used the plane. Bail was exonerated.

Andrew Grimm, 19, of Woodbourne, charged with malicious mischief, appeared for sentence. He had entered a plea of guilty to the misdemeanor, Philip Slutsky appeared for defendant. The charge arose out of an alleged "party" at a vacant bungalow in the Town of Wawarsing. A 14-day jail sentence was imposed and credit was allowed for time already served.

Given 150 Days

Michael James Denahy, charged with third degree burglary, unlawful entry and petit larceny, for whom a detainer from the United States Navy is awaiting him in the Sheriff's Office, was sentenced to 150 days in jail on his plea of guilty to a misdemeanor. H. Clark Bell appeared for defendant. Denahy has already served 100 days in jail and was given credit for the time served.

Assistant District Attorney Albert I. Lonstein appeared for the prosecution.

On motion of Attorney Benjamin Lonstein, the case of Martin Balotin of Ellenville, was adjourned to June 22 at 10 a. m. Defendant is charged with violation of a provision of the gambling law.

Announced as ready for trial was the first degree grand larceny indictment against Robert Gallagher, St. Remy, who stands charged with appropriating money from a house construction job.

Alex Alexander of New Jersey, charged with grand larceny and issuance of fraudulent check, said he had been unable to secure counsel. He told Judge Mino full restitution had been made. He waived his right to counsel but Judge Mino continued the case and declined to accept a plea of guilty until Alexander had consulted counsel.

The case was adjourned to September and bail continued.

Two charges of third degree burglary, second degree grand larceny and unlawful entry against Stephen Burns Spencer were announced ready for trial. The acts allegedly took place in the Town of New Paltz in December 1965. Richard Harp who had represented the defendant, stated that other counsel had been retained. Both cases were referred to the ready trial calendar.

Charge Abandonment

A charge of abandonment of a child was moved over to September. Defendant Timothy John Cooper is represented by Seymour Werbalowsky.

The case of Donald Richard Rydell, procuring alcoholic beverage for a child under the age of 18, was adjourned to June 22 at 10 a. m. to permit defendant to get counsel. Bail was continued.

Four cases in which Charles Saccoman appears as defense counsel were moved to the ready calendar for trial. They are: The people vs. Casper Davis Jr., third degree burglary and unlawful entry; Robert Lee Brunet, COUNTY YOUNG GOP OFFICERS — At Wednesday's meeting of the Ulster County Young Republicans Club, officers for the forthcoming year were elected. They include (seated, l-r) Mrs. George Pare of Lake Katrine, corresponding secretary; Miss Judie Petro, Kingston, president and Mrs. Patricia Kelley, Sleightsburg, second vice president. Standing are Alan Anderson, Kingston, recording secretary; Norman Fowler, Kingston, past president and Anthony Sinagra, Kingston, first vice president. (Freeman photo by Wagenföhr).

Name Tivoli Man Dutchess Clerk

J. John Hautmann, Tivoli, was appointed county clerk of Dutchess County for a term ending Dec. 31. The appointment was made today by Gov. Rockefeller.

Hautmann succeeds Frederic A. Smith, who resigned June 1.

Another appointment made known by the Governor is that of Ralph A. Lehr, Williamsville, as a member of the Public Service Commission for a term ending Feb. 1, 1971.

Lehr had resigned from a term that would have expired Feb. 1, 1967, to receive appointment to a term assigned to the late Commissioner Francis T. Mylott, Queens. Mylott died May 9.

Members of the PSC are paid $29,160.

The governor also announced he had made these other appointments:

John M. Schiff of Oyster Bay as a member of the Long Island State Park Commission for a term ending June 1, 1973. Schiff, a partner in a New York City banking firm, is a former president of the Boy Scouts of America. Membership on the park commission carries no salary.

Mrs. William H. Marvin of Amsterdam as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Guy Park House and Grounds for a term ending March 1, 1971. Members of the board serve without salary.

The Rev. Richard Rutecki of Delavan, Cattaraugus County, as a member of the State Agriculture's Advisory Council on Farm and Food Processing Labor. Father Rutecki succeeds Msgr. John J. Neelson of Delavan, who resigned from the unsalaried post.

Bids Are Opened For Ulster Jobs

Projects in Ulster, Dutchess and Orange Counties are among 15 projects for construction, repairs and alterations to State-owned facilities for which bids were opened Wednesday by the New York State Department of Public Works in Albany.

The low bids for all the projects totaled $38,096,346.90. A total of 63 bids were received on the projects included in the letting.

The Ulster County projects call for separate proposals covering heating and electrical work for replacement of a heating system at the Eastern Correctional Institute at Napanoch. Bank Brothers Plumbing and Heating firm, of Accord, submitted a low bid of $95,000 for the heating work, while the ERA Electric Corp. of Kingston submitted a low bid of $3,870 for electric work. Two bids were received for each proposal.

Pittman and Brown, of Newburgh, submitted a low bid of $4,889 for construction work for exterior painting of wood and metal work at the State Army in Middletown, Orange County.

ERA of Kingston also submitted the lowest of three bids for electrical work for the Office Building and toll booths at the Mid-Hudson Bridge at Poughkeepsie in Dutchess County, an operation of the New York State Bridge Authority.

Mechanical Construction Corp. of Poughkeepsie submitted a lone low bid of $23,240 for heat-

Proposes Meeting the swath of the war's spreading devastation.

Mansfield said he does not regard the membership nor the mechanics of the conference as important.

"History will not be gentle with those who pursue the shadow and evade the substance of peace," he said. "It will not view with sympathy those who stand too much on ceremony or who insist too much on face as the price of coming to grips with its profound problems."

He said he is not optimistic that any conference with the Chinese at this point would produce much more than a cease-fire. But he said the "first faltering steps" must be taken toward peace.

Mansfield, who has criticized some aspects of President Johnson's Viet Nam policy, said efforts to end the war "by waging more war" have failed. He conceded that efforts to end it "by waging less war" have not succeeded.

He rejected the idea that the fighting can be ended more quickly "by more and better planned bombings" in North Viet Nam.

What he fears, the Montana senator said, is that in an escalating war the "hatches of avoidance" may be closed one by one and mainland China may send troops into Viet Nam.
